DICTAGRAPH TEST BEFORE LORIMER COMMITTEE TODAY

Sheridan to Display Method He Employed in Taking Confession of McGowan.

AIDS TALK FOR BLUMENBERG

KENYON SUGGESTS GRAND JURY

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—The Lorimer investigating committee occupied today in taking expert testimony as to whether James E. Sheridan, a Burns operative, actually wrote the McGowan dictagraph conversation at the time of its occurrence.

The three witnesses heard in this connection were Milton W. Blumenberg, the dismissed official stenographer of the committee, and two other shorthand reporters who have been in his employment—Herman H. Pechin and Allister Cochran. Senator Kern announced he would not be satisfied merely with the testimony of associates of Mr. Blumenberg, but would insist upon expression of opinions by other stenographers who have had no connection whatever with him or with the case.

Dictagraph Test Today.

Senator Lea declared the proper test to be made was of Sheridan himself, under conditions approximating as closely as possible those which existed when he made the report of the dictagraph conversation, and this to have his notes compared with those of the official stenographers, who also will take the conversation to be arranged.

When this matter was brought up during the afternoon by Senator Gamble, Mr. Dillingham, chairman of the committee, put the Lea proposition to a vote and it was adopted unanimously. The test will take place tomorrow morning.

Kenyon Suggests Grand Jury.

Senator Kenyon expressed the view that in the interest of justice perjury proceedings should be instituted.

"I think the whole matter can be abbreviated," he said, "by referring it to the grand jury. Somebody has committed perjury here one way or the other, and it ought to be for the grand jury to determine who the man is. If those notes are faked, it certainly is a matter for the grand jury. If they are not, then it is for the grand jury to act."

Blumenberg admitted this morning he had talked with Edward Hines in the corridor of the senate office building on Saturday, saying to him: "If I am wrong about it (the notes being manufactured) I will make you a present of my bill against you." He declared he was not sick or intoxicated, although he had had four or five or six drinks of whisky.

He explained he had been working fourteen, sixteen, and eighteen hours a day and had slept only four or five hours. Yet he insisted he was perfectly normal Saturday night and that the alleged "friends" who had stated he was suffering from extreme nervousness had no authority to speak for him.

Finds Lorimer Slow Pay.

Cochrane told the committee he thought Blumenberg was in a highly nervous condition on Saturday night. Blumenberg informed Senator Jones he did not want to make any explanation of his conduct for which he was placed in the custody of the sergeant at arms, but to Senator Dillingham he said he had not intended to be discourteous to the committee, for which and for every member of which, he entertains a profound respect.

Blumenberg said the only relations that have existed between him and Mr. Lorimer grew out of his attempt from time to time to collect the money due him for furnishing the senator with copies of the testimony. He declared he had not had much success along that line.

With respect to Edward Hines, he insisted upon similar relations only, asserting his efforts to collect the sum due him from the lumberman also had met "only with fair success."

Say Notes Were Written Slowly.

Pechin declared that although an experienced stenographer he could not report a conversation such as Sheridan claims he has done. Cochrane insisted that it was "impossible" to make a report under the circumstances described to him. Pechin stated the notes showed on their face they had been written slowly. Cochrane said they had been written "slowly and deliberately."

"Of course, I do not know, I cannot say," Pechin swore, "where they were written."

The examination of these experts brought out that they based their opinions as to the impossibility of a stenographic report of such uniformity as that made by Sheridan, upon conditions which were described to them; that if these conditions were different from what they had been told, then their opinions would be modified. Moreover, whether the conversation had been correctly reported would depend upon the rapidity with which the participants talked.

Theories Regarding Speed.

The report made by Sheridan contains a number of breaks, showing where he failed to get some expressions by the men talking, and this might have been, it was explained, through inability to keep up, or from some other cause.

It was estimated by Pechin that Sheridan could not have written his notes at a higher rate of speed than 120 words a minute, whereas a conversation, in his opinion, proceeds at the rate of 175 to 200 words a minute.

Unfortunates Who Do Not Pay Relentlessly Trailed by Paid Agents in 66 Cities.

Your confidence will be respected. Your case will not be taken into court, nor will it receive any publicity, without consent.

Seven emergency cases were compromised yesterday and payment accepted by the loan sharks at the legal rate of interest through the efforts of Attorneys F. J. Peden, D. P. Trude and G. L. Schein of The Tribune's Anti Loan Shark Bureau.

Contrary to popular impression, the loan shark—at least the larger specimen of that rapacious fish—is not a weasened, wicked eyed old man, with a long nose and long fingernails. He is not fawning, dirty, or personally objectionable. Neither is he, as a rule, of some alien race. The story about Shylock and the pound of flesh has created an impression that is not justified.

The loan shark is likely to be an American and of good education and family. He does business under any name rather than his own. He is often disassociated from the ugly details of his business. He leaves these to the young woman who manages the office, while he, perhaps, resides in some city far away as a man of wealth, fashion, refinement, perhaps as a church leader, on the fat profits of exploiting the weakling and the unfortunate.

Reside Among Good People.

D. H. Tolman, for instance, "The King of the Loan Sharks," was at one time regarded in Chicago as a real banker.

A. H. Williams has resided in Evanston in a fine house in an exclusive neighborhood, long regarded as a real estate man and a progressive citizen.

Frank Mackey, who at one time or another has done much usurious business in Chicago under various signboards, poses in London as an American gentleman.

T. B. Ward, now president of the loan shark clearing house in Chicago, is a mild mannered family man and a churchgoer.

Tolman long has been the envy and the despair of his competitors in the business of lending money on salaries at profitable rates. Mr. Tolman, according to his own advertisements, "has offices in sixty-six principal cities." In Chicago he does business as the Employes' Credit company, Room 200, 17 North La Salle street. But the office of Tolman is the last place in the world to look for him.

When he first started into the money lending business Tolman had not got things down to quite such a business system. He was sometimes brought into court—a thing which never happens now. It is his representatives who appear.

Blows Fall on Women.

In June, 1909, Miss Julia Lalonde, the manager of his Montreal office, was tried on charges of usury, fined $500 and the office closed. There was also a warrant for Tolman, but it was not served. Likewise he did not appear in Cincinnati in the same year when Miss Kate Belmforde, his manager there, was in the courts, and his son, E. E. Tolman, was arrested.

This son, by the way, was educated in a prominent university and studied abroad, intending to enter the medical profession. It is said, however, that the elder Tolman did not view this ambition with favor. At any rate the son is now running a salary loan business of his own in Chicago, though this is said to be of a milder type than the Employes' Credit company.

The methods of the "king of the loan sharks" are marked with caution. Apparently he never trusts any one far. In the first place he usually has two managers for each office. These managers are girls, all Tolman's employés in the "sixty-six principal, prominent cities" are women.

Reasons for Hiring Women.

There are probably several reasons—women can be trusted where men could not, they can be secured more cheaply, they give an appearance of harmlessness to the lending establishment, and an outraged borrower is not so anxious to kick the manager out of a window if she is a woman. The two office managers alternate at regular periods, one taking the books and the other the cash. At the end of the month they trade.

Naturally the girls, being in charge, must have access to the cash, but Tolman limits their checking account to $500, and whenever the balance in bank rises much above that figure the excess is sent on to him in New York.

The fact that the business of one of the largest salary loan offices in Chicago can be carried on with only $500 in use shows the nature of the salary loan business.

The serial payment plan is the real secret of this financial prestidigitation. The borrower is paying huge interest returns on money he has already returned, while the

WILSON INVOLVED IN LAND SCANDAL

Action of Secretary of Agriculture Will Be Subject of Inquiry by House Committee.

SIMILAR TO WILEY CASE?

Influence of Syndicate Alleged to Have Been Used in the Governmental Department.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—Another investigation of the department of agriculture involving orders of Secretary Wilson and Solicitor McCabe, similar in many respects to the recently concluded McCabe-Wiley controversy, is to be made by the house committee on expenditures in the agricultural department.

Circumstances relating to exploitation of Florida everglade lands, millions of acres of which have been sold throughout the country by syndicates in the last few years, come to light before the committee today following Secretary Wilson's summary dismissal last Saturday of C. G. Elliott, chief engineer of the drainage division of the department, and Assistant Engineer A. D. Morehouse, and the suspension of F. E. Singleton, an accountant, on technical charges of transference of public funds.

Representatives Frank Clark of Florida and E. R. Bathrick of Ohio, who instigated the investigation, charged that officials of the department of agriculture had been influenced by Florida everglade land promoters in the suppression of a report on the condition of the lands made by the drainage department.

Misuse of Funds Alleged.

Solicitor McCabe told the committee the dismissal of the department officials was not caused by the Florida land case. He said the action was taken following charges that the dismissed men had misapplied funds.

These charges are reported to have been made to Solicitor McCabe, recently by J. O. Wright, a former subordinate of Elliott, but at present chief engineer of the board of trustees of the internal improvement fund of the state of Florida. Wright made a favorable report upon the everglade lands and soon afterward resigned from office to enter the employ of the state of Florida.

Solicitor McCabe told the committee that all reports and papers bearing on the everglades case had been collected by the department and would be turned over to the committee for its investigation.

He declared further that the reason Secretary Wilson had ordered that the report on the everglades be not printed was because the engineers in the drainage department were so at variance in the matter.

Admits Suppression of Report.

Representative Clark said Secretary Wilson would be summoned as a witness and would be asked concerning an interview he had with the Florida representative some time ago in which the secretary is said to have admitted he had suppressed the report on the everglade lands. Mr. Clark said he, with four Florida citizens, called on Secretary Wilson to ask why the report was suppressed.

One of these men was W. R. Hardee of Jensen, Fla., who recently made a statement that Secretary Wilson said:

"I am not running this office for the protection of fools who do not know any better than to buy something that they never saw and do not know anything about."

Mr. Hardee also will be summoned before the house committee as a witness.

Representative Clark stated that in 1907 the department of agriculture was flooded with requests from people throughout the country regarding the condition of Florida everglade lands which syndicates were exploiting. J. O. Wright and a corps of engineers of the federal drainage department were sent to Florida by Chief Engineer Elliott to make a survey and to compile a report.

Elliott Tells of Threats.

A part of the evidence submitted to the committee is a copy of a letter written by Mr. Elliott to Secretary Wilson last November. In this the engineer said he was threatened by agents of the land dealers when he refused to alter or suppress a circular sent out concerning the everglades.

Engineer Elliott outlined portions of the circular unfavorable to the exploitation schemes of the land syndicates, which, he declared, Howe and Will demanded that he retract.

In his statement to Secretary Wilson Elliott said he directed Wright in April, 1908 to make a complete report of the everglades investigation, but Wright did not do so.

"In answer to my request for an explanation," wrote Mr. Elliott, "Mr. Wright replied that Gov. Broward of Florida undoubtedly would be defeated in the coming election, and that the succeeding administration probably would have no interest in the Florida project, and he did not think it worth while to complete the report."

BRAVE WOMAN AND DAUGHTER ROUT CANDY STORE ROBBER.

Revolver Fails to Awe Mrs. Huehn, Who Protects Her Evanston Avenue Confectionery Shop.

The "candy store" robber met with another defeat last night when he attempted to rob the confectionery shop of Mrs. Anna Huehn, 5811 Evanston avenue. Although armed with a dangerous appearing revolver, the man was thrown out into the roadway and barely escaped capture. He is believed to be the robber who was driven from the Allegretti store by Miss Anna Young, the cashier, on Saturday night.

Mrs. Huehn was alone in the store when the young robber entered. Scarcely a minute elapsed before she was looking into a revolver and the man was reaching out to open the cash register. Mrs. Huehn attacked him. Her daughter, Nellie, ran to her aid.

"Get out of here!" screamed Miss Huehn. "You thought because you saw only a poor lone woman in here that you would have things all your own way. But you were mistaken. Take that and that and that."

The robber, bleeding from a dozen wounds inflicted by hatpins, and painfully scratched, lost no time in rushing out of the place.

U.S. GETTING READY AS SECOND REVOLT MENACES MEXICO

State of Chihuahua Reported on Brink of Secession from the Republic.

TAFT AND CABINET MOVE

Military Centers Advised to Have Troops Ready to Act in Case of Need.

SITUATION BETTER, MADERO SAYS

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—President Taft and his cabinet turned a scrutinizing eye toward Mexico today.

Official dispatches placed before the president seriously questioned the loyalty of Gen. Pascual Orozco to the Mexican federal government and intimated that the present conditions in the state of Chihuahua, bordering on Texas, might develop into a movement of secession, establishing an independent republic in the north.

The president discussed precautionary measures with his official family and tonight the war department has sent additional orders to army posts throughout the country to be ready for a possible mobilization, the department of justice has instructed its agents to exercise all possible vigilance in enforcing neutrality laws, while the state department has asked for quick reports from consular agents of any danger in the interior to Americans or their interests.

Different from Last Rebellion.

After today's cabinet meeting the president professed not to be alarmed over the situation. It was admitted in official circles, however, that the separation of Chihuahua from the remainder of Mexico would create a situation different in many respects from those that existed during the last rebellion.

It is not believed there would be much fighting on the border, for with Juares in the hands of the Orozco adherents, the new revolutionists would concentrate at the city of Chihuahua, 200 miles south of the border, where the advance of an army from Mexico City first would be contested.

The whole state of Chihuahua is now reported to be in revolt against the Madero government. It is expected that a declaration of independence will be issued by the state assembly at any hour.

Officials Rise Against Madero.

El Paso, Tex., Feb. 6.—A special from Chihuahua says the guards at the state penitentiary have deserted and imprisoned the director, Rafael Rasmbo, after which they took to the hills to join Antonio Rojas, the rebel leader. Government officials in Chihuahua say the Madero regime is dead and that the state government is ready to be turned over to Emilio Vasques Gomes.

The uncertainty in Chihuahua has started the exodus of prominent Mexican families from that city. Today several special trains arrived in Juarez. Among the passengers were Alberto and Daniel Madero, uncles of President Madero, and the family of Gen. Orozco.

Alberto Madero expressed confidence that Francisco Madero would be able to control the present situation, although he admitted that "certain features" might arise to complicate affairs and make the whole matter "more difficult." He declined to give any explanation of the "certain features."

Thinks Orozco Loyal.

He expressed absolute confidence in the loyalty of Orozco, adding:

"I saw him yesterday (Monday) in Chihuahua and he told me that he had received many offers to join the opposition to Madero, with an assurance that he might have any office he desired. Orozco assured me that he would stand by the present government."

Gen. Orozco denies emphatically that the state of Chihuahua is on the verge of seceding from the Mexican federation or that he is disloyal to Madero. His denial is contained in a telegram received by the chief of the federal telegraph lines in Juarez.

Official advices from Chihuahua state that eight coach loads of loyal Mexican troops left there this afternoon for San Antonio in search of Antonio Rojas, who was liberated from the penitentiary a few days ago by mutineers. Rojas is said to be encamped near San Antonio at the head of a small band of malcontents.

THINKS SITUATION BETTER.

Mexico City, Feb. 6.—President Madero tonight regarded the situation in the state of Chihuahua as materially improved.

The facts concerning conditions there are that Braulio Hernandez, secretary of state of Chihuahua, who rose in rebellion on Sunday and took possession of Santa Eulalia, has joined forces with Antonio Rojas, the Vasquista liberated from the penitentiary last week by a mob. Today their men were distributed from Santa Isabel to San Andres. Government troops have been sent in pursuit of them.

The uprising at Camargo has not been quelled. Minister of the Interior Gonzales visited the place to restore order but failed. The government now proposes to use the same methods employed at Juarez—leaving the situation for the moment in the hands of Orozco. In the meantime 500 government troops are held at Jiminez ready to march upon the little garrison.

Orozco has been offered the governorship of the state of Chihuahua. It is believed he will accept.

Publication of the news of the probable mobilization of a portion of the American army along the northern frontier created no excitement in the capital today and in official circles it appeared to give rise to no apprehension. The president and his cabinet are keenly alive to the seriousness of the situation, but do not believe the United States government intends to adopt any drastic measures.

BAR YOUNG GIRLS WITH STAGE CRAZE

Theatrical Booking Agents Adopt Resolutions Not to Accept Unsophisticated Maidens or Runaways.

CO-OPERATE WITH POLICE

Applicants Will Be Questioned and Inexperienced Rejected; Stranded Trio Returned to Chicago Homes.

Three young girls who ran away from their homes in Chicago to go on the stage, and who later were found destitute by agents of the police department, yesterday were restored to their families.

Publication of their experiences brought about the adoption of a policy of coöperation between the police and the theatrical booking agents of the city which is likely to have an important effect in preventing a similar exploitation of such stage struck girls in the future.

Bar Stage Struck Girls.

After a five hours' debate in the Union restaurant on Randolph street thirty agencies representing the local branch of the Theatrical and Vaudeville Agents' Association of America, adopted resolutions embodying their agreement to discourage hereafter the attempts of young girls without theatrical experience or dramatic training to "break into" the world of the stage through their offices.

The booking agents agreed also to work with the police in preventing the delinquency of stage struck girls. Any young girl who from now on applies to any Chicago booking agent for a position will be subjected to a rigid examination. If it is discovered she has run away from home or is too young or too unsophisticated to take care of herself she will immediately be turned over to the police.

Discourage Influx of Girls.

The resolutions were adopted only after a hard fight. Agents who depend for their existence on the booking of chorus girls insisted on being "shown." The arguments of the others eventually proved convincing. The resolutions in part follow:

WHEREAS, It has been a matter of common report and publicity among the newspapers of this vicinity for the last few months that certain young girls throughout the country have become possessed of the idea that a lucrative field is open to them in the theatrical profession; and,

WHEREAS, On account of such opinions and ideas several stage struck girls have migrated to Chicago and become exposed to all the temptations and snares of a large city; and,

WHEREAS, We consider it advisable that any means which may be adopted to put a stop to or ameliorate such conditions would be a benefit to the theatrical profession and the public at large; therefore be it

RESOLVED, By the Theatrical and Vaudeville Agents' Association of America, to unqualifiedly discountenance and discourage the idea of any young woman coming to Chicago to procure engagements.

Profession Is Overcrowded.

The resolutions then declare that the theatrical profession is overcrowded, that the supply of inexperienced girls is greatly in excess of the demand, and that the temptations and hardships to which stage life subjects a young girl only in rare instances are compensated for by success gained.

Many fathers of young girls have threatened the agents, and this is one of the reasons for the move. The agents declare there are plenty of bona fide chorus girls, and they do not need any stage struck ones.

"Just the other day a stage struck girl's father said he would shoot me unless I found his daughter," said Harry Armstrong, said to book more chorus girls than any agent in Chicago. "The irate parent found his daughter in a cheap concert hall in St. Louis and it was later discovered she had really been booked from Chicago.

"I had a hard time convincing the man that I was unable to watch every girl who was booked from my office. I think this move on the part of agents will eliminate the trouble of the last decade."

Police Ask Girls' Names.

After the three runaway girls had been found by the police, Capt. John J. Halpin, head of the Chicago detective bureau, got in communication with the local booking agents. He asked that the names of the girls who went to join shows leaving the city be turned over to him. The agents voted to do this.

The three girls whose experiences prompted the action of the booking agents were brought back from Matteon, Ill., on Monday. They were found in a cheap boarding house, penniless. They had been abandoned by the company with which they had been booked after the company itself had stranded.

They are: Ethel Austin, 18 years old, 2038 Washburne avenue; Marie Anderson, 17 years old, 181 North Ada street; Pearl Wade, 16 years old, 1335 Lake street.

For eight nights they danced in the glare of the footlights. Then at the end of a week the "ghost" failed to walk. Instead of pay envelopes there was a notice posted on the board announcing that the show was broke. The girls were, too. All the money they had received was $6. They owed for their room and board. Other members of the troupe left them in the lurch.

It was in this plight that they were discovered and brought home by Detective Aldenhovel.

'BURGLARS!' 'TWAS ONLY A CAT.

House Detective at Congress Hotel After Bush to Find Desperadoes Confronts Tangled Felins.

When the big burglar alarm went off with a clatter last night in the lobby of the Congress hotel, House Detective James Celia had fleeting visions of a half dozen cutthroats breaking into the vault of the hotel business office upstairs. He made three flying leaps from where he was sitting in the lobby to the stairway. The gong was still clanging and several bellboys added to the din by yelling "burglars." When Celia threw open the door of the office he confronted the office cat on top of the safe hopelessly tangled up in the burglar alarm wires.

INDICTS 32 IN BOMB OUTRAGE; NAMES SECRET

Indianapolis Grand Jury Returns True Bills in Quick Order.

NO DATE FOR ARRESTS

Chicagoan, Said to Have Given Gang Money, Involved in Finding.

EXPLOSIONS COVER 6 YEARS

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 6.—Union labor officials and agents whom the government holds criminally responsible with the McNamaras and Ortie E. McManigal for perpetrating more than 100 explosions which occurred in cities from Massachusetts to California in the last six years, and in which the wrecking of the Los Angeles Times building was an incident, were indicted today.

Thirty-two indictments were returned. Capiases for arrests have been issued, and all the men indicted are to be taken in custody on a day secretly fixed by the government but known to be within a week. March 12 has been set for the arraignment before Federal Judge A. B. Anderson in Indianapolis.

The papers for the arrests designate the amount of bond which the defendants may give in the federal districts in which they reside for their appearance here. The amounts of the bonds in the individual cases were not made known, but it was said in the aggregate they would total $300,000.

Forty Men May Be in Net.

Although the names of the defendants and their exact number were ordered withheld pending the arrests, it was stated probably more than thirty-two, and possibly forty, men were accused, inasmuch as more than one defendant was named in some of the indictments. Almost all the men, it was declared were either union officials or men who were charged with affiliating with the dynamiters.

One indictment is said to deal with a Chicago man, who, after McManigal partly wrecked by dynamite an iron works in South Chicago in February, 1911, handed him an envelope containing $165 with the remark, "There's money in that."

Men who were traced as having helped in causing explosions at Omaha, Neb.; Erie, Pa.; Davenport, Ia.; Perth Amboy, N. J.; Pelham, N. Y., and many points in Ohio, where twenty explosions occurred, are said to be involved.

Indict Pals of McManigal.

Part of the indictments are known to be against men who met Ortie E. McManigal in Detroit in June, 1907, and induced him, because of his familiarity with explosives gained while working in a stone quarry, to become a regular member of McNamara's "dynamiting crew."

Other indictments are believed to be against men who met McManigal in Boston and showed him where to put the explosives which blew up part of an opera house there on March 27, 1909, and who afterward went with him to Springfield, Mass., and showed him where to blow up part of a municipal building; and also against men who escorted him from New York to Hoboken, N. J., and to Jersey City, where he did "jobs" in 1909 and 1910; men who met him in Cleveland in July, 1910, and arranged for an explosion at Akron, O., and men who took charge of him when he arrived at Peoria, Ill., to blow up places there.

"Higher Up" Men Clear.

Asked if any men "higher up" had been indicted, United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller refused to say. Intimation came from another source, however, that no officials higher than those who had headquarters in Indianapolis were involved.

Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, and Herbert S. Hockin, the secretary-treasurer, when informed of the indictments, refused to comment, except to repeat their statements that J. J. McNamara acted on his own responsibility when he organized his "dynamiting crew." Hockin succeeded McNamara as secretary-treasurer of the association.

With the return of the indictments District Attorney Miller completed an inquiry begun last October, and the federal grand jury ended six weeks' hearing of testimony in which, it is said, McManigal's confession, given before the jurors verbally in detail and involving others, and papers taken from the headquarters of the iron workers had important bearing.

Begin "Open Shop" War.

Those papers were said not only to have shown under what circumstances McManigal was induced to start into the dynamiting business against "open shop" contractors, beginning in Detroit in June, 1907, but also to throw light on the $1,000 a month allowed McNamara for organizing purposes.

It took the grand jury just ten minutes to vote the indictments. Armed with two bulging suit cases, from which they later extracted the indictments, some of which were two or three inches thick, the grand jury filed into Judge Anderson's court at 2:10 p. m.

"Have you anything to report?" asked Judge Anderson.

"We have thirty-three indictments," responded Herbert M. Glossbrenner, the foreman, handing the bundles of typewritten documents to a clerk.

"The court thinks some expression of gratitude is due you for your faithfulness."

said Judge Anderson. "You will not be dismissed at this time, as it is possible, but not probable, you may be recalled before the end of the term in May."

District Attorney Miller, first explaining that only thirty-two of the indictments pertained to the dynamite conspiracy, then held a conference with Judge Anderson to arrange issuance of capiases and fixing of bond.

Some delay in forwarding copies of the indictments to the federal districts where the defendants are to be arrested would ensue, Mr. Miller said, because 3,000 typewritten sheets had to be transcribed. The arrests of men even within easy reach would not be effected at once, he said, because by demanding a copy of his indictment of arrest a defendant could reveal the names of others.

"It is our plan to facilitate the work of the agents that are to make the arrests over the country by not making public the names until all are within hand's reach," said Mr. Miller. "All the arrests are to be made on the same day, wherever the men live or may be sojourning.

"I must refuse to say anything now as to the positions these men hold, whether they are what are known as 'higher ups' or not. But we are highly gratified with the result of this widespread inquiry.

Set Date for Arrests.

"The arrests may not be made until Saturday of this week or Monday of next. There are 3,000 typewritten pages in the indictments and a copy must accompany the capiases. Two days probably will be required for the clerical work and the processes must then be delivered to the United States marshals of the various districts in which they are to be served. All this will require four or five days."

Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' association, an organization of "open shop" iron and steel contractors, whose members have suffered from explosions against their property, called at the district attorney's office.

"This is the culmination of years of effort on the part of the erectors' association, not only to protect its members from loss but to clear the labor unions of the criminal element," said Mr. Drew. "I have devoted my whole time to pursuit of the dynamiters since the creditors' association in the spring of 1906 canceled its contracts with the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers and declared for open shops.

Government's Task Big One.

"The public does not now realize the scope of this investigation, but when the arrests are made and the facts become known, the enormity of the government's task will appear. Workingmen and society generally will be benefited."

Fully 100 explosions at points scattered over seventeen states, and covering a period from the summer of 1905 to Oct. 16, 1911, when dynamite was found beneath a bridge near Santa Barbara, Cal., just before President Taft's special train passed over it, were inquired into by the grand jury.

The states in which explosions occurred were Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Utah, California, and Washington. Ohio, with twenty explosions, had more than any other one state. Illinois, Indiana, and New York follow in order in respect to the number of the explosions.

Explosions Each Year Given.

There were two explosions in 1905, nine in 1906, six in 1907, twenty-six in 1908, twenty in 1909, twenty-five in 1910, and thirteen in 1911. These figures are exclusive of the explosion which wrecked the Los Angeles Times plant and resulted in the confessions and imprisonment of the brothers, John J. and James B. McNamara. John J. McNamara was secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

The preliminary exhibit of facts and allegations about the explosions and their supposed origin was gathered and presented by the National Erectors' association, an organization of iron and steel manufacturers and contractors who had declared for the "open shop." After the explosions in 1905, the Erectors' association was formed, and in May, 1906, after declaring as an organization for the "open shop," engaged detectives to seek out the identity of those responsible for the explosions.

One of the first instances of the finding of hidden explosives occurred before the erectors organized and followed an attempt to blow up a building in East Twenty-third street, New York City. Two men were convicted. One of them confessed to having received $150 on one occasion for a "job" and $100 for cutting a cable. He told of the location of 100 one pound sticks of dynamite, which subsequently were found in the Jersey meadows and in the sands at the foot of East Twenty-fourth street.

Erectors Continue Work.

The erectors continued their investigations until the spring of 1911, but while the detectives were working in one place the explosions occurred with more frequency in others. More than a dozen viaducts, bridges, buildings, and other construction work, all being erected by firms employing nonunion labor, had been blown up before Ortie E. McManigal appeared on the scene, and before he began to work with John J. and James B. McNamara as a professional dynamiter.

The investigation of the dynamite conspiracy, after the pleas of guilty had been made by the McNamara brothers, was continued to ascertain who else, if any one, participated in or gave financial support to the crimes.

Dynamite Case Goes Over.

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 6.—The trials of Olaf A. Tvietmoe, Anton Johannsen, and E. A. Clancy of San Francisco and J. A. Munsey of Salt Lake, the labor leaders indicted for conspiracy to transport dynamite, went over until July 8 in the federal court today because of the crowded calendar.

LOCAL MEN READY WITH BONDS.

Every labor leader in Chicago who suspected there was a possibility of his being indicted by the Indianapolis grand jury is prepared to give bond as soon as he is arrested. This precaution was taken when it was first reported that Chicago men were entangled in the federal investigation.

Rumors were current last night that a secret conference of labor leaders had been held during the afternoon at the Victoria hotel, where the headquarters of the Chicago Federation of Labor have been located since the Open Board of Trade building burned. It was reported that all the labor chiefs who are said to be under indictment agreed to fight extradition to Indianapolis for trial.

Both the department of justice and the office of United States marshal held a reserve of operators and deputies yesterday afternoon and last night in expectancy that warrants on the indictments would reach Chicago. It was the declared intention of both offices to serve the warrants at once. Hopes of receiving the indictments were not abandoned until midnight.

AMERICA HONORS DICKENS' MEMORY

Celebration of Centenary Begun in New York; Distinguished Persons There.

GRANDCHILD TELLS NEED.

Letter from One of Five Girls Describes Financial Wants of the Family.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—New York's formal recognition of Dickens' centenary began tonight with a dinner at Delmonico's. The dinner was given by the Manhattan branch of the Dickens fellowship in cooperation with the Dickens centenary committee. Three hundred and fifty men and women attended. Seth Low was the toastmaster.

Those whom he introduced were Miss Agnes Repplier, William Bayard Hale of the World's Work, Kate Douglas Wiggin, Miss Edith Wynne Matthison, who read a poem by Edwin Markham in the absence, because of illness, of Mr. Markham, Charles Rann Kennedy, F. Hopkinson Smith, and Sydney Valentine.

It was recalled that on the night of Saturday, April 18, 1868, on Dickens' second visit to America and four days before he sailed for England, a dinner was given in his honor by the press of America, also at Delmonico's, which then was at Fifth avenue and Fourteenth street. Horace Greeley presided at the dinner and 200 guests were present.

Dickens' Words Repeated.

At that dinner as reported in the program of this later Dickens dinner of tonight, Mr. Dickens said:

"But what I have intended, what I have resolved upon (and this is the confidence I seek to place in you), is, on my return to England, in my own person to bear, for the behoof of my countrymen, such testimony to the gigantic changes in this country as I have hinted at tonight. Also to record that wherever I have been, in the smallest places equally with the largest, I have been received with unsurpassable politeness, delicacy, sweet temper, hospitality, consideration, and with unsurpassable respect for the privacy daily enforced upon me by the nature of my avocation here and the state of my health. This testimony, so long as I live, and so long as my descendants have any legal right in my books, I shall cause to be republished as an appendix to every copy of those two books of mine in which I have referred to America. And this I will do and cause to be done, not in mere love and thankfulness, but because I regard it as an act of plain justice and honor."

Low Toasts Dickens' Memory.

Over the center of the speakers' table at tonight's dinner hung a picture of the novelist, surrounded by a laurel wreath, and above it were draped the flags of Great Britain and the United States. The menu carried a photogravure of Dickens and of the house where he was born, and of Gadshill. The ice cream boxes bore a picture of Mr. Pickwick.

The speaking was preceded by a toast, proposed by Seth Low, who presided, "To the Immortal Memory of Charles Dickens." Mr. Low said that Alfred Tennyson Dickens, who died while on a lecture tour of this country recently, had expected to take part in the dinner; and Mr. Low added:

"As we commemorate the father, let us also express our sympathy for those who mourn the son."

Squeers' Laboratory Method.

Mr. Low said he felt as if he were presiding over a dinner to a man still alive—so full of vitality are the works of the novelist today.

"When Squeers told his boys to spell horse and then sent them out to clean them," Mr. Low went on, "he instituted the laboratory method of education, and his 'You know what I think—tell the gentleman,' solves the problems of a college president and of many other persons today, if they only knew enough to send for the right man."

Miss Repplier spoke of the unfamiliarity of the younger generation with Dickens' novels.

"The present generation," she said, "is too busy reading Bernard Shaw and Mr. Wells. Speaking to them of a Dickens character is almost as bad as a biblical allusion. I mentioned Joseph's coat the other day and a young blood near me hesitated and then said, 'O, yes, that was Joseph of Aramathea, wasn't it? The one who was decoyed into Egypt by a coat of many colors.'"

Wrote No Problem Novels.

William Bayard Hale said Dickens wrote no problem novels, made no dissection of hypochondriacs, did not indulge in psychology, and was unaware of the fictional value of paranoiacs. He also was unaware of the folly and invalidity of the seventh commandment.

"Dickens only concerned himself with normal, sane, and sweet and simple things," said Mr. Hale. "Humble people chiefly, written about in an humble way. We are a serious people nowadays, and demand purpose in our novels. Dickens had no purpose. His works tended powerfully toward reform, but he told them, not with reform in view, but because they were in his heart clamoring to be told.

"The secret of his power to touch our hearts lies in the fact that he never outgrew his childhood. He thought and spoke as a child and never put away childish things."

Mr. Hale went on to name some of the most pronounced characteristics of Dickens' work, his mastery of detail and wonderful observation, and pointed out that these are the characteristics of a child, who sees everything; his abnormal drawing of character, resulting in caricature, his love for personification of inanimate things.

Relatives Tell of Poverty.

The American executive committee of the Dickens fund, which will go to the five needy granddaughters of the novelist, announces a gratifying response to its appeals for money, but adds that if responses are not immediately greater and more generous the English fund will rather put ours to shame.

This letter from Ethel Dickens, one of the five granddaughters, has been forwarded from England by Lord Alverstone:

"I venture to bring to the notice of your committee the following statement of fact:

"My father, Charles Dickens Jr., died fifteen years ago at the comparatively early age of 59. His printing business had, through no fault of his own, failed, and at his death my mother and five unmarried daughters were left absolutely penniless. My mother was subsequently granted a government pension of $500 a year, which on her death three years ago was continued to me and my four sisters in the proportion of $100 a year each.

"Of these four sisters, two (who are not at all strong or fit for work) are just barely making a living, one as kindergarten teacher and the other keeping a home for Indian children. The third is at present out of a post altogether, and while trying to find fresh work has nothing at all but her pension, and the fourth is one of the secretaries at the National Health society.

"I myself, who am supposed to have been fairly successful, I have a copying office, have been working excessively hard for over twenty years. I have had one or two bad attacks of overwork illness and the doctor now tells me that I have overworked for so long that six months' complete rest is imperative. We have none of us been able to make enough money to save."

Charles Dickens.

Born One Hundred Years Ago Today.

Charles Dickens' centenary is being celebrated in various appropriate ways this week in all sections of the English speaking world. He was born 100 years ago today in a suburb of Portsmouth, England. The humor, no less than the pathos, that characterized his literary work has endeared him to the people wherever the English language is read. The endless discussions over his standing in literature seem only to have proved the stability of his fame. His sympathy with the poor and the influence of his writings in correcting injustice and multiform social wrongs gave him a standing unique among the novelists of his century.

CHICAGO TO HONOR DICKENS.

Chicago will do its share in honoring the memory of Dickens. Today at Lincoln Center there will be addresses on Dickens and moving picture shows illustrating the life of David Copperfield. On Feb. 21 a Dickens banquet will be given at the center and on Feb. 26 there will be a pageant in his honor.

Some little expression of the American people's regard for the novelist will be given by the decorating of the grave in Riverside cemetery, Moline, Ill., of Francis Jeffrey Dickens, the third youngest son of the novelist. The son died in 1886 while visiting Moline. He was in this country on a leave of absence from the Canadian Mounted Rifles. He was the guest of Dr. W. A. Jamieson. The citizens of Moline erected a marble tablet over his grave. There has been some agitation favoring a more imposing shaft.

GOMPERS, ON STAND, DENIES INTENT TO DISOBEY COURT.

Testimony Comes Up in Hearing of Contempt in Connection with Buck Stove and Range Company Case.

Washington, D. C., Feb 6.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, denied any intent to disobey the injunction of the Supreme court of the District of Columbia when he took the stand today in his own defense against the charge of contempt in connection with the Bucks Stove and Range company boycott case. His testimony was not completed.

Mr. Gompers insisted upon oath that his editorials in the American Federationist and the utterances of himself and other officials of organized labor during the campaign of 1908 were not intended to aid or abet the boycott of the company.

For these alleged acts in violation of the court's order, Mr. Gompers was sentenced to one year, John Mitchell to nine months, and Secretary Frank Morrison to six months in the Washington jail.

Mr. Gompers explained that his speeches were based on his understanding of the American right of free speech. He denied specifically each instance cited by the committee of attorneys who are prosecuting him and stated that the boycott of the Bucks Stove company was not in his mind when he uttered them.

The burden of his testimony was intended to show that he had not violated the restraining order at that time.

"Usin' TIZ Gramma?"

"Yes, Harold, It Makes Grandma's Feet Feel Just Like Yours, Free from Tiredness, Aches and Corns!"

"Your papa and mamma, your grandpa and your grandma all use TIZ, Harold. And you'll use it, too, when you get to be a man. Then your feet will never hurt, or get tired. That's why we all use TIZ."

Most of us get old, feet first. The bunions get stale, more wearisome and painful. Corns get harder and more stubborn as the feet become more tender. At a time when old people need their feet most, they can use them less—unless they use TIZ.

If you have never used TIZ before, your first use of it will bring back some of your girlhood days. TIZ will make your feet feel young, strong and vigorous. They'll never be tender, never chafe or ache, never get blistered or swollen, and your corns, bunions and callouses will be no more. Nothing will do it or can do it like TIZ. Don't experiment with other things; other people have done that for you and they are all now using TIZ. Don't accept any substitutes.

TIZ acts on a new principle—draws out all the poisonous exudations that make foot troubles.

TIZ, 25 cents a box, sold everywhere, or sent direct, on receipt of price, by Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill. Recommended by all Drug Stores, department and general stores.

WHAT AILS YOU? LOOK IN MIRROR!

Physician Says Your Face Tells; That's How the Doctors Find Out.

GOT BUMP ON THE HEAD?

It Means Self-Esteem; Try Looking Glass Method and Cure Yourself.

WHAT YOUR FACE INDICATES.

Upper lip drawn up	Pains in chest
Deep lines under eyes	Nervousness
Contracted lines on forehead	Headache
Horizontal lines on forehead	Mental disease
Lines about mouth	Pulmonary ailments

If your friends have any of the above symptoms, call the doctor. These markings on the face are sure signs of the indicated ailments, according to Dr. Maximillian Kuznik, who spoke last night before the Homeopathic Medical Society of Chicago at the public library.

The subject of Dr. Kuznik's address was "Character Reading in the Face." The lecture was given at the request of the audience, indicated by rising vote.

Faces Show Mental State.

"It is a known fact," said Dr. Kuznik, "that symptoms of ailments are expressed in the face. Besides character reading we can read the state of a person's health in his face. Doctors are relying upon this more and more when treating patients."

During the course of the address, members of his audience stole surreptitious glances at one another, and as the discourse changed from symptom reading to character reading, hand mirrors were produced in profusion.

"When the eyes are set far apart," declared Dr. Kuznik, "it is a sign that the possessor has a good sense of location. If there is a hollow in the center of the forehead it is a sign of a poor memory.

Bump on the Head? Aha!

"A large bump on top of the head is a sign of self-esteem, not conceit. When a man is conceited, he thinks that he amounts to a whole lot, but when he possesses self-esteem he knows that he is all right. Self-esteem is but a step higher than conceit.

"We are no stronger than our weakest characteristic. The advantage of phrenology is that by studying our features we can find our weak points and then eleminate them."

FOUNDER PRAISES CHICAGO "SCOUTS"

Sir Robert Baden-Powell Says They Are "Finest Boys I've Seen in America."

VIEWS TROOPS IN ACTION.

Five Thousand Little Soldiers of Peace Perform Before the Boer War Veteran.

Five thousand pairs of boyish knees trembled yesterday afternoon, and 5,000 right hands were jerked into stiff, almost reverent salute. For the Boy Scouts of Chicago, brought up in review form in the Dexter pavilion at the stockyards, were having their first view of the most wonderful man in the world to them, Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, hero of Mafeking and the founder of the boy scout movement.

Evidently Sir Robert himself was pleased. As he watched the drills of the 5,000 boys, their accomplishments in wig-wag signaling, wireless telegraphy, first aid, racing, building fires without matches, and campmaking with a keen interest. Nor did he stay at a distance.

Praises Chicago Scouts.

After the first salute Sir Robert left his flag draped box and walked out into the arena with H. E. Simmons, field secretary of the Boy Scouts of Chicago, to visit the troops.

"These are fine boys," he said, time after time, as he walked along, "the finest I have seen in America. They're well built, strong and sturdy, and they're intelligent."

As they walked along the general noticed a banner and stopped to read it.

"Hull house," he said. "Boys from the poorer districts of the city?"

"Yes," answered the field secretary.

"That's the thing. There's the good of the boy scout movement. When it reaches the poor districts, then it begins to accomplish real good."

Visits First American Troop.

A moment later Sir Robert stopped before the Hamilton Park boys, comprising the first troop of Scouts in the United States. He listened smilingly to the story of O. W. Reeves, the scout master, and stepped forward as Will Seaton and Albert Patsloff, the "medal members" of the troop, were brought forth.

"The commander tells me you've not missed a call in two years," said Sir Robert. "That is good work."

He chucked them under the chin and shook hands with them. Then he left them, and while the drums of the many troops boomed forth and the bugles started their blaring the man who made himself famous at Mafeking returned to his box to talk of the Boy Scout work and of himself.

Talks of Scout Movement.

"The Boy Scout movement is growing greater, wider in its scope every year," he said. "The thought that it is for military purposes should be abandoned entirely. It is a form of education—an education in honesty, and truthfulness, and saving, and in good health. Already there are six schools in England who conduct the movement upon educational lines entirely. Every boy who undergoes a training in boy scout work is in a real life school and——"

His face beamed, for out in the arena the boys were endeavoring to make a fire by rubbing sticks together over tinder. One lad succeeded and brought applause.

"Good!" Sir Robert called. "Good!"

"You see," the soldier continued, and his glance traveled downward to the medals he wore, "I've seen enough of war to want to keep away from the military idea. Woodcraft, handicraft, and all those things are available. First aid and all that goes with it is excellent, but the boys should be kept away from the idea that they are being trained so that some day they may fight for their country."

Rapidly the events of the arena changed and were applauded. Then at 4 o'clock the founder of the Boy Scouts left the exhibition to make a tour of the stockyards and the packing plants.

Sir Robert was accompanied by Julius Rosenwald, A. Stamford White, James E. West of New York, the national secretary of the Boy Scout movement; L. Wilbur Messer, and Howard Elting.

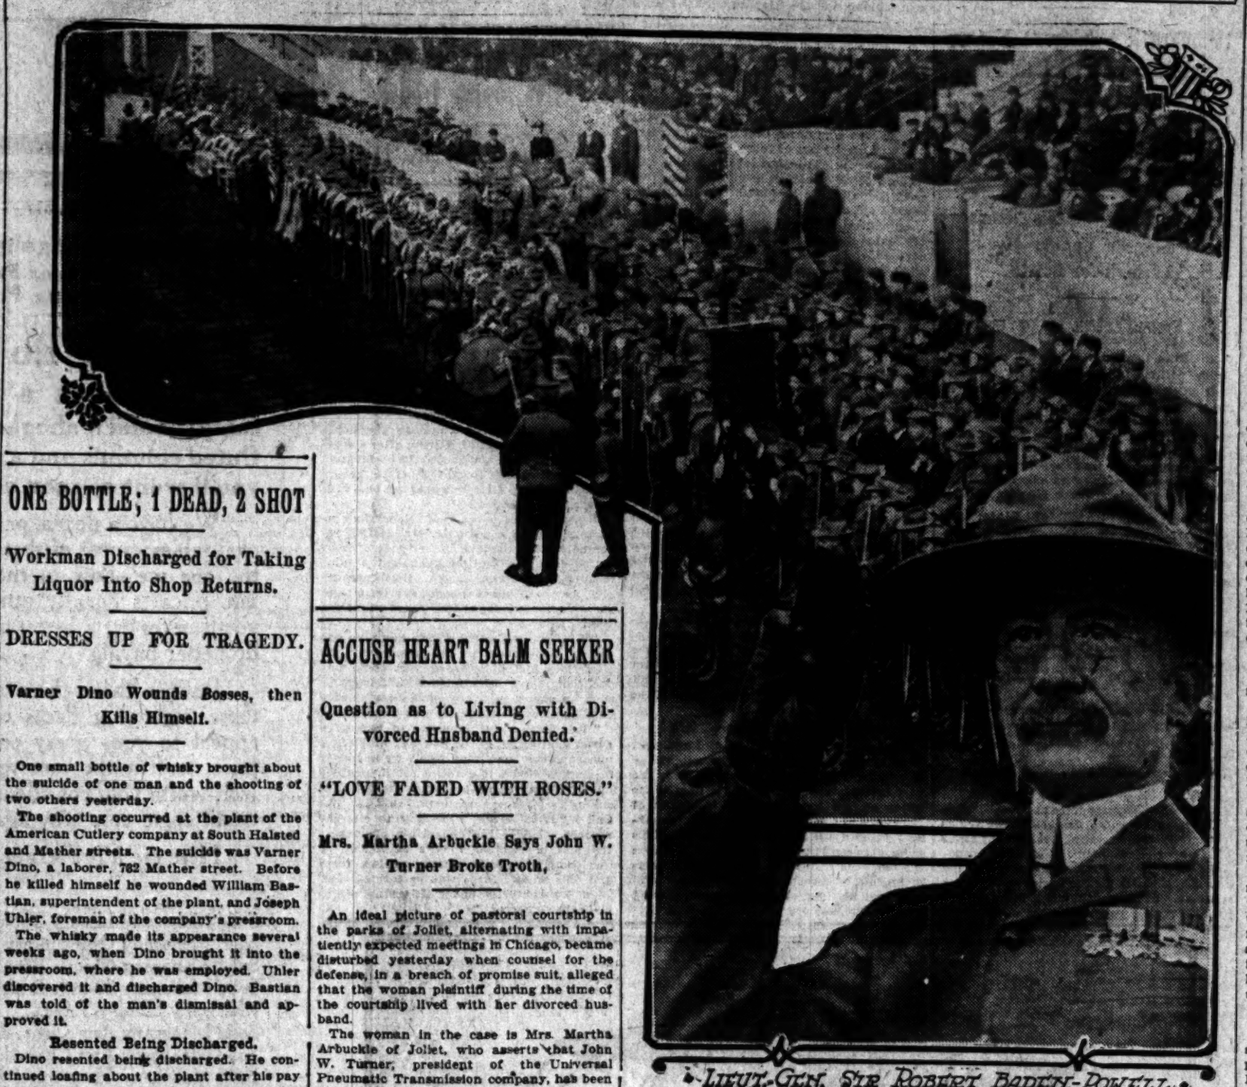

Several soldiers who had been in the Boer war were introduced to him and showed him somewhat proudly—their discharge papers they had brought along for identification. Frank Seelig, a 15 year old Boy Scout of 4617 Indiana avenue, acted as his aid.

Peace Scouting Needed.

Gen. Baden-Powell lectured to about 500 persons at night in Orchestra hall on the benefits of the work of boy scouting.

"It is not war scouting that is needed now, but peace scouting," he said. "The explorers, the pioneers, the persons who are always on the lookout to do something for the benefit of humanity, are the ones who count, and that should be the motto of every boy scout."

Sir Robert Baden-Powell and the Chicago Boy Scouts He Reviewed

LIEUT.-GEN. SIR ROBERT BADEN-POWELL.

Chicago Boy Scouts turned out 5,000 strong yesterday and won praise as the "finest in America" from Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert Baden-Powell, founder of the movement. The review gave the boys their first look at the man responsible for their organization.

ONE BOTTLE; 1 DEAD, 2 SHOT

Workman Discharged for Taking Liquor Into Shop Returns.

DRESSES UP FOR TRAGEDY.

Varner Dino Wounds Bosses, then Kills Himself.

One small bottle of whisky brought about the suicide of one man and the shooting of two others yesterday.

The shooting occurred at the plant of the American Cutlery company at South Halsted and Mather streets. The suicide was Varner Dino, a laborer, 762 Mather street. Before he killed himself he wounded William Bastian, superintendent of the plant, and Joseph Uhler, foreman of the company's pressroom.

The whisky made its appearance several weeks ago, when Dino brought it into the pressroom, where he was employed. Uhler discovered it and discharged Dino. Bastian was told of the man's dismissal and approved it.

Resented Being Discharged.

Dino resented being discharged. He continued loafing about the plant after his pay has been stopped. He continually pestered Bastian and Uhler with pleas that he be reinstated.

On Monday he was told he could come back to work if he would "be good." Apparently Dino misunderstood what was said. At any rate he appeared at the plant yesterday afternoon dressed in his best clothes. He asked for Bastian and was told he was out to lunch. He left in a rage.

A little later he returned. As he came into the pressroom he met Bastian. He immediately drew two revolvers and began shooting. Bastian fell. The pressroom, in which fifty men were employed, was thrown into an uproar. Uhler came running toward Dino.

"Put down that pistol, Dino," he shouted.

Shoots Foreman, Then Self.

Dino hesitated a moment as he heard the voice of authority. Then he fired at Uhler.

As the foreman fell the other pressmen closed in around the man with the pistols. Dino turned his weapons toward them, apparently about to shoot, then seemed to change his mind. One of the revolvers was pressed against his temple and there was a report. When the pressmen reached the man he was dead.

Both Bastian and Uhler were seriously wounded. Bastian was rushed to the Presbyterian and Uhler to the county hospital.

FIRE TUG HELPS PUT OUT BLAZE IN WHICH TONS OF CANDY BURN.

Factory Destroyed with Heavy Loss—Chief Seyferlich Is Injured—Iron Doors Check Firemen.

Tons of sweetmeats and candy making materials burned last night when fire destroyed the contents of a four story building at 73 East South Water street, occupied by the Ambrosia Chocolate Cream company. The total damage was $90,000.

For a short time the many old buildings in this district of which the burning building was a type were threatened. The fire started on the third floor in the rear.

Firemen were delayed in getting at the flames by iron doors which covered the alley windows. These finally were broken open after ten minutes' quick work with axes. The fire had then gained such headway that a 2-11 alarm was sounded.

The flames rapidly spread through the building and a general alarm was turned in. The narrowness of the alley made it difficult for the firemen to direct the streams to good advantage. Entrance was gained to the building across the alley and two streams from windows soon had the fire there under control. In the front of the building the firemen were not met with success. Truck company No. 6 ran a ladder and hose to the fourth floor and were soon forced to withdraw. A line of hose was run from the fire tug Greeme Stewart. The fire was soon placed under control.

Fire Marshal Charles Seyferlich slipped on the icy pavement. His left hip was slightly bruised by the fall. He remained on duty. Capt. Patrick Pierce of Hook and Ladder company No. 3 strained his back in a fall down a short flight of stairs. He was taken to his company station, where it was found that his injuries were not at all serious.

The confectionery firm's loss was $30,000. The New England Enameling company, occupying the first floor, incurred a loss of $5,000; the Security Distilling company a loss of $1,000. The damage to the building was $20,000. The building was owned by the Price estate.

OPPOSE FIRE LIMITS PLAN.

Aldermen Object That Extension of Lines Would Prevent Persons of Moderate Means from Building.

Opposition to the proposed extensions of the fire limits led to a postponement of action by the council committee on buildings yesterday. The chief objection to widening the area within which no frame structures can be built was that the prohibition would work a hardship upon the poor man who had planned to erect his own residence. This complaint was made by Ald. Felix B. Janovsky for the Twenty-ninth ward, by Ald. John R. Emerson for the Eighth ward, and by residents of the south of Thirty-ninth street between Western and Ashland avenues. Ald. Charles M. Thomson suggested that in the proposed extensions the prohibition be lifted from two story residences and flat buildings and one story business buildings. This plan will be taken up at the next meeting of the committee.

ACCUSE HEART BALM SEEKER

Question as to Living with Divorced Husband Denied.

"LOVE FADED WITH ROSES."

Mrs. Martha Arbuckle Says John W. Turner Broke Troth.

An ideal picture of pastoral courtship in the parks of Joliet, alternating with impatiently expected meetings in Chicago, became disturbed yesterday when counsel for the defense, in a breach of promise suit, alleged that the woman plaintiff during the time of the courtship lived with her divorced husband.

The woman in the case is Mrs. Martha Arbuckle of Joliet, who asserts that John W. Turner, president of the Universal Pneumatic Transmission company, has been playing her heart strings and irresponsibly left them in a dangerous state of tremolo, the instrumental damages being appraised by her at $30,000. She is suing in the Superior court before Judge McSurely.

Friends in Earlier Days.

The plaintiff is a comely matron of about 180 pounds and 46 years old. She was divorced in September, 1908, in Joliet from Oscar E. Arbuckle. She testified that from this marriage she has five children, the eldest 22 years old.

John W. Turner is nine years her senior and was a friend of her former husband and hers before the marriage. It is alleged that in 1909 he tried for a closer union and asked her to marry him.

Mrs. Arbuckle testified that a conversation she had with Mr. Turner in August of 1909 at the La Salle street depot was exclusively about love, that he had asked her to concentrate her mind on loving him and that he declared to be almost crazy waiting for her. She consented to marry him and the wedding was fixed for June, 1910, she said.

Love Fades with Roses.

But after the last roses of the summer were gone the lover's passion cooled, and here is the way he is alleged to have addressed his promised bride on her next arrival at the same depot in October:

"I know that you will feel like killing me after I have told you what I have to say, but as far as our matrimonial engagement is concerned I'll have to call that off. To make explanations short: I do not want to get married. I do not want a wife, and you can't make a case out of this because no day has been set for our marriage."

On cross examination the witness was asked whether she had not on several occasions received money from the defendant, whom she used to address as "Cousin John." She admitted she had. Then she was asked if it were not a fact that even now she is living in the same room with her former husband and if an officer of a Joliet court had found them so a few months ago when he went to her house one night to arrest her son Harry for disorderly conduct. The witness entered a denial.

Daughter Tells of Park Meetings.

Her daughter Julia, 16 years old, who was present at several meetings between her mother and Mr. Turner, told of a visit to Bush park in Joliet, made by the three of them, during which Mr. Turner said to the girl:

"I do not care what is said after the marriage, but beforehand it is better for me not to meet your brothers. I know that it is all right with you, Julia, and the boys will eventually get married, so your mother might as well be assured of a good home."

DOCTORS TO TALK ON EYES IN SERIES OF FREE LECTURES

Specialists Will Show Causes of Blindness and Prevention—Forms Part of Public Health Campaign.

The second of the series of free public lectures on topics of public health offered by THE TRIBUNE, the south side branch of the Chicago Medical society, and the Chicago Woman's club will be given tomorrow night in the Public Library building, Michigan boulevard and Randolph street. The subject will be "Conservation of Vision and Prevention of Blindness."

As in each of the weekly lectures in the series, the speakers will be well known physicians and specialists, recognized as authorities in their profession. Six physicians will discuss the topic in all of its phases. Then the meeting will be opened for general discussion. The meeting will be the only one held downtown, the others of the series being given in Lincoln center, Oakwood boulevard, and Langley avenue.

Dr. William H. Wilder will discuss infectious diseases that are among the most frequent causes of blindness and are yet easily preventable. Dr. Frank Allport will talk on the conservation of school childrens' eyes. D. P. McMillan, member of the child's study department of the board of education, will discuss the inability to see normally that is frequently noticeable in school children. Illumination and vision will be taken up by J. R. Cravath.

Robert J. Young, manager of the safety and relief department of the Illinois Steel company, will tell how dangers of injuries to eyes in industrial plants should be prevented. Dr. Caroline Hedger will urge the education, regulation, and registration of midwives on account of the part they play in the prevention of blindness.

BRAVES BULLETS FOR BRIDE

Perils of Wooing Policeman's Daughter Told in Court.

'PINCHED' BY GIRL'S PARENT.

Judge Rooney Tries Prisoner and Tells Patrolman He's Wrong.

James McCutcheon, who is 23 years of age and lives at 2812 West Thirty-sixth street, yesterday told Judge Rooney a moving story of the perils of wooing a policeman's daughter.

The girl is Margaret Crotty, daughter of Daniel Crotty, a patrolman at the Thirty-fifth street station. Crotty, who is a Catholic, objects to McCutcheon because he is a Protestant.

Told He Wasn't Wanted.

McCutcheon had been courting Miss Crotty for some time when the policeman informed him that his attentions were distasteful to the family. He consulted Miss Margaret, who stated that so far as she was concerned her father was mistaken.

McCutcheon continued to call. One day Crotty put him out of the house. Thereafter McCutcheon visited Miss Crotty at the house of a friend who lives at 3338 Honoré street, across the street from the Crotty residence.

Fires Shots at Suitor.

When Crotty learned about these meetings he was furious. On Jan. 25 he went to the house and attempted to put McCutcheon under arrest. McCutcheon resisted and broke away from the policeman's grasp. Crotty then fired two shots from his pistol which had the effect of suppressing any desire McCutcheon may have had to run away. He was then taken to the Thirty-fifth street station on a charge of assault.

After Judge Rooney had heard the whole story he said to Crotty:

"McCutcheon looks like a clean, straightforward young man to me. He certainly in this instance behaved well under trying circumstances. Your opposition impresses me as being ill advised. The prisoner is discharged."

TONY BACK WITH WEIRD STORY

Maggiore Boy Says He Was Taken to Minneapolis by Man.

HE TALKS OF "BLACK STUFF."

Drank Water, Got Dizzy, and Was Deserted.

Antonio Maggiore Jr. came back to 1006 Milton avenue yesterday after the police had spent many days hunting his kidnapers.

Both his ears were intact. He had not been scalped. And at first he told a story which sounded like the truth. After repeated questioning by detectives and newspaper reporters he told a story that sounded like a crude fabrication.

Yet the second story has already been corroborated in part and seems to be in the main true, though doubtless embroidered by the desire of 13 years not to spoil the story. The boy's story is this:

CHAPTER I.

After I left home a week ago Sunday I met a man carrying a black box filled with black stuff that I thought was dynamite. He asked me to go with him. I was afraid he would blow me up if I didn't go. I went. He took me to the Union station. The man said there was no train that night for Minneapolis. So the man took me to a hotel in Clark street to stay.

CHAPTER II.

We took the train the next day. On the way the man sat close to me with the black box beside him. I asked for a drink of water. He gave it to me. Then I got sick and the man got off the train. I don't know his name.

CHAPTER III.

I got off the train at St. Paul and walked a long time. An engineer took me on his engine to Minneapolis. I slept in the police station there. They asked me my name and I said "Maggiore." They didn't keep me.

CHAPTER IV.

I slept in the Salvation Army place at Minneapolis after that. Then I took a train home. I came alone. I went home and changed my clothes. Then they brought me over here to the station. The $7 I took with me is gone. It was my money.

Capt. Meagher was inclined to believe the boy told the truth when he said he did not leave Chicago, but was afraid to go home after he had spent part of the $7 and so had stayed away as long as he could. That was his first story.

But a telegram from Minneapolis states that Antonio spent several days there. He was in the care of Maj. Cass at the Minneapolis Industrial home of the Salvation Army.

The widow of Michael Maggiore, a brother of Antonio's who died two days after Antonio's disappearance, was questioned by the police. So was Vincenzo Zibito, 1000 Milton avenue, who, the police say, has represented himself as a doctor in the Italian district. Both were released.

Antonio Maggiore Jr. was taken to the Juvenile Detention home. He will be arraigned in the Juvenile court.

Italian detectives who worked on the kidnaping case declared at night they are convinced the boy was held a prisoner in Chicago and probably was released after a ransom had been paid.

NO TRIAL FOR CAPT. HALPIN; RESPONSIBILITY WITH HUNT.

Civil Service Commission Will Try Former Inspector for Vice Conditions—Charges to Be Filed Soon.

Capt. John J. Halpin, head of the detective bureau, and the lieutenants serving under him will escape charges of inefficiency and neglect of duty, according to an authoritative source, and Capt. Nicholas Hunt, former inspector in the loop district, and the commanding officers of the central detail will have to answer for vice and gambling conditions downtown.

Special Counsel W. W. Wheelock and his aid, Attorney Ernest R. Fifer, have been working on the charges for several days. It is believed they will be filed some time during the week.

Detective Sergeant Bertram Cleghorn and Policeman James Hart will be placed on trial before the commission today. They are accused of being intoxicated and discharging their revolvers in South State street without good reason.

The loop, Chicago avenue, and the Desplaines street police districts yesterday afternoon were the scene of gambling raids by members of Assistant Chief Schuettler's gambling squad. Ten newsboys were caught at West Madison street and Fifth avenue. Detective Crandall said that the boys were playing poker. An alleged handbook was raided at the Ontario hotel, 616 North Clark street, and John Reardon, supposed keeper, and twenty-three inmates were arrested. A poker game at 407 South Green street was [illegible] and seven men were taken.

CAR MEN SERVE STRIKE UKASE

Union Officials Agree to Await Return of President Roach of Railways Company.

HOGARTH STICKS TO JOB.

New Superintendent Refuses to Quit; South Side Employes Join Demands.

Officials of the street car men's union last night declared they would call a general strike on all the surface lines in Chicago next week unless the Chicago Railways company complies with their demands.

This statement was made following a long conference with Williston Fish, vice president and general manager of the company. The union men were promised a conference with President John M. Roach upon his return to the city on Friday.

Among the things most urgently demanded by the union is the removal of James B. Hogarth as general superintendent of the operating department and the reinstatement of all motormen and conductors he has discharged and suspended with full pay for lost time. The union officials assert that Hogarth has discharged about 600 men during the last six months, since he has had charge.

Hogarth Refuses to Resign.

Hogarth announced at night that he had no intention of resigning.

"I have tried to be fair to all the men," he said. "Those who have been discharged and disciplined had given the company ample cause. They were either intoxicated, found drinking in saloons, or had become so reckless as to have a great number of accidents."

William Quinlan, president of the north and west side employes, said the entire street car service of Chicago would be tied up unless the company met the union's demands.

"This matter has been brewing for many months," he said. "Finally it has come to a place where the men cannot be controlled much longer. They have been outraged almost beyond human endurance. We are organized for the purpose of preventing imposition and protecting ourselves and unless there is a radical change at once we will use our weapon."

Company Asks Delay.

Following a conference the officials of the south side and the north and west side employes went to the office of Vice President Fish with the resolution that was adopted unanimously by the street car men at their massmeeting Monday night. They told the street railway official that no recession would be made from the terms of the resolution and that refusal to comply with it would mean a general walkout.

The union men were told that John M. Roach, president of the company, was in Florida, and that no one had authority to act in his absence. Mr. Fish said Mr. Roach would return Friday and that he would immediately arrange for a conference. The union men agreed to await Mr. Roach's return.

Officials of the south side union said their members also had serious grievances and that besides they were in sympathy with the north and west side men. Officials of the union of the elevated roads were scheduled to attend the conference, but they did not appear. It was said they were engaged in a conference of their own.

State Supreme Court Grants Motion to Defer Arguments on Bail Issue Until April Term.

The Illinois State Supreme court yesterday allowed a motion by Attorneys Callahan & Callahan, counsel for Evelyn Arthur See, convicted of abduction and responsibility for the delinquency of a minor, to have the appeal continued to the April term. See's attorneys are now preparing to argue before the Supreme court a motion to admit their client to bail. See, the leader of the Absolute Life cult, has been confined in the county jail since last November.

DUNNING FUNDS IN QUESTION; DR. WILLHITE MAY BE CALLED.

Former Superintendent Likely to Be Asked to Explain Expenditures—Missing Clerk Also Involved.

Dr. O. C. Willhite, former superintendent of the county institutions at Dunning, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the alleged wrongful appropriation of large sums of money intended for the support of inmates of the institution, now is conducting a private sanitarium in San Francisco. He may be asked to explain his connection with a number of financial transactions during his administration.

Investigations recently conducted are said to have shown that thousands of dollars, collected by former County Agent John W. Bell, for the support of inmates of the Dunning institutions, and by him turned over to Dr. Willhite, were not turned over to the county treasurer. On numerous checks which had been cashed appears the name of Dr. Willhite, as well as that of M. T. Campbell, a former clerk at the institution, who has disappeared from public view some time ago.

In all it is said that upwards of $20,000 was misapplied during Willhite's tenure of office.

DENEEN TO START RACE ON FRIDAY

Governor Will Open "No Quarter" Campaign for G. O. P. Nomination.

DODGES UNION WITH TAFT

Presidential Situation Will Be Forgotten When the Executive Stumps State.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Peoria, Ill., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Deneen is ready to start upon a "no quarter" campaign which precludes the possibility of compromise with any political interest which stands opposed to his renomination.

The governor, with Mrs. Deneen, came to Peoria tonight for the dedication of the new Hotel Jefferson. Incidental to the governor's visit, politicians from all parts of central and western Illinois flocked in to discuss the gubernatorial situation with the executive.

The result of these conferences was to satisfy Gov. Deneen that he will be renominated, but that the way to secure renomination is to tell the facts concerning Illinois politics and the legislative conditions which have prevailed in Springfield during the last two sessions particularly.

Governor Will Take Stump.

This means, in the judgment of the Deneen lieutenants, that he will take the stump and develop and elaborate some of the salient points which he made in giving his testimony in the Lorimer hearing.

The governor also is to take up the case of Speaker Adkins and the arrangements which the governor's friends profess to believe caused his election to the speakership and his subsequent open break with Gov. Deneen over "executive interference" with the general assembly.

Probably Friday the governor will start upon his statewide fight, he said tonight. He will enter legislative districts just as he did in the interim in the waterway scrap in the last legislature and talk plainly of the records of the legislators who assisted in the defeat of the administration program, and, as the governor sees it, broke the party pledges which had been made in the Springfield platform of 1908 and 1910.

No Worry Over Thompson.

Gov. Deneen, he let it be known tonight, does not intend to pay serious attention to the defection of Col. John R. Thompson, who resigned as one of his colonels, and his espousal of the case of State's Attorney Wayman.

That the action of Mr. Thompson in refusing to vote the ward caused anger in the Deneen camp which led clear to the top is not denied and retaliatory measures were under consideration. The Wayman declaration of Mr. Thompson and his resignation, which now lies upon the governor's desk at Springfield, were quoted as satisfactory to the governor and to the real Deneen following.

After a continued line of conferences between the governor and his friends from all over this part of the state it became known tonight that Gov. Deneen will take no hand in the presidential contest on one side or the other, but will devote his entire energy to his own gubernatorial battle.

He and his friends who talked with him today feel that there is trouble enough in store for the Republicans in Illinois without involving the presidency with any of the state factionalism and the effort will be made to keep the two propositions entirely separate so far as the Deneen primary campaign is concerned.

There is only one side to the presidential matter if the sentiment expressed by Deneen and anti-Deneen men who congregated at the Hotel Jefferson celebration is a criterion and the answer is that the solid delegation from Illinois is likely to be for Roosevelt in the Chicago convention.

Sherman Out for Senator.

News which reached the assembled politicians from Springfield was that Lawrence Y. Sherman is almost certain to become a candidate for United States senator, and that his petitions will be ready for filing at Springfield Friday, when the big rush of state, congressional, and legislative candidates will begin at the office of the secretary of state.

SAY DENEEN CANNOT WIN

Progressive Republicans Declare Renomination Would Mean Loss

"ALLIANCES" ARE ATTACKED.

Steinbrecher Denounces "Rump" Convention and "Taft Indorsement."

Paul Steinbrecher, chairman of the Cook County Progressive Republican league, as spokesman for Walter Clyde Jones, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, issued a statement yesterday commenting upon Gov. Deneen's announcement of his candidacy for renomination.

"Gov. Deneen cannot be reelected," Mr. Steinbrecher said, "and it is almost equally certain that he cannot be renominated. The sentiment all through Illinois against the governor is strong. The enemies he has made by allying himself with one faction of the organization and then with another faction, first with Lorimer and then against Lorimer; first with Busse and now against Busse, and now with the federal machine—Campbell, Cullom, and others—will cost the governor thousands and thousands of organization votes.

County Convention Criticised.

"His attitude in favor of last Saturday's machine made slate—a brazen, unjust defiance of the spirit and purpose of the direct primary law—the indorsement of President Taft's standpat administration by the rump convention, and its refusal to indorse progressive principles or Roosevelt for president are acts for which the governor is responsible.

"Today, when the people are clamoring for a progressive leader for the presidency, Gov. Deneen is allied with the Taft-Cullom federal machine. At best he is in a position where at most he could only follow but not lead the progressive Republicans of Illinois.

"But the governor has been a consistent follower. During his two administrations he never has led his party. As the campaign develops it will be made clear as to who led the fight in Illinois for the direct primary law, for civil service, for a corrupt practices act, for a preferential preference vote for president, and other progressive measures.

Need a Real Leader.

"Illinois needs a real leader—a big, courageous, constructive statesman, who stands unequivocally for principle and progress. In Senator Walter Clyde Jones the voters of Illinois will have a governor of the La Follette and Roosevelt type."

Leaders in the Lorimer-Lincoln league are preparing a slate of candidates for county officers to be indorsed at its county convention in the Second regiment armory on Saturday afternoon. Senator Lorimer's followers will hold a state convention at Springfield on Monday. A slate for state offices will be indorsed. Len Small is expected to be proposed for governor.

Hurburgh Attacks Organization.

State Senator Charles F. Hurburgh, candidate for the Republican nomination of governor, in a speech at Streator last night said:

"The question in the minds of many will be whether Illinois is to be longer the football of the Cook county organization and is to have its most important nomination dictated by that body, or whether the Republicans of Illinois are the ones to decide whom they want for their offices."

George H. White, city prosecuting attorney under Busse, has announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination of chief justice of the Municipal court. He lives at 5016 Jefferson avenue, in the Sixth ward.

INDORSES DUNNE FOR GOVERNOR

Thirty-fourth Ward Organization Also Approves Barton for Legislature and Davy for Alderman.

Edward F. Dunne was indorsed for governor last night at a meeting of the Dunne organization of the Thirty-fourth ward. Harry J. Barton received the indorsement for representative of the Nineteenth senatorial district; William Davy for alderman of the ward, and Stephen Say for county commissioner. Timothy Crulce, formerly of the Thirty-fourth ward, but who is now running for alderman of the Thirty-fifth, received the indorsement of the organization. The Democratic clubs of the Seventeenth, Tenth, and Thirteenth wards also indorsed Dunne for governor at night.

HEARST-HARRISON SLATE FIXED UP

Democratic Leaders O. K. Candidates; Put End to Free for All Race.

FEAR SULLIVAN FACTION.

Back Hoyne for State's Attorney; Bartzen for County Head; Cermak for Bailiff.

The Hearst-Harrison leaders yesterday picked their favorites for the county ticket from 300 or more candidates who are circulating petitions and preparing for the general scramble for places that promises to mark the primaries.

Although they were careful to announce that no slate was being prepared or considered, the names of the men who are to have the backing of the Harrison-Hearst followers on primary day were checked off by Mayor Harrison and other friendly leaders.

Frame Up "Unofficial" Slate.

The selections given the official O. K. of Harrison and Andrew Lawrence for the Hearst forces, although no official announcement was made, were as follows:

State's attorney—Maclay Hoyne.
President county board—Peter Bartzen.
Bailiff Municipal court—Anton J. Cermak.
Member board of review—David M. Fiszlzer.
Sanitary district trustees—Isaac Doff, C. E. Reading, Timothy Clohesy.
Clerk Superior court—R. J. McGrath.
Clerk Circuit court—F. J. Danish.

The clerk of the Municipal court and the county commissioners were not passed upon.

Yesterday's meeting was held at the Briggs house following a meeting held Sunday night with Mayor Harrison in charge. The proposition of doing something to cut down the list of candidates for the various offices was taken up. At present the city is being flooded by Democrats who are preparing petitions for this or that office, the number being estimated at between 350 and 400, with more appearing every day. This the Hearst-Harrison men figured would mean that too many Harrison men would be opposing each other, with the chances of Sullivan or Dunne men slipping in, which would not be relished by the Harrison men.

Democrats Fail in "Harmony."

An effort by certain Dunne, Harrison-Hearst, and Sullivan leaders to bring about a "harmony" meeting a few days ago failed. The Sullivan forces announced that there would be no coalition with Hearst, and the Dunne men announced that they were interested mainly in the candidacy of the former mayor for the gubernatorial nomination and would not take chances of injuring his prospects by aligning him with candidates for county offices.

An indication of the division of forces in the gubernatorial race is shown by the report that Robert Redfield and Robert E. Burke, both Harrison lieutenants, are to handle the Cook county campaigns for Samuel Alschuler and Ben F. Caldwell respectively.

Mr. Dunne will speak tonight at the Twenty-fifth Ward Democratic club, which will probably indorse his candidacy. This indorsement was agreed upon by the Harrison and Dunne men, and prospects for a contest in the ward, which appeared probable some time ago, are slight.

Petition Rush Begins Friday.

At one minute past midnight Friday morning the double doors leading into the election commissioners' office on the third floor of the city hall will be opened simultaneously. Through them will tumble men clutching nomination petitions of candidates who want to become county officials. They will rush towards the thirty-five windows, behind which will sit thirty-five clerks. The fight for first places on the primary ballots will be on.

The election commissioners decided yesterday to open their office as soon as the clock marks the beginning of Friday, the first day on which nomination petitions for the April primaries may be filed. The office will be open until midnight on March 9, the last day.

Wilson Plans Flying Visit.

Woodrow Wilson's visit to Chicago next Monday to address the Iroquois club will be of a flying nature. He will arrive from the east in the morning and will be met at the union station by President Reichmann of the club and a reception committee. A public reception will be held at the Hotel La Salle between 11 and 12 o'clock, and at noon the luncheon will begin. Mr. Wilson expects to begin his speech by 1 o'clock, and will talk until the last possible moment, leaving to catch the 2:45 train to Trenton, N. J.

M'CALL ATTACKS THIRD TERM PLAN

"Insurgents" Make Merry with Bay State Representative in the House.

CITES DANGER IN SIGHT.

Recalls Precedents Where Man Continued in Office Paved Way for Autocracy.

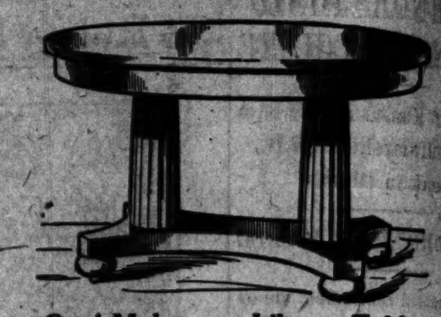

Washington, D. C., Feb. 6.—Applauded by a majority of the regular Republicans and sharply questioned by insurgents, Representative Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts, long a prominent Republican in the house, today delivered an address denouncing the third term movement.

Mr. McCall declared American presidents had set a precedent of retiring after a service of eight years, and quoted the declaration made by President Roosevelt before the end of his last term that he would not be a candidate for reelection.

Representative Norris of Nebraska, insurgent leader, questioned Mr. McCall repeatedly with the evident purpose of indicating that the sentiment against a third term probably was against a "third consecutive term," rather than against a third term served after a lapse of four years out of the White House.

"With the authority a man has who has served eight years in the presidency," replied Mr. McCall, "these men could undoubtedly have stimulated their friends to such an extent that they could have become candidates even after a lapse of four years."

"The tremendous influence of executive power centralized in the hands of one strong, unscrupulous man may easily be adequate in critical times to remove all limitations upon his tenure and to change the essential character of the government," said Mr. McCall. "It is hardly necessary to cite instances. Under the consulship of Cæsar, the annual election to the leadership of the Roman republic became an idle form and this annual farce was performed each year for centuries under Augustus, Nero, and other emperors."

GOVERNORS TO AID ROOSEVELT HERE

Stubbs of Kansas and Bass of New Hampshire Will Speak in Illinois.

CLUB FORMED IN CHICAGO

Jones-Magill Progressive Forces Announce Allegiance to the Colonel.

The crystallizing of sentiment in Chicago and Illinois for Theodore Roosevelt took steps forward yesterday under encouragement from several sources. The day's progress caused surprise and exultation among leaders of the movement.

Gov. Stubbs of Kansas arranged to take the stump next week in Illinois and urge a state delegation to the Republican national convention pledged to Roosevelt.

Gov. Bass of New Hampshire agreed to speak for Roosevelt in Illinois later this winter.

A Chicago Roosevelt club composed of representative and influential Republicans from every ward in the city was formed.

The Jones-Magill progressives swung into the Roosevelt column and will campaign with "Roosevelt, Jones, and Magill" as a motto.

Stubbs Starts Day's Band Wagon.

The decision of Gov. Stubbs to take the stump for Mr. Roosevelt in this state was unexpected by members of the national Roosevelt committee, of which the Kansas executive is one of the most enthusiastic leaders. This announcement brought out the news that the Jones forces would couple themselves with the Roosevelt movement.

Both Gov. Stubbs and Gov. Bass of New Hampshire, it was announced at progressive headquarters, would make their campaign speeches advocating an instructed delegation from Illinois for Roosevelt and asking the nomination of Jones for governor and Magill for senator.

Ralph Otis President of New Club.

Formation of the Chicago Roosevelt club took place at the Congress hotel in the afternoon. Ralph Otis was elected president, Ald. Carl Murray secretary, and Ald. Theodore K. Long treasurer. An executive committee composed of the following also was named:

T. E. Wilder.	Clyde Day.
W. H. Beckman.	Norton G. Smith.
John R. Thompson.	Frank L. Shepard.

The work of organizing the wards of Chicago for Roosevelt will be in the hands of the executive committee assisted by a body of vice presidents composed of representatives from each district of the city.

Brundage Sees Big Gains.

Edward J. Brundage presided at the meeting before the election of officers. He asserted that the work of organizing the city wards for Roosevelt would bring into line practically 75 per cent of the precinct committeemen. Already more than 800 Republican precinct committeemen have enrolled with the Roosevelt committee. All are expected to join the Roosevelt club.

The Roosevelt club will open headquarters today on "Roosevelt row" at the Congress hotel. Ald. Murray will be in charge.

Progressives Announce Allegiance.

The swinging of the Jones-Magill forces behind the Roosevelt movement was announced by Paul Steinbrecher and Paul Perry, publicity manager for the progressives.

"Since the Springfield convention, which left open the question of a presidential indorsement," said Mr. Steinbrecher, "many meetings have declared for Roosevelt, Jones, and Magill. Most of us are for Mr. Roosevelt, although there are some who favor Senator La Follette, but the Roosevelt men are numerous. Gov. Stubbs and Gov. Bass both have promised to take the stump for the progressives in Chicago and the state, and they will speak for Mr. Roosevelt and also for Jones and Magill."

Roosevelt Men Have No "Side Issue."

"We are glad to have the Jones-Magill people with us," said Edwin W. Sims of the Roosevelt committee, "but we will continue our work in the same manner. We are working for Roosevelt and Roosevelt only.

"We are not making any combinations nor entering into any side issue fights. I think that before long all the candidates will be making their races from the Roosevelt band wagon.

"But the Roosevelt committee wishes it understood that it is campaigning with only one thing in view, the nomination of Col. Roosevelt regardless of all other contests."

TAFT MEN TO HOLD ELECTION.

The election of officers for the Taft campaign committee will take place tomorrow afternoon at a meeting in the Union League club. The nominating committee met yesterday and discussed several names suggested for officers of the organization, but nothing definite was decided upon. Julius Rosenwald was prominently mentioned as president, but it was not learned whether he would be able to devote his time to the work of organizing Taft clubs in Chicago. John F. Holland, who presided at the meeting, announced a list of officers, including fifty vice presidents, representing the wards, would be prepared before the meeting tomorrow by the nominating committee.

ROOSEVELT RETAINS SILENCE.

New York, Feb. 6.—"I have absolutely nothing to say," was Col. Roosevelt's declaration to the reporters this afternoon. "I have no statement for the press of any kind and to ask any questions will be useless."

The colonel received among other callers today Medill McCormick of Chicago, who said that he was working for Roosevelt. Originally he went into the campaign for La Follette, but with the latter out of the running he thinks that Roosevelt will carry three-quarters of Illinois.

Col. Goethals, who is digging the Panama canal, came with his wife in the morning.

Both Roosevelt and Taft Factions Name Delegates.

TWO STATE TICKETS FRAMED

Palatka, Fla., Feb. 6.—The Republican state convention split into two factions today, one body going to another hall, where delegates to the national convention were instructed to vote for the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt for president.

A complete state ticket was nominated by each faction.

GEN. JAMES B. WEAVER DEAD

Leader of "Greenback" and Populist Parties Succumbs at 80.

HAD A NOTABLE CAREER.

Iowan Twice Ran for President; in Congress Three Terms.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 6.—Gen. James B. Weaver, Populist candidate for president in 1892, died today. He was nearly 80 years old. He had been ill only a few days.

Gen. Weaver died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry C. Evans, at 1:15 p. m., following what was considered a permanent rally from the illness which attacked him several days ago. So sudden was the death that the friends of the aged veteran were shocked. Funeral arrangements probably will be announced tomorrow.

Gen. Weaver, twice a candidate for president of the United States, was a native of Dayton, O., where he was born June 12, 1833. He came to Iowa with his parents in 1843, but later went to Cincinnati, where he graduated from the law school of the Ohio university in 1854.

Although he held federal positions, he did not come into national prominence until after his defeat as a Republican candidate for governor of Iowa in 1875, his successful opponent being Gov. Samuel Kirkwood.

Soon after he left the councils of the Republican party and became one of the leaders of the National party, better known as the "Greenback" party, which in 1880 nominated him for president. In 1878, 1894, and 1886 he was in congress.

In 1892 Gen. Weaver was again nominated for president, this time by the People's (Populist) party.

WOMEN IN PROTECTIVE CLUB

SAFEGUARDS ARE PLANNED.

Five Hundred Attend First Open Meeting of Organization.

Women workers in the loop district of Chicago have formed a cooperative club for the protection of young girls seeking employment in office capacities and for their own social benefit.

The organization is composed of stenographers, typists, bookkeepers, secretaries, and general office help. It will be known as the Business Girls' Cooperative club, conducted under Catholic auspices.

More than 500 attended the first public meeting of the association, which was held last night in Paulist hall, 304 South Wabash avenue. Speeches were made by the Rev. Father M. F. McNulty, Will J. Brown, president of the Chicago chapter of the Knights of Columbus; Dr. Anna Dwyer, and M. F. Girten, a former judge of the Municipal court.

In explaining the movement Father McNulty said it was not a charitable organization, a trade union, or an employment bureau for the purpose of revenue. He declared the sole purpose is to raise the standard of efficiency of office employes by encouraging educational equipment and proper technical training and to safeguard young and inexperienced girls entering the business world.

Ambitious Men who realize their latent ability and seek success in life, are invited to a careful consideration of the famous food,

Grape-Nuts

Brain Nourishment is essential to Brain Activity.

A sluggish brain is a handicap—a hindrance in the path of promotion.

Grape-Nuts food, made of whole wheat and barley, contains the tissue-building "albumins" and the energy-making starches (changed into dextrin and grape sugar in making Grape-Nuts). It also contains the phosphate of potash (grown in the grains)—the cell-forming, mineral element Nature uses in building brain and nerve cells.

Grape-Nuts, regularly for breakfast will help anyone.

NO TROUBLE

Promotions Are Easy When Your Brains Work.

A young man who earned a fine position tells how food helped him:

"I was engaged as a bookkeeper for a large publishing house in New York City where the work was trying and hours so long I gradually broke down under the strain.

"My brain seemed thick and I lost the good health that I once claimed. I was compelled to resign my position, feeling that a good rest was needed.

"After three weeks' recreation I accepted a position as assistant cashier with one of the largest manufacturing concerns in the United States, feeling that the work would not be so hard mentally, and that the change would be for the best.

"It took just two days to convince me I had undertaken a task beyond the power of my overworked and underfed brain, and I decided to again resign, disgusted with myself and the world in general. That day I met a friend whose counsel I asked before taking the step. After I had related my troubles to him he said, 'Eat Grape-Nuts, my boy.'

"I looked on his remark as a joke at the time, but by the time I reached home I had thought it over and determined to give Grape-Nuts food a trial, and the next day it was on my table. The food seemed to give me new life from the start and gradually a great power for work became evident. It increased from day to day, my brain beame active and my capacity for mental work unlimited. My duties at the office, that at first seemed beyond my capability, are now accomplished with precision, accuracy and pleasure.

"Last month I was promoted to the position of cashier amid the congratulations of my friends. I attribute my success to those wonderful little grains of food—Grape-Nuts, and to all I repeat a motto that is worthy of thought, 'Eat Grape-Nuts, my boy.'" ECZEMA MADE BABY'S FACE RAW AND RED

Used Different Remedies With No Benefit. Doctor's Wife Advised Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Baby Perfectly Cured.

Birchwood, Wis.—"My baby's face got kind of pimply blotches on the cheek and it spread over on each cheek. It itched so that she couldn't sleep except a little while at a time. It made her face raw and red. My baby had this eczema for about two months and I used different remedies with no benefit until our home doctor's wife advised me to use Cuticura Soap and Ointment which I did and she is perfectly cured now through their use. I also had an itch on my hand and I cured it with Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Mrs. W. J. Thomas, Nov. 9, 1911.

DANDRUFF AND FALLING HAIR

For 20 Years. Itching Intense and Constant.

46 W. 22nd St., New York City.—"For twenty years I have been troubled with dandruff and falling hair, itching and burning scalp, and in that time I have used dozens of widely advertised hair tonics, dandruff cures, and scalp treatments. The dandruff was so bad that my coat collar and shoulders were continually covered with the great white scales, and my hair was becoming very thin. The itching and smarting was so intense and so constant that at times I could not sleep.

"I purchased a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I used the Cuticura Ointment once a week before retiring and following it the next morning with a light shampoo with Cuticura Soap. Now my scalp is as healthy, clear and free from dandruff as any one's and my hair is perceptibly thicker. It never comes out now when I brush and comb it." (Signed) F. F. Stone, Nov. 24, '11.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address, "Cuticura," Dept. T, Boston. Tender-faced men should shave with Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

SHERIDAN TO GIVE DICTAGRAPH TEST

Lorimer Committee Will Be Shown Method Used at Toronto.

AIDS HELP BLUMENBERG.

Assistants of Stenographer Express Doubt of Genuineness of Notes.

Sheridan's transcript contains 600 words, which an expert stenographer, Cochrane said, could take in four minutes. Senator Kenyon pointed out that the conversation between McGowan, Bailey, and Kerr lasted an hour and a half. It was observed by Pachin, "to be certain, all the facts and circumstances ought to be known."

Says He Had Spoken to Hines.

When the committee met in the morning the examination of Blumenberg, the discharged official stenographer, was continued. Contradicting his statement yesterday, Blumenberg said he had spoken to Hines about the Sheridan stenographic notes.

MR. BLUMENBERG—I should like to make a statement, on reflection. You seem to be so insistent on finding out what I told Mr. Hines that I have thought about it. I remember now what I told Mr. Hines. I told him if I was wrong in my judgment as to the character of these notes I would make him a present of my bill against him. I should like also to say this about handing Judge Hanecy a paper in the restaurant yesterday afternoon. I did that publicly and you were sitting there. There was no secrecy about the thing at all.

MR. HEALY—You say I was there?

MR. BLUMENBERG—I think you were, or Mr. Marble; either one of you. You were sitting in the room.

MR. HEALY—No; Senator Kern was there, and Senator Burton.

Badly Tangled Again.

The witness became badly tangled again in explaining his ground for calling Sheridan's notes faked. He was forced to admit that snatches of the conversation could have been taken not only in shorthand, but longhand. Then he contradicted that statement.

MR. HEALY—Do you not think I could take down, or any one who possesses the ability to write, could take down, in longhand, a statement of this sort made by witnesses?

"Charlie, how much did you get?"

"I got $1,500."

MR. BLUMENBERG—No, sir.

MR. HEALY—You think that could not be done?

MR. BLUMENBERG—I think it could not be done if you were going to follow anything else along with it.

MR. HEALY—Certainly; the man using longhand could not write down the whole conversation. But he could pick out short utterances of that sort, could he not, and report them?

MR. BLUMENBERG—Yes, sir; if you want that sort of a report, picking out things, that could be done.

Sheridan has testified that he took down only the conversation relating to McGowan's admissions of perjury and his receiving $1,500 from Wiehe.

Blumenberg said he called the notes fakes because they corresponded with the transcript with "absolute exactness." Then he admitted they did not correspond. Then he said the notes were fakes because there were no corrections in them.

Did Not See Any Corrections.

SENATOR JONES—Did you notice the absence of those corrections?

MR. BLUMENBERG—Yes, sir.

SENATOR LEA—And no words stricken out or signs indicating words stricken out?

MR. BLUMENBERG—O, I would not so say, senator.

After persistent questioning by Senator Lea Blumenberg said he did not see any corrections.

MR. HEALY—Were you sick on Saturday night, Mr. Blumenberg?

MR. BLUMENBERG—No, sir.

MR. HEALY—Were you not in a highly nervous and more or less hysterical condition?

MR. BLUMENBERG—No, sir.

SENATOR KERN—Were you intoxicated in any degree?

MR. BLUMENBERG—No, sir.

MR. HEALY—Had you had anything to drink that afternoon or evening?

MR. BLUMENBERG—I probably had as much to drink as I usually drink.

MR. HEALY—About how much did you drink Saturday evening before you stood before the committee and characterized these notes as you did?

Had Four, or Five, or Six Drinks.

MR. BLUMENBERG—I may have had four or five or six drinks during the course of the day.

MR. HEALY—What do you drink?

MR. BLUMENBERG—Whisky.

Blumenberg said he had been working from fourteen to eighteen hours a day, but thought his nervous condition had not been affected thereby. He had no consciousness of having conducted himself improperly Saturday night.

MR. HEALY—Do you not realize, Mr. Blumenberg, as you sit there that when you appeared before the committee on Saturday evening, on the several occasions when you did so appear, you were in a highly excited, nervous, and almost hysterical condition?

Doesn't Insist on Answer.

MR. BLUMENBERG—I do not.

MR. HEALY—You do not realize that that was your condition?

MR. BLUMENBERG—I do not.

SENATOR JONES—Do you think, after having had time for thought and reflection, that your actions Saturday evening were proper and justifiable?

MR. BLUMENBERG—That is a subject, senator, upon which I declined to make any statement before the committee in executive session.

SENATOR JONES—I will not insist on an answer if you do not desire to make it.

MR. BLUMENBERG—No; we will leave it right there.

He expressed regret if he had spoken disrespectfully of the committee.

Hanecy Cross Examines Him.

On cross examination Attorney Hanecy led Blumenberg to say that the "deadly regularity" of Sheridan's shorthand characters aroused his suspicions of their genuineness.

MR. HANECY—You knew there was an attempt being made here by those who were opposed to Senator Lorimer to unseat him or take from him his seat in the senate and discredit the legislature of Illinois and the state of Illinois at the same time, did you not?

MR. BLUMENBERG—All I did—

MR. HANECY—You knew that generally?

MR. BLUMENBERG—Well, I would not want to say that. All I knew was that the committee was created to investigate the facts.

MR. HANECY—Well, that the purpose was to investigate and determine whether or not Senator Lorimer was entitled to retain his seat in the senate, you knew that?

MR. BLUMENBERG—Yes, sir.

MR. HANECY—And you knew that if he was unseated by the result of the testimony given in this committee it would discredit him, his family, the legislature of Illinois, and the state of Illinois, did you not?

MR. BLUMENBERG—Yes, sir.

MR. HANECY—And you knew when you looked over these notes taken by young Sheridan that if the notes were faked or fabricated, as you testify here now they were, young Sheridan was committing perjury, did you not?

MR. BLUMENBERG—Yes, sir.

Felt No Responsibility.

MR. HANECY—You knew that that perjury might result in the indictment and trial of young McGowan and possibly the unseating of Senator Lorimer, and the results to the legislature and the state of Illinois that I have indicated, did you not?

MR. BLUMENBERG—Should not that "McGowan" be "Sheridan"?

MR. HANECY—You knew that he might be indicted and tried if young Sheridan's testimony were accepted as true?

MR. BLUMENBERG—O, yes, sir.

MR. HANECY—Did you think it was any part of your duty as a stenographer for this honorable committee or for the senate of the United States, or your duty as a citizen to remain silent while you, because of your peculiar knowledge, knew that an infamous crime was being committed?

MR. BLUMENBERG—I felt no responsibility at all in the matter.

MR. HANECY—You did not feel that it was your duty to remain silent and let that infamous crime be consummated?

MR. BLUMENBERG—No, sir.

Blumenberg added he did not feel it his duty to make it known, either.

No Crime to Sit with Hines.

MR. HANECY—Did you think Mr. Blumenberg, that it was a crime or an offense, or that it would discredit you or anybody else, to go and sit alongside of Edward Hines?

MR. BLUMENBERG—No, sir.

MR. HANECY—Was there anything that you ever knew of at any time that would cause you to believe, because you did take a seat next to Edward Hines publicly and at a public hearing, that it was an offense for which you should be censured or criticised by anybody?

MR. BLUMENBERG—I did not think I would be by any reasonable person.

Blumenberg said he was familar with the Pitman shorthand system, but no others.

H. N. Pechin, one of Blumenberg's assistants, said Sheridan's notes apparently had been made slowly and carefully. He said there were no changes nor false starts. He thought the notes could not have been taken as Sheridan testified.

SENATOR JONES—It is your opinion that those notes were not made as testified by Mr. Sheridan and under the conditions testified to?

Could Make Notes Uniform.

MR. PECHIN—That is my opinion, and yet I should like to add some more to that. In saying that that is my opinion I should like to add that it would be possible for him, perhaps, to be writing in another room with something over his head—I mean, something on his ear, his left ear I believe it was—and by writing slowly enough and carefully enough I suppose he could make the notes uniform at the bottom.

SENATOR GAMBLE—Without the use of his left hand applied to the book?

MR. PECHIN—I should think he might.

SENATOR JONES—My question does not apply to a particular phase of this matter now. It applies to all the circumstances and conditions under which he has testified that he wrote those notes. What I ask is, is it your opinion that those notes could have been written under those conditions, which were pretty well set out by Judge Hanecy in his question?

MR. PECHIN—It is my opinion that they could not have been written under those conditions.

Pechin said he knew the Pitman system, but was only superficially acquainted with others. He admitted a stenographer varies any system.

MR. HEALY—When did you examine these notes, Mr. Pechin?

Examined Them Again.

MR. PECHIN—I examined them for a very few minutes yesterday and rather at length this morning while I was waiting to be called.

MR. HEALY—And at the time you examined these notes you had no knowledge or information concerning the circumstances under which they were made?

MR. PECHIN—I did have, yes, sir.

MR. HEALY—Where did you obtain that information?

MR. PECHIN—Well, I really do not remember. I asked whoever happened to be in the other room, who knew about the case, and I really do not remember who it was. I had to read the testimony, and I wanted to know the facts, of course, before testifying.

MR. HEALY—Did that person from whom you sought that information, so far as you know, have any knowledge or information about the circumstances under which these notes were made?

MR. PECHIN—I do not know whether he did or not; except that I got the information, and I supposed whoever gave me the information knew about it.

Hedge on Dictagraph Test.

Senator Gamble renewed the suggestion of counsel yesterday that the whole dictagraph incident be acted before the committee as it took place in Toronto, in order to test Sheridan's ability to record three cornered conversation. But although Attorney Hynes yesterday suggested testing Sheridan in this way, it was noticeable that the Lorimer forces were hedging on the proposition today.

MR. HANECY—The most expert stenographer in the world might have made these notes. The question is not, alone, was this young man capable of doing that work as he claims it was done? But the question is, Are these notes that are offered in evidence here and read into this record genuine notes made at the time? It might be that he would be entirely capable of standing a test of that kind, and still these be fabricated notes, or fake notes, or notes made for an occasion. It might be that this young man was not there at all, and that he manufactured them afterward. That is all possible, and the test that is suggested here by Senator Gamble would not determine the question of whether or not these notes were fabricated afterward.

Gamble Urges Test.

SENATOR GAMBLE—But it is a test, to a certain extent, at least one element of it. I did not happen to be here at the time he was on the stand; but it would demonstrate, if he was incapable of taking notes at the rapidity with which an ordinary conversation would be carried on; it seems to me that would be a step in itself. I do not know that it would cover all the issues.

SENATOR JONES—The testimony of the witnesses so far is that these notes have been taken very slowly.

MR. HANECY—Yes.

SENATOR JONES—As is shown by the appearance of them.

SENATOR GAMBLE—If the test such as has been proposed were had, it would certainly demonstrate whether they had been taken with rapidity. The difference could be told at once by looking at them?

MR. HANECY—Yes.

SENATOR GAMBLE—And that would furnish the strongest proof one way or the other as to the correctness of this expert testimony with reference to these particular notes, it seems to me.

MR. HANECY—I do not wish to be understood, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen, as opposing this suggestion at all; but I would not like to have the record rest on that alone, because, as I said, the young man might be entirely capable of doing it. I do not think he would be, but he might be entirely capable of doing that work in that way, and it still might be that he did not do it. I should like to put in this testimony, or so much of it as I might be permitted to put in, in this way.

Suggests Grand Jury.

SENATOR KENYON—I think the whole matter can be abbreviated, and ought to be abbreviated, by referring it all to the grand jury.

MR. HANECY—I thought so, Senator Kenyon, some time ago.

SENATOR KENYON—And not compel us to try and determine this question. Somebody has committed perjury here, one way or the other, and it should be for the grand jury. If those notes are faked, it certainly is for the grand jury. If they are not, then it is for the grand jury to act.

MR. HEALY—Of course we would defer to any action which the committee suggests.

Attorney Healy called the attention of the committee to the fact that he was the first to suggest the test yesterday and that Sheridan instantly said he was ready for one. He also objected to the calling of Blumenberg's assistants as experts and suggested handwriting experts.

Senator Kern said he would insist on having called expert witnesses not associated with Blumenberg.

Lea Moves Test Be Made.

SENATOR LEA—I move, Mr. Chairman, that after the testimony of this witness is completed a test such as has been suggested by Senator Gamble be submitted to the committee.

SENATOR FLETCHER—I can see great force in the statement made by Judge Hanecy to the effect that the present question is not only whether this young man was capable of taking down those notes, but whether he did at that time actually do it in the way he stated. I can see further difficulties about that sort of a test. In the first place, you have not precisely the same sized rooms and you have not the precise temperature, the same amount of humidity in the air, the same amount of furniture in the room, the same thickness of walls—all those questions were raised in reference to any test you might make here. I should be better satisfied to seat the young man down at the reporters' table here, and let him see if he can take this sort of examination that is going on here right now. That way impressed me as being of greater weight than this proposition that has been made here, because it seems to me that would not be entirely satisfactory.

Senator Lea's Motion Adopted.

SENATOR LEA—In support of this motion, Mr. Chairman, I wish to say that certain witnesses who are called as experts give their theory, that they believe it impossible for this thing to be done, and they give certain reasons in support of that theory. In answer to that, the witness Sheridan says he can do it. If he does succeed in doing what they theorise that he cannot do, to my mind, it would have weight.

Senator Lea's motion was adopted.

MR. HEALY—Is it your statement, Mr. Pechin, that you can look at each of these stenographic characters and determine, without a further analysis than you have made, that they were slowly or rapidly written?

MR. PECHIN—I think I can state that those six pages were written slowly, yes.

MR. HEALY—How much of a range is in your mind with reference to the number of words per minute that these notes might indicate, giving the maximum and the minimum as it is in your mind?

Estimate on Speed of Writing.

MR. PECHIN—Those notes could not be written, in my opinion, over sixty or seventy words a minute. It might be that I am mistaken in that. Perhaps he has unusual dexterity, and can write that style of shorthand as fast as 100 words a minute, or even perhaps 120 words a minute, but I am pretty sure that nobody could write that exact style or near that style of shorthand at over 120 words a minute. To finish my answer to your question, he might have written it much more slowly than 60 or 50 words a minute. There were parts of that transcript on which I based my opinion that were talked at 175 or 200 words a minute or over, I am sure. That is what I base my opinion on.

MR. HEALY—How do you reach that conclusion, not having heard the conversation and not knowing with what rapidity it was uttered?

MR. PECHIN—I was going to admit, if you will let me, right there—

MR. HEALY—I will let you admit anything you please.

MR. PECHIN—I do not know that that conversation was carried that fast, and if that long sentence to which I have reference was uttered at a rate of only 120 words a minute it is quite possible that that stenographer might have reported it correctly. But, in basing my opinion, I base it on the theory that the conversation was an ordinary conversation, and carried on at a rate of 175 to 200 words a minute in that particular part of it.

Finds Conversation Difficult.

SENATOR KERN—Mr. Witness, right there, what rate of words per minute were you uttering there in that last answer?

MR. PECHIN—For about half a minute, I should say, I was talking about 180 words a minute.

SENATOR KERN—Does a witness speak even more rapidly on the witness stand than he would speak in ordinary conversation?

MR. PECHIN—Yes, sir, sometimes; but not as a rule.

SENATOR KERN—Does a competent reporter have any difficulty in taking down testimony given at the rate you uttered the words a while ago?

MR. PECHIN—No, sir; I don't think the way I was talking would be considered difficult.

SENATOR KERN—You were speaking at the rate of 180 words a minute, you say?

MR. PECHIN—Yes, sir; for a little while.

SENATOR KERN—And more rapidly than you speak in ordinary conversation, were you not?

MR. PECHIN—No, senator. As a rule, conversation is more difficult to report than testimony, for the reason that people interrupt each other. I have tried to report conversation and I find it is hard sometimes.

SENATOR KERN—But you were speaking about an extended remark that occupied some eighty or ninety words, was it not?

MR. PECHIN—Yes, sir; I think that was the number.

SENATOR KERN—That would be less difficult to report, would it not, than a short, broken conversation?

Says He Had to Write Fast.

MR. PECHIN—Yes, sir; but what I meant was this: It might well be that this stenographer had made his transcript of the record in regard to the other parts of that conversation and not gotten all of it, and still have made a sensible report; but in this one place it was evident to my mind that in order to get what was there he had to write fast, and his notes to my mind do not indicate that he did write fast.

SENATOR KERN—They do not indicate rapidity?

MR. PECHIN—No, sir.

SENATOR JONES—Do you remember who it was that uttered this long sentence?

MR. PECHIN—It was this third party.

SENATOR JONES—It was the stranger?

MR. PECHIN—I mean this person who did not know that he was being recorded; as I understood it, the others knew they were being recorded. So I did not give much attention to what they said there, because it seemed quite possible that he could have reported what they said.

MR. HEALY—If the fact should be before you that the speaker in this particular paragraph spoke, say at the rate of eighty or ninety or a hundred words a minute, that would change your view and your opinion?

MR. PECHIN—I think it would; yes.

MR. HEALY—And you would then testify, as I understand you, that even an inspection of these notes would indicate that the writer had kept up with the conversation?

MR. PECHIN—I will answer yes to that.

MR. HEALY—And without knowing that fact, you cannot testify definitely and positively that these notes are not honest?

Calls Sheridan Amateurish.

MR. PECHIN—There are a number of things that go to make up my opinion, and that is one of the important things you have just referred to.

MR. HEALY—Your examination of these stenographic notes indicates also, does it not, that they are very imperfectly taken? It is a poor stenographic job?

MR. PECHIN—He seems to write quite accurate shorthand, but very amateurish.

MR. HEALY—An opinion such as you express or such as any other stenographer expresses is not of very much avail unless he knows the actual, physical facts, and the particular circumstances under which the conversation occurred?

MR. PECHIN—To be certain, one ought to know all the facts.

SENATOR JONES—As I understand, you are pretty well satisfied that these notes could not have been taken as an ordinary conversation?

MR. PECHIN—I am very sure of that.

Under questioning by Senator Lea, Pechin then admitted he would not be able to tell always whether notes had been taken slowly or rapidly.

Allister Cochrane, another Blumenberg assistant, said Mr. Healy offered to give him Sheridan's notes Saturday and that later he got them from Sheridan at the beginning of the evening session. He laid them on the table and that was the last he saw of them.

Cochrane Explains His Doubt.

MR. HANECY—What became of them then, Mr. Cochrane?

MR. COCHRANE—Within a reasonably short time after the proceedings commenced Mr. Blumenberg came in and lifted the notes from the table.

MR. HANECY—And do you know whether he asked any other stenographers to examine the notes?

MR. COCHRANE—I don't know. He did not ask me.

MR. HANECY—Did you ever know a reporter who was so skilled and expert that he could have taken these notes as they appear there now on that book under the conditions that have been indicated by my questions?

MR. COCHRANE—No, I never did. Here is one on the third page of this book. There is one answer credited to "3."

MR. HANECY—I think "3" is the unknown person, or the person unknown to him.

MR. COCHRANE—The unknown person, as I understand, Mr. McGowan. In the examination this morning of these notes this is the one thing that struck me more particularly than anything else: I counted the number of words that the answer contains. It contains, I think, my recollection is, eighty-nine words. It is such an answer as runs along consecutively, and each word fits into the other. It is the character of answer that would be spoken in a colloquial way and probably at a speed of maybe 175 words a minute or more, and I do not believe that Mr. Sheridan or any other person writing shorthand can at a similar speed, at the ordinary speed at which that answer would naturally be made, write it and produce notes of that kind in that time.

Not So Sure on Cross Examination.

Cochrane opined the characters were made slowly and deliberately. He said the uniform distance between the characters is suspicious. He could find no false starts or alterations. He was not so sure of this on cross examination.

MR. HEALY—Your opinion as to the Sheridan notes is based upon the conditions recited in Mr. Hanecy's hypothetical question, rather than upon the conditions which actually prevailed at the time the conversation was reported?

MR. COCHRANE—Of course I knew nothing about the conditions that actually prevailed at the time the conversation was reported.

Mr. Cochrane added he had the conditions in mind as recited, the appearance of the notes, and also other things which had been told him. Asked what the "other things" were, he replied:

"In the ordinary conversation in the room here this morning when we were examining the notes, about the conditions that were existing, about Mr. Sheridan taking only a certain portion of the conversation and not attempting to report the whole conversation, and taking only those sections that he thought were material, and then the peculiarity of finding that there were, as Judge Hanecy calls them, no 'false starts,' and that he always, apparently knew exactly what was material, and where to expect it. I do not see how he could tell what was material, until he heard it."

Chicago Lawyer Lorimer Witness.

Louis S. Gibson, a lawyer of Chicago, and interested in the manufacturing of plumbing supplies and commercial zinc, was called by Mr. Hanecy. He said he knew Harry E. Kerr, who with Bailey heard McGowan admit he received $1,500 from C. F. Wiehe for committing perjury. Gibson said he met Kerr in 1909, when he was employed as superintendent of the Thomas Brass and Iron company of Waukegan, Ill.

Kerr, the witness said, sometimes handled the money in paying off employes. Mr. Healy objected to a question by Mr. Hanecy as to what took place between the witness and Kerr on a pay day, about paying the men. Mr. Hanecy explained to the committee that he would show by the witness that Kerr tried to delay the pay day.

Members of the committee objected to an inquiry into specific acts of the lives of witnesses and insisted that it was concerned only with their general reputation.

Empress Dowager Makes Various Demands in Interest of Imperial Family.

PEACE TERMS DRAWN

Bargaining Likely to Continue Several Weeks Before the Court Retires.

PEKING, Feb. 6.—A complete arrangement has been arranged, but bargaining between Premier Yuan Shi Kai and the republican leaders is likely to continue for several weeks before the court finally retires.

Chinese papers publish the terms drawn up by the empress dowager, who demands the perpetuation of the titles of the entire court, retention by the imperial family of the palaces in Peking, continuance of the imperial guard at the expense of the republic, and the right of the court to receive homage from the nation. It is believed that the republicans will not accept some of these terms.

Troops Withdrawn from Hankow.

Gen. Tuan Chi Jui, acting viceroy of Hupeh and Hu-Peh provinces, and commander of the second imperial army, has withdrawn his forces from Hankow to Paoting-Fu.

Gen. Chang Haun, in command of the imperial army which was recently at Nanking, has been instructed to receive a republican emissary and arrange for peace.

Disorder in Manchuria is causing much concern, and a Japanese battalion has been sent into Mukden. The Japanese legation declares that except for this change the troops have been moved.

Assembly Approves Peace Terms.

There was fighting yesterday between the advance guard of the republicans and the advance guard of Gen. Chang Hsun, who formerly was the imperial commander at Nanking. TWO RUSS PAPERS SEIZED.

Editions Confiscated Because They Denounce the Mystic, Gregory Rasputin.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 6.—The evening edition of the Novoe Vremya, a St. Petersburg newspaper, and the Octoberist organ Golosmesky, a Moscow publication, were confiscated tonight for describing Gregory Rasputin, a reputed mystic who is wielding enormous influence at the court, as "a corrupter of bodies and souls."

The recent exile of Bishop Hermogenes of the Saratov diocese and the reactionary priest Hellodorus, abbot of Tsaritsyn, is said to have been due to antagonism on the part of Rasputin.

Boris Souvorin, the editor of Novoe Vremya, it is announced, will be prosecuted on the charge of libel, which is punishable by a maximum of eight months' imprisonment.

WOMAN CHIEF AID OF LOAN SHARKS

D. H. Tolman Makes Inconspicuous His Direction of Sordid Trade Here.

NOTES FOCUS OF CUNNING.

Has $110,000 Outstanding Here.

In this way he is turning his money with incalculable rapidity. Tolman is said to have started in business in Chicago about fifteen years or so ago with $10,000 and to have now on the books in this city alone $110,000. Of course, a good slice of this latter is in dead accounts.

The "king of loan sharks" shows his cautiousness in this respect also. He never gives up a defaulting debtor's account. Immature rascals thinking of borrowing money from him with the idea of skipping out to Kokomo or some other part beyond extradition should remember this. Tolman has offices almost everywhere. He employs a girl to do nothing else but travel among the cities looking for "skips." This girl is paid about $12 a week and expenses.

The office managers are likely to get about $15 a week for their unpleasant work. There are also local tracers and investigators in each city. As soon as a $17 embezzler disappears all hands join in among his friends, neighbors, tradespeople, etc., and find where he has gone. Then his papers are transferred and his wages are attached if he does not come to time.

Relentless After Back Interest.

Tolman is said to be more particular than any other usurer to force the payment of back interest. He puts in a claim that will run 10 per cent a month for the entire two or three years the debtor has succeeded in eluding pursuit. As these accounts do not outlaw for ten years Tolman often turns a neat profit out of some one or another of his dead accounts.

Tolman does not trust his girl office managers with more than $500, but he extracts from them a bond of $5,000 with a promise not to go into the loan business for themselves for a term of five years after leaving the Tolman employ.

To keep the web in order—it is like a spider's web, this widespread net of loan traps—Tolman has as his personal representatives traveling auditors, also young woman, who draw as much as $25 a week. Some have been in the business with him for seven or eight years.

Specializes in Small Loans.

Tolman's caution inclines him to lend money in odd amounts rather than in $10 and $20. The inquirer after an accommodation of $20 is likely to be met by the remark:

"We don't lend $20. We will lend you $18 or $22.50."

There may be some other point in this, but the one that first strikes the investigator into loan shark methods is that it would make harder the hasty computation of interest. The average borrower of the loan shark is not an artist in mental arithmetic.

How Tolman Does Business.

Lest any readers being here supplied with the address of the city's most successful money lender, and, learning that it is easy to get money from him, should hurry up with the idea of negotiating a loan from such a reliable concern, it may be well to reproduce at this point a form of note that has been used by his companies with great success in many states.

Without reading its provisions many hundreds have signed this note or one not greatly dissimilar in form, either in Tolman's place of business or in that of one of his competitors. If, pen in hand, they glanced casually at the form their eyes probably rested, with a sense of satisfaction on the black face letters, "½ per cent per annum," which bustle into view in the foreground of the composition.

But it would be well for prospective borrowers to clip out and frame this form. It is the work of competent lawyers, it has been tested in courts of many states. The would-be borrower may notice that he is, in reality, doing business with "Room 200, 123 La Salle street" (old number for 17 North La Salle street), the name of Tolman not appearing. The note is indorsed by its borrower, so that it is easily negotiable.

Legal Cunning Shown in Notes.

Look at this form. Study it well. Every legal contingency has been provided for to the best of human ability. Any man who, after reading this note, would sign it or indorse it for a friend, is a fool. Here it is:

Chicago, Ill. ..... 191..

..... after date, for value received, I promise to pay to the order of Myself..... Dollars, until the amount of..... Dollars, has been paid in full, at Room 200, 123 La Salle street, with interest at 7 per cent per annum after maturity.

Default in the payment of any one or more of above installments, to render entire amount of this note, at option of legal holder, and without notice, at once due and payable.

And I, or we, hereby appoint any attorney of any court of record in any State or Territory in the United States, to appear for me, or us, in any such court in term time or vacation, at any time hereafter, either before or after the maturity of this note, and waive issue and service of process and confess judgment against me, or us, for the amount of the above note and costs, including a sum equal to 25 per cent of the principal of this note as an attorney's fee, and to file a cog-novit for that amount, and an agreement releasing all errors and waiving all appeals in said cause, and consent that execution may thereon issue immediately. It is agreed that no bill in equity shall be filed to interfere with the operation of said judgment or any execution issued thereon. It is agreed that no extension of the payment of the principal or interest of this note shall release us, or either of us, from the obligation of payment.

No Receipts for Interest.

Tolman, like most of the other lenders on salary, does not make a practice of giving receipts for interest payments. When the borrower cannot meet the full installment due he usually tries to pay $1 or $2 on account. These payments do not entitle him to a receipt. The loan shark is in a difficulty here for receipts would tend to give legal evidence of usury.

Tolman differs from some other lenders, too, it appears, in his manner of making out the notes. He makes one note for the sum paid out and a second which includes the interest, discounts, fees, and profits. The two notes read alike. Payments are indorsed on the back and when the notes are paid the debtor's signature is torn from each and given him. The mutilated note is usually retained. Tolman will not lend such small amounts as $5 and the shortest time for which he will bother to look up a candidate is twelve weeks.

FATAL BOMB SENT BY MAIL.

Infernal Machine That Killed Woman Not Brought by Messenger, as Supposed.

New York, Feb. 6.—The mystery surrounding the murder of Helen Taylor, killed by the explosion of a bomb in her apartments on Saturday, grew deeper tonight with the disclosure that the package containing the infernal machine was apparently sent by mail instead of having been delivered by messenger, as had been supposed.

The police have found a letter carirer who said that on Wednesday he delivered to a woman he believed to have been Mrs. Taylor a package about five inches long, three inches wide, and two inches high. This description tallies well, so far as size is concerned, with the bomb package.

Portions of postage stamps picked up in the room where the explosion occurred, it is now thought, were attached to the paper covering in which the box arrived.

Nowadays everyone is only too glad to get a Valentine, especially if it takes the form of a popular novel or a beautiful gift book tied with ribbon and attractively illustrated. Then there are the large picture Valentines by Hutt, Fisher, Gibson and others.

The very latest and smartest idea is the giving of Imported Flowers—orchids, roses, violets, etc., from Europe, tied with green ribbon on cards hand lettered with appropriate sentiments. The flowers may be removed from the card and worn as a corsage or on a muff. These are our own importations.

These of course are in addition to the quantities of inexpensive Valentines of every possible description, and the thousands of one-cent cards in endless variety. All the Valentines are on the second floor, and we suggest that you make your choice as early as possible before the most attractive ones are sold.

RIDGWAYS

It's Better to Remain in Doubt than Risk a Chunk to Be Enlightened.

HERE AND THERE.

"Kid" Burns Obscures McFarland's Vision, but Loses Bout on Points.

CHICAGOAN COMES BACK.

Retaliates by Staggering New Yorker with Series of Blows to Head and Body.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Packey McFarland of Chicago outpointed "Kid" Burns of this city in nine rounds of their ten round fight before the Fairmount A. C. tonight. But in obtaining this victory Packey became the recipient of a beautiful black eye, the first he has received in the ring for many months.

The blow which put Packey's left optic in mourning came in the ninth round of the fight—the only one in which Burns was conceded to have held the westerner even. It was a wild right swing, which started way back, and it was surprising that Packey did not avoid it. He had been having such a comparatively easy time, however, that he became careless. Before he had recovered from his surprise Burns landed another blow of the same variety but not of the same force. This second buffeting caused Packey's left eye to swell rapidly and, in fact, partly obscured his vision.

"Kid" Burns Outclassed.

Except for the honor of disarranging the facial beauty of the McFarland person, Burns was outclassed. Packey tried hard to put him out on several occasions, but the local boy managed to hold his feet and avoid even a knockdown through a steady fire of blows.

The Chicagoan never was forced to extend himself and at the end had Burns weak and tired.

Burns appeared afraid of McFarland, and fought cautiously, while Packey coolly measured his man, feinted him into a lead, and then drove in lefts and rights to the face and body.

In the seventh round Burns landed a long, wild swing to McFarland's jaw, staggering the westerner for a moment. Quickly recovering, Packey landed a fusillade of blows to the face.

In the ninth round Burns landed his only effective blows, both wild swings, which landed squarely on McFarland's eye.

Packey Rushes in Tenth.

In the tenth round McFarland tore in with a left to the neck and Burns began to slug for all he was worth. Both landed stiff punches on the head, and as Burns held his own the crowd went wild. McFarland had the greater speed and stamina, however, and put Burns on the ropes. Burns mixed it, but McFarland staggered him with a right swing to the neck. This punch weakened Burns and he lost his steam.

Nearly 3,000 fans saw the battle and many more were turned away.

Packey McFarland will be asked to step six rounds at high speed tomorrow night against "Young" Erne at Philadelphia. There is a disposition to disparage this Erne person, but he is thoroughly familiar with the Philadelphia six round game and has met the best of them at his weight there without taking the count. Moreover, he has shown a brand of skill which astonished some of his opponents who held him too cheaply. Packey met Erne a little over a year ago and was called the popular winner on points.

PAPKE'S FIGHT WITH MANTELL WILL BE OF TRYOUT VARIETY.

Manager Jones Willing to Test Illinois Boxer's Return to Form After Rest at Hot Springs.

BY KNOCKOUT.

Billy Papke, who has announced his intention of again becoming a factor among boxers of his class under the chaperonage of Tom Jones, present mentor of Ad Wolgast and Frankie Conley, has chosen an opponent of modest pretentions for his reentry into the ring. Frank Mantell will be Billy's opponent in a twenty round affair at Sacramento on Feb. 22. Therein is seen, no doubt, the Tom Jones managerial hand, for unless Papke is far from the Papke of old Mantell will only be an exercise gallop for the Illinois boy.

This probably is what the astute Jones wishes until he finds how much the several weeks of rest at Hot Springs has done Papke. The latter has just reached the coast to prepare for his coming engagement. Papke's loss of form following erratic performances in Australia was quite marked in his last engagement, a twelve round affair against Bob Moha at Boston last October. The Milwaukee boy easily secured the decision. Even giving Moha credit for being a tough customer, this bout and Papke's contest against "Sailor" Burke in a ten round no-decision affair at New York two months before convinced Papke as well as his friends that something was amiss.

There was the usual retirement from the ring talk, but Papke finally decided to take a good rest and then return to the game. The Mantell match is the result. Papke still should be in his prime as a boxer, and Papke in his prime would appear a safe person for ambitious boxers to avoid.

Danny Goodman and Jack Roberts were matched yesterday to meet in the semi-windup of the Kelly-"Knockout" Brown contest at Kenosha on Feb. 21. Two previous meetings have resulted in draws. For their eight round tilt the boys will make 133 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Forfeits in behalf of Kelly and Brown were posted yesterday when Promoter Jack Keating came down from Kenosha with the final draft of the articles to which the respective managers of the windup principals attached their monickers. In anticipation of a record breaking crowd the Kenosha club has increased its seating capacity. Kelly is expected to arrive today to begin his local training. Brown is working at O'Connell's.

Word comes from Louisville that Marvin Hart intends to reënter the ring. Hart's chief claim to distinction is the fact he once secured a twenty round decision over Jack Johnson, present champion. He sparred last week with Jim Flynn at Louisville, but his weight made him appear slow and ponderous. This was his trouble when he met Mike Schreck and Carl Morris, and fight followers generally thought he was through. Now he is equipped with a new manager, Jack McKee, who thinks a course of training at West Baden and Hot Springs, with plenty of boxing, might send Marvin back into the game again.

Charley Cutler, the local wrestler, has uncovered a "white hope." On a recent tour he picked up a prospect named Jess Willard who has the following qualifications: Height, six feet six inches; reach, eighty-three inches; weight, 240 pounds. Willard is a former cowboy from Kansas and his reputation thus far extends only to small bouts and rough and tumble affairs, in which he was a formidable opponent. Willard will be subjected to the sprouting process in the hope of uncovering latent ability. Cutler wants him to work with Hugo Kelly while the latter is preparing for Brown.

NEVADA THREATENS BIG FIGHT.

Governor Considers Asking Repeal of Law Licensing Contest—Utah Would Get Financial Benefits.

Reno, Nev., Feb. 6.—Friends of Gov. Oddie said tonight that he is considering asking a repeal of the law licensing prizefights if he calls a special session of the Nevada legislature. The governor has received complaints from Elko county against the proposed Johnson-Flynn fight. The complaints declare the bout will entail large expense for policing and will bring notoriety to the state without any compensation other than the $1,000 license fee. Wendover, mentioned as the scene of the fight, is a barren stretch of sagebrush and the financial benefits from the match would go to Utah.

English Beats Jack Murphy.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 6.—Clarence English of Kansas City won the decision over Jack Murphy of Pittsburgh at the Staten club tonight. Murphy showed remarkable gameness, but was knocked down in the sixth round for the count of nine.

BASEBALL BREVITIES.

Detroit, Mich., Feb. 6.—Infielder J. H. Berkel, who played with Albany, Ga., last season, has been signed by Detroit.

Columbus, O., Feb. 6.—Pitcher George McQuillan, formerly of Cincinnati and Philadelphia, signed today to play with Columbus.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—President Horace Fogel of the Phillies says the Cubs haven't offered Mordecai Brown to him, but that he would consider such a trade.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 6.—The Philadelphia Nationals have signed Lee Hart, outfielder last year of the Fulton club in the Kitty league. He led his league in batting.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 6.—"Brick" Leonard, pitcher, has been released to Spokane by the Philadelphia Athletics, in exchange for Pitchers Rounck and Bonner.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Manager McGraw of the Giants today signed a college baseball player for whom Connie Mack of the Athletics had been angling. He is Frank Nohowel, who was a teammate of Eddie Collins at Columbia. Nohowel in his college days was considered as good a player as Collins.

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Announcement was made here today that J. E. ("Goat") Anderson, formerly an outfielder of the Pittsburgh National league club, and Everitt Robinson of Wheeling have purchased the Wheeling Central league franchise from B. W. Perkins and W. W. Irwin for $8,000. Anderson will manage the team.

FIGHT HAVEN AT SOUTH HAVEN.

Council Provides Safe Place to Hold Bouts—Doherty of Denver Wins Over Mickey Foley.

South Haven, Mich., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—The lid on boxing was lifted in this city tonight for the first time in ten years. The athletic association staged three good bouts at the opera house in the face of strong opposition from the ministers, whose appeal to revoke the permit was turned down at a heated council meeting on Monday night. Mayor Funk was at the ringside.

In the main bout, six rounds at 133 pounds, Tom Doherty of Denver won a shade over Mickey Foley of Brooklyn. Roy Greenman and Harry Porter went six rounds with Greenman popular victor. "Young" Griffith and "Kid" Rubenbury went three fast rounds with honors about even.

A message from Gov. Osborn, read by Under Sheriff Beattie, advised all concerned the exhibition must be kept within state laws.

Keyes and Seiger Draw.

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 6.—Bert Keyes of New York and Joe Seiger of Colorado fought ten fast rounds to a draw at the opening of the Gate City Athletic club here tonight.

WESTERN SCHEDULE UP TODAY

Magnates Meet at Sox Park to Pass Upon 1912 Chart.

"CAL" TO TRADE RECRUITS.

Fournier, with Record of .377, Secured from Boston by White Sox.

BY SAM WELLER.

Western league ball magnates assembled in Chicago yesterday in advance of their annual schedule meeting to be held at Comiskey park today when Manager Callahan of the White Sox expects to unload a bit of surplus baseball talent upon one or more of the minor magnates before they escape from town. He and his old teammate, Frank Isbell, went into secret session last night and there may be a deal put through today that will depose two youngsters and possibly a veteran from the roll of the south side club.

Isbell, with Tom Fairweather, has purchased the Des Moines franchise and indications are that it is to be a sort of training school for White Sox recruits with proper aspirations. It may also prove to be a resting place for some old timers in their declining years at the pastime. Incidentally this will help both the Chicago and Des Moines teams, giving the former a "prep" school and the latter a means of obtaining plenty of playing material for a class A team.

Must Drop Ten by May 1.

Callahan could not say which of his players might be turned over to "Issy." He will have to get rid of about ten before May 1 and it is likely he will wait until after the spring training trip before he decides who are to go. This will be perfectly satisfactory to Isbell as long as he is sure he will get some of them, for he is willing that the recruits should go south at the Sox expense and get into good condition.

Jack Holland, the St. Joseph magnate, said some glowing things about "Babe" Borton, the young first sacker who is to have a trial with the White Sox, but at the same time informed Manager Callahan that the boy may need more experience. "He can hit without any doubt," said Holland, "but I think he is not as handy around first base as Tex Jones. However, he may overcome his weakness in fielding with no trouble. Borton is just a big kid and a most willing worker. I think he's a natural ball player and will be a star in another year or two. Tex Jones had it on him in the fielding end of the game last year, though."

The club owners who are here follow: Frank Isbell, Des Moines; E. J. Hanlon, Sioux City; A. M. Catlin, Topeka; George Bradford and Frank McMullin, Wichita; Don Despain, Lincoln; James McGill, Denver; Jack Holland, St. Joseph; William O'Rourke, Omaha. Tom Fairweather, partner with Isbell in the Des Moines club, was unable to attend, being ill with tonsilitis at his home in Sioux City.

Before trying to dispose of players, Manager Callahan announced the signing of a new man for the White Sox. No one seems to know in just what particular line of the national pastime the new star shines. His name is J. Fournier and he performed last season at Moosejaw in the Western Canada league. Out there he hit for an average of .377 in 109 games. It seems he played at first base most of the time, but was proficient also as a catcher and an outfielder.

Only 20 Years Old.

He is only 20 years of age, stands 6 feet, and carries 190 pounds. He is said to be a sprinter, and Callahan thinks he may be developed into a star outfielder. Anyway his prowess was so pronounced that the Sox boss bought him yesterday from the Boston Red Sox, the latter club having procured him from Moosejaw last fall. He will be taken to Texas and put in the outfield alongside of the manager so that he may learn how to play left field in an artistic fashion.

President Murphy of the Cubs announced yesterday the purchase of another "tall, rangy guy" to pitch for the west siders. He's a left hander named Harrington, is as tall as King Cole, and only 20 years of age. The purchase was made from Louisville, the Colonels drafting the young giant from the Lynn (Mass.) team last summer. With that club, which finished fifth in the race, Harrington won twenty-one and lost eight games, so he will come into the big league with a splendid record.

The signed contract of "Diamond" Harry McIntire, Cub twirler, reached Murphy's office in the day's mail. He is wintering at El Paso, Tex., playing some baseball to keep in shape, and incidentally watching the Mexican insurrection through spy glasses.

Proposes Benefit for Mrs. Doyle.

Charles Williams, the Cubs' secretary, returned yesterday from Syracuse, where he attended the funeral of Jimmy Doyle as the official representative of the Chicago club. He said he understood Doyle's wife and little boy, 5 years of age, have been left in rather destitute circumstances. Doyle carried no life insurance, and, having been in the big league only one season, he had not been able to lay away much money. Friends of Doyle were talking yesterday of proposing a benefit game, to be played early in the season, the proceeds to be turned over to the widow.

Williams said he was surprised to see how well Johnny Evers looked, the star second sacker also being in Syracuse for the funeral. John has taken on a lot of weight and is anxious for the season to begin.

Capt. Anson has been booked for a week of monologue work, starting Feb. 12, at the Haymarket. He will do three days there and three at a showhouse at Forty-third street and Indiana avenue.

SPORTING NEWS NOTES.

Jack Stevens and "Sneaky" Woods will meet in the windup of the wrestling show tomorrow night given by the Ravenswood A. A. at Standard hall, Clark street and Lawrence avenue.

Nearly 100 entries have been received by the contest committee of the South Side Skating club for the races to be held at Washington park on Sunday. Five events will be run off, including a one and two mile handicap, ladies' race, broad jump, and skating backward.

Henry Ordeman and Samson will meet in the windup of the C. A. A. wrestling show on Saturday night. The other bouts are: Harry Katron vs. "Irish" Haggerty; Paul Martinson vs. "Mysterious Waffles"; Walter Willoughby vs. Ernest Kartze.

Jess Pedersen says he will try his new toe hold on Charley Cutler in their match tonight at Riverview rink. The Danish wrestler, under careful instruction, has been perfecting his leg work to such an extent in the last two weeks that he feels justified now in showing the wrestling fans how much he has learned in this respect. He thinks Cutler will be his first victim.

Walter Willoughby defeated Jack Dribbs in straight falls in the windup of the wrestling bouts at the Star theater last night. Tom Rolewicz won two falls from Gus Hansel and Gus Pedersen and Illa Vincent went thirty minutes without a fall. Willoughby and Ernest Kartye, who were billed to meet at Riverview park, have transferred their bout to the Chicago Athletic association, where they will wrestle on Saturday night.

He is the lone entry from the banks of the Maumee and has entered for only one event, the half mile.

Kewanee High school is sending a strong team and the down staters expect to make a good showing. West Aurora, Lake Forest, Oregon, Thornton, New Trier, Wheaton, and Evanston are sending teams of more or less strength. St. John's Military academy of Delafield, Wis., also is represented.

Rubinis Twice Defeat Bull Frogs and Go Into Tie for Second Place in Colonna League.

The Rubinis went into tie for second place honors in the Colonna league when they won the odd game from the Bull Frogs, the cigarmakers going a fast clip and turning in an average of 960. ePisener, with an average of 205 1-5, and Eddie Stretch, with 201 2-3, were the star performers, while Jay Thompson of the Bull Frogs tried to stave off defeat with an average of 211 1-3.

The best individual performance around the circuit came in the Petersen league, Joe Klasen of the Tremonas averaging 225 1-3 and helping his team to win the series from the Temples. 70 ATHLETES IN TRACK MEET

Big Field to Compete in Six Standard Events at C. A. A. Tonight.

TWENTY-FIVE IN FOR SPRINT.

Interscholastic Dash at Forty Yards Attracts Nine Prep Runners.

BY KEENE GARDINER.

Seventy athletes will compete tonight in the invitation track and field meet under the auspices of the Chicago Athletic association in the Michigan avenue club's gymnasium. Six standard events are scheduled, three of these being forty yard dashes divided into three classes—open, interscholastic, and intercollegiate.

The forty yard open sprint drew the biggest field, twenty-five being entered, ten of these being C. A. A. dash men. In the "prep" sprint nine athletes will compete for the prizes, while the intercollegiate dash drew only three, two of these being Northwestern entrants.

The forty yard high hurdles promises to result in keen competition, as the class of entrants is among the best in the central west. In addition to these contests three legged and potato team races are scheduled. F. A. Bornmann will give a tumbling exhibition. Carleton White, president of the C. A. A., will act as referee, with John Mahan as starter. Following are the entries:

LAMY INJURED IN BAD TUMBLE.

Champion Skater Falls in Practice and Twists Ankle—All His Dates Are Canceled.

Saranac Lake, N. Y., Feb. 6.—Edmund Lamy, who won the professional skating championship last week from Morris Wood, had a hard fall on the ice today and as a result will be unable to skate for several weeks. While practicing short turns in a hockey pen he was accidentally tripped by another skater and fell into the net, wrenching his ankle and bruising his thigh. Lamy has canceled all dates.

NOTES OF THE CURLERS.

Skip Holthoefer won the club trophy at the Chicago Curling club last night, defeating Skip Nelson's rink, 17 to 12, in the final match at the Washington Park rink.

A rink of Milwaukee curlers, skipped by William Currie, defeated a rink of the Chicago Curling club, skipped by Sam Nelson, at Washington park yesterday, 20 points to 18. Currie and his men got a good lead, scoring fives in the sixth and ninth heads, giving them a total of 15 to 7. The locals counted five in the fifteenth head and led by one point, but a three count by the visitors in the final head gave them the victory.

PASS 1912 BUDGET; $440,981 OVER 1911

Ten Democrats of the County Board Adopt Measure Despite Four Republicans.

HIGHER SALARIES FOR 402

Cut Off Efficiency Bureau, Street Car Money, and Insurance Allowance.

The ten Democrats of the county board passed the 1912 budget yesterday—the four Republicans voting in the negative. A total of $33,000 was eliminated from the finance committee report, and $18,700 was added in new jobs and salary increases. One county employe said he had counted 402 increases in compensation.

The total appropriation (unrevised figure) is $13,944,629.19, which is an increase of $440,981 over the appropriation for 1911.

Some items in the ordinance are interesting. A morguekeeper and a housekeeper at Oak Forest get $40 a month each, while a doorkeeper at the hospital gets $75 a month. At Dunning apparently the commissioners think an inmate is more precious dead than alive. The attendants who watch the patients when alive get an average of $38 each, while the man who watches them dead gets $2 more a month.

Ragan Wants Larger Boost.

During the session Commissioner Frank Ragan wanted the extra clerks paid for the time they use in eating supper.

"That's the way it used to be done, and I won't stand for any decrease in salaries," he asserted. A colleague erroneously told him that all the "extras" will be paid while they eat, and Ragan voted for the allowance.

Some Republicans wanted to boost certain salaries in Republican offices, but most of the time voted against the salary appropriations. At the staff they made motions to reduce salaries and eliminate jobs, but soon they saw that they could make no progress. They urged that the allowance for roads and bridges be increased from $50,000 to $60,000, but were outvoted. Commissioner Joseph Carolan wanted to abolish five jobs in the state's attorney's office, but received insufficient support. The decreases from the finance committee report were the elimination of $3,000 for the efficiency bureau of the civil service commission, $10,000 for street car transportation, and $20,000 from the insurance fund.

Compared to 1911 Budget.

A comparison of this with last year's appropriation is as follows:

	1912.	1911.

It will be noted that there has been more segregation in the appropriations. The heating, lighting, and supply accounts in 1911 were placed in one item.

Living Beyond Income.

The tabulation also shows that despite the increased revenue the county is not able to live within its income—the deficit in 1910, however, was about $15,000 more than in 1911.

According to the controller's estimate, the board has not appropriated all the money that will be available this year. The excess of the estimated revenue over the appropriation is about $18,000. Probably most of the commissioners had this information, for on perhaps a score of occasions they demanded a roll call for more increases in salaries. Sometimes President Bartzen of the board voted with them and they had nine affirmative to five negative votes. The law requires, however, ten votes and usually Chairman F. J. Coffey of the finance committee was the stumbling block.

SIX ARE OVERCOME BY GAS.

Fumes Leak from Pipe After It Is Thawed Out and Rooming House Occupants Are Caught Asleep.

Six persons were overcome by gas late Monday night while asleep in a rooming house at 2058 West Washington boulevard, conducted by Mrs. Fred Hunt. Fumes leaked from a break in a pipe after it had been thawed out by employés of the gas company.

Those overcome are: Mrs. Fred Hunt, Mildred Hunt, 13 years old, Mrs. J. Towle, Mrs. Rose Barnum, Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. I. C. Foss, and Gertrude Foss, 4 years old.

A physician revived the two children and Mrs. Foss and Mrs Barnum in a few minutes. Mrs. Towle and Mrs. Hunt were unconscious an hour.

Former Under Sheriff Sentenced.

William Thornton, formerly a deputy sheriff, yesterday was sentenced to ninety days in the county jail by Judge Honoré on a charge of burglary of a poolroom on the west side owned by William Jones.

MISS HOGAN GIVEN 6 MONTHS IN JAIL

Woman Who Defied Court by Her Silence Is Also Fined $1,700.

UNWILLING TO TESTIFY.

Would Not Accuse of Robbery Man with Whom She Is Said to Be in Love.

Miss Hazel Hogan was sentenced to the bridewell for six months and fined $1,700 yesterday by Judge Lockwood Honoré. The woman's offense consisted in refusing to talk.

Miss Hogan was the principal witness in the case of Dr. Ervine Sissinger and others who are on trial for robbing her of $1,756. She has persistently refused to testify against the prisoners. For this she was adjudged in contempt of court.

The men were arrested on the woman's complaint. She told how she had been lured to the office of Sissinger, who is an optician, and attacked by three men, who took the money from her stocking. Afterward she fled from the city.

She was located at Toledo, O., by the state's attorney's officer and brought back to Chicago under a warrant accusing her of selling mortgaged property. On this charge she was confined in the county jail.

The trial of Sissinger and his alleged accomplices was then begun. Six times Miss Hogan was summoned to court, and each time she told Judge Honoré that she would not testify. After her sixth refusal yesterday Judge Honoré imposed sentence.

The motive back of Miss Hogan's silence is said to be that she loves Sissinger.

And while you scurried through arctic streets with your ears a-tingle and your fingers stiffening in your gloves—your friends were driving golf balls over green turf in California. February bids fair to make January jealous. Do you feel "up" to another month of zero weather? No? Then chuck Chicago's winter and go where you can get the frost out of your blood. A vacation in sunny California will stuff you with vigor for the rest of this year. Lay out your sojourn this minute.

More Motor Truck Facts Showing How One Manufacturer of Electric Trucks Dominates the Motor Truck Industry

When you have studied this advertisement a bit you will admit that the electric truck is not an unknown quantity, but a wonderful, demonstrated success—an economizer that leaves all others behind in city trucking, transfers and deliveries.

WHY DOES THE GENERAL VEHICLE COMPANY SELL FLEETS WHILE OTHERS BOOK SINGLE ORDERS?

Because the trucks it builds are more economical as to operation and maintenance than any others. Because it has over 2,000 in actual operation and there is no guess work about results. Because hundreds of these have been paying dividends for from three to ten years and their owners think so well of them that 69% of our total 1911 business was re-orders.

We have signed contracts in the safe at headquarters for 158 G. V. Electrics, and these have all been booked since January 1, 1912. Over 70 of these are for 5-ton G. V. trucks—as many as some manufacturers build in 12 months. And the answer is quality—quality in design, material and construction—nothing cheap—vehicles built for ten years of unbroken service.

READ THIS LIST

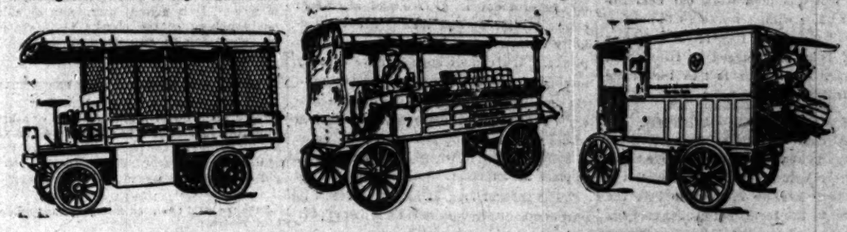

We have ten (10) customers who will soon operate 443 G. V. Electrics. We have 1,000 G. V. Electrics operated by less than 100 customers. Can you think of anything more indicative of confidence in our product than the following?

INEXPLICABLE.

The attempt to pass the resolution offered by Representative Slayden of Texas to commit the house against the election of any man to a third term as president failed dismally, only three Republicans voting for it.

These three Republicans were:
Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois.
Samuel W. McCall of Massachusetts.
Henry H. Bingham of Pennsylvania.

This is inexplicable conduct on the part of our honored friend, Mr. Joseph Gurney Cannon, Joseph who always was a Jonathan to a certain distinguished David. It must have been that he was torn between devotion to a principle and love for a friend and in a voice husky with emotion cast his vote and tottered to the cloak room.

DO WE LIKE IT?

The policy of the Democratic administration of Cook county now sticks out like a sore thumb.

It is neat and complete.

Put as many willing workers on the pay roll as possible.

Raise the pay of as many as possible of the willing workers already on the pay roll.

Pay the willing workers and let the taxpayers pay the freight.

A simple plan. When it is studied with reference to the vociferous charges of extravagance made by the Democrats against the Republican administration, it reveals the unshaken confidence of our local Democracy in the late P. T. Barnum's maxim: "The public likes to be humbugged."

How will this plan work out next November? The willing workers will not forget. Will the people forget? Are they as fond of being humbugged as triumphant Democracy with both feet in the public trough believes them to be?

BY MR. WATSON—A HYMN.

Mr. William Watson, returning to these shores and to happier experiences, we trust, gives us a hymn. Not even behind the donor's back are we inclined to look the gift horse in the teeth, but candor compels the thought that we are to go on groping for the great American pæan. The friendly impulse of the visiting poet provides it no more than did the efforts of boards of education to discover the triumphal voice of America.

There is something of invocative nobility in Mr. Watson's hymn, but even with it we remain hymnless. That we are "blest in noiseless charities" we doubt. When Mr. Watson comes to Chicago some one should take him within a mile of the county building. Then he will give new emphasis to his prayer that we may be.

Whether there be in our veins "youth's angry thrill" or "youth's arrowy thrill" we do not know. Mr. Watson suffered somewhat in transmission, but "angry" or "arrowy" it is all the same. The substitution of one for the other will not make or unmake the hymn. It was clever of William to do this for us, and we accept it as a token of reconciliation.

IMPROVE THE COUNCIL.

The fact that a two-thirds vote in the city council was procured to pass the appropriation for the first installment of voting machines is significant of more than the force of influence back of the scandalous million dollar contract.

This action calls sharp attention to the fact that our annual aldermanic election is approaching and that there is need for another vigorous attempt to tone up the council. There are too many men of less than mediocre quality and too few able to lead and to do constructive work.

This is the more serious that there is so much constructive work crying out to be done. The subway and the outer harbor alone are prospects calling for ability of first rank, and the impending traction consolidation will present other problems calling for special ability and unquestionable integrity.

The size of the council and the plan of representation make efficiency impossible save through firm and able leadership, and in this the council has fallen off. The return of former Ald. Bernard W. Snow by his constituents of the Seventh ward is therefore of importance, not only to them but to the city. Mr. Snow was one of the most useful men in the council during his terms of office and would add greatly to the strength of the body.

It is to be hoped some other candidates of sound sense, industry, honesty, and initiative will develop and be sent to join the effective leaders in the council?

SENATOR LA FOLLETTE'S ILLNESS

The public statement of Col. Houser, Senator La Follette's campaign manager, though carefully guarded, hardly conceals the gravity of the senator's breakdown. The qualities which were among the chief factors in Senator La Follette's public success—namely: his splendid courage and his unconquerable determination—have claimed a heavy forfeit at a most critical stage of his career. A weaker man would have yielded earlier, would not have spent himself up to the last throb of nervous energy.

That was a misfortune but not a reproach, and the American people of all parties will not admire him the less for his mistake, but will sympathize with him the more in his ill luck. They also will hope that this interruption of a career which already has added a page crowded with useful achievement to American political history is not to be either serious or long. Though it were ended here, Robert M. La Follette would go down to posterity as one of the ablest and most enlightened public men of his time—one of America's constructive statesmen.

But if this illness should remove him from the presidential race and cheat him of his ambition in that direction, it does not follow that his reputation in the end will be the less. The presidency is sometimes a pitfall rather than an opportunity. Madison and Monroe were not helped by it, nor Grant, and the work Senator La Follette, we trust, has before him to do, may well lie within the field of legislative and party leadership.

However that may be, the nation will hope for Senator La Follette's speedy and complete recovery.

FOR EFFICIENT VOTING.

The recent Republican county convention included in its platform an indorsement of the short ballot, a progressive idea which is slowly but steadily gaining strength throughout the country.

Here is a statement by the Municipal association of Cleveland which might be issued in Chicago with only necessary changes in the names of the city and its civic societies:

"For fifteen years the Municipal association of Cleveland has been laboring to improve the character of men elected to city and county offices in Cuyahoga county. We have sought to do this by furnishing the voters with correct information concerning the candidates for office, by consistently urging them to vote for good men, and by encouraging efficient administration of public office.

"Public sentiment has distinctly grown in that regard during that time. But, unfortunately, we have had to contend during these years with a ballot growing more and more complicated as each new office has been added to the elective list.

"The task placed upon the voter has become so great that it is practically impossible in most cases for him to cast an intelligent vote. He has become more or less of a proxy, voting for the candidates named by the ticket makers in his party or merely registering the opinion of some other men or group of men.

"Popular government, in the true sense of the word, under such circumstances is out of the question. The essence of popular government is a free and intelligent choice of officials and their direct responsibility to the electorate which places them in power. We cannot hope to have a really intelligent choice of elective officials until we simplify and clarify the election machinery by so reducing the number of elective offices that it will be possible for the voter to know the men in whose hands he is asked to place the administration of public affairs.

"The present long ballot is the result in part of constitutional limitations and in part of legislative enactments."

The short ballot committee of the Cleveland Municipal association has studied their local situation thoroughly, laying down the following general principles of reform:

Only those offices should be elective which are important enough to command such a share of the attention of the voters as will insure an aroused public interest and a large vote. All other offices should be appointive.

Very few offices should be filled by election at one time, so that adequate and unconfused examination and comparison of the candidates will be possible.

In Ohio the committee finds that there are twenty-two elective state officials, which number should be reduced to ten upon the foregoing principles; in counties fifteen, which should be reduced to nine; and in Cleveland twenty-one, which should be six.

Ohio is now holding a constitutional convention and the short ballot reform will be proposed. But opposition already has developed.

In Illinois a constitutional convention is not a probability, in spite of our need for constitutional amendment, owing to the representation restriction threat. But the short ballot is a requisite of efficient, because responsible, self-government and should be made the subject of a persistent propaganda until either our constitution is overhauled generally or other amendments having the right of way have been passed.

LAGGING interest in this voting machine mixup might be revivified by the timely introduction of a dictagraph.

TO THE rest of the world it must seem as if Chicago were doing its best to get rid of the Field museum of natural history.

SOME hints have been received concerning the passenger tariff on the dirigible balloon line to be established between Chicago and Milwaukee. Traveling by that route will come high.

THE idea that Witness Blumenberg was intoxicated is preposterous. He had taken only "five or six drinks of whisky."

SIR ROBERT BADEN-POWELL says baseball is the best game in the world for boys. He can prove that, moreover, by several hundred thousand boys of all ages in Chicago.

ALSO there is Stenographer Blumenberg, who sacrifices a good job to become a Lorimer witness!

A SUN DOG is a sort of frozen rainbow. You don't like that definition? Then make one to suit yourself.

How to Keep Well. By Dr. W. A. Evans.

HEALTH IS WEALTH

Questions pertinent to hygiene, sanitation, and prevention of disease, if matters of general interest, will be answered in this column. Where space will not permit or the subject is not suitable letters will be personally answered, subject to proper limitations and where a stamped addressed envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases. Requests for such service cannot be answered.

THE MIND AND THE HEART AND CIRCULATION.

THE rhythmical movement of the heart is automatically regulated. The size and carrying capacity of the blood vessels is also an automaton, regulated by the needs of the area for which each particular vessel carries. God did not propose that a process as necessary as the circulation of blood should be controlled by so weak, vacillating, and incompetent an agency as the human mind. And yet the fairly independent state called the circulatory apparatus belongs to the federation of states called the human body, and it must have its capital.

The brain, through the mind, can influence the heart and blood vessels in some degree. Blushing is frequently a mental process. That fact has always been recognized. And yet Darwin taught us that the capacity of the brain to dilate the blood vessels of the cheeks is highly developed as the result of special training, and the same change cannot be made in the blood vessels of other parts of the body, at least not to any considerable extent.

That emotion can make the heart beat fast or slow or irregularly everybody knows, but not even the most violent emotion can make a healthy heart stop beating. Sometimes the brain tries hard, only to fail. Men go into cataleptic states, hypnotic conditions, major hysterical manifestations, with many functions suspended in whole or in part, but the heart beats away regular in its rhythm, neither faster nor slower.

If a man has a heart disease the mind can make his heart asthma worse. If he has lime in his valves and palpitation is a result dread, fright, and worry can make his attacks more frequent and more agitating. In other words, the mind can help in perpetuating a vicious circle, but when that is said there remains nothing else of consequence to say.

It is a long way from these manifestations to the curing of or preventing leaking heart valves or poorly nourished heart muscles. It is a long way from blushing or blanching of the cheeks to increasing or decreasing to any material degree the blood in, say, the kidneys or lungs.

CORN ON TOE OF AN INFANT.

A nurse writes: "I would like to know what I shall do to remove a corn of a little boy 2½ years old. His mother bought him a pair of heavy shoes for the cold weather, but he is only a light fellow himself and so he got the corn. It seems to grow bigger."

REPLY.

Take the child to a good chiropodist and have the corn removed.

USE SCENTED LIQUID SOAP.

A. D. B. writes: "You speak of the importance of keeping the throat and nose clean after pneumonia, meningitis, etc. I would like to know what spray you deem best to use."

REPLY.

Dobell's solution or some tooth wash which foams up; in other words, a scented liquid soap.

DO DOCTORS CARRY BACILLI?

M. D. W. writes: "A son, aged 11 years, of a friend has been ill with diphtheria for four weeks. The mother and the professional nurse, who have been in constant attendance, are not permitted to leave the house, nor are any visitors permitted to enter. Two weeks ago the father, having undergone a 'complete fumigation' at the direction of the board of health, was ordered not to enter the house for five weeks. Meantime, the physician in attendance enters the house every day, comes in direct personal contact with the sick boy, does not fumigate himself, does not change his clothes, but does enter and leave the house daily, and in a closed automobile proceeds directly to the houses of the neighbors of my friend, where he comes in direct personal contact with these neighbors and their families. Will you kindly inform me as to the kind of meat this Cæsar (the doctor) feeds upon that prevents the Klebs-Loeffler bacillus from accompanying him upon his daily rounds?"

REPLY.

The ideal condition would be for all cases of diphtheria to be cared for in hospitals. In this way the danger from doctors, nurses, and attendants would be eliminated. Until this custom prevails the alternative is to allow only those to see the patient who understand the importance of bacillus carriers in relation to the disease and who know what is necessary to be done to prevent carrying bacilli. The doctor who is sufficiently careful in his examination of the patient and in cleansing his hands after examining the patient will not transport bacteria. However, the system of caring for patients with contagion in the home will always permit of folks coming in contact. The proper plan, pending the time when better regulations prevail, is to have regulations to limit the folks to as few as possible.

Thoroughly cleansing of the hands is the one thing which overshadows all others in preventing the spread of a contagion by those who have been in contact with a sick person.

Where diphtheria bacilli persist, the state board of health of Wisconsin is now supplying a culture for making the throat so infected innocuous.

TUBERCULOSIS IN ANIMALS.

J. K. H. writes: "You said recently that tuberculosis in the lower animals—cows, pigs, etc.—resembles that disease in man. The treatment prescribed for tuberculosis is in the main 'fresh air.' Now, why do animals have this disease, when they live out of doors all the time?"

REPLY.

Cows that are on the range do not have tuberculosis to any appreciable extent. They have it in proportion as they are housed. Pigs have tuberculosis contracted through food. Most of their tuberculosis comes from drinking tubercular milk or eating tubercular germs from cows.

SLEEP CAUSED BY DRUGS.

F. B. N. writes: "What is the effect on a person who for years takes from seven to ten grains of beronal every night to produce sleep? Is it harmful to the system in any way?"

REPLY.

It is. It is better to lie awake than to get sleep from drugs. Have your physician discover why you do not sleep and then teach you mental control so that you can sleep.

LA MARQUISE DE FONTENOY.

[Copyright: 1912: By the Brentwood Company.]

ALTHOUGH just sixty years have elapsed since the death of the great Duke of Wellington, it is only within the last fortnight that the splendid tomb designed for him by Alfred Stevens a few months after his demise, and commencing in 1857, has been completed, by the placing on the memorial the bronze equestrian statue by which it was to be crowned. The sum voted for the work, $80,000, proved quite inadequate, and Stevens, after spending much of his personal means on the work, died, broken financially and broken in heart, in 1875.

The heartbreak was due partly to financial worry, but largely also to his troubles with the well known dean of St. Paul's, the Very Rev. Dr. Henry Milman, who, supported by the chapter of the basilica, absolutely declined to sanction the equestrian statue on the ground that a horse, even in statuary, could not be admitted to the cathedral.

Repeated attempts were made after Dean Milman's death to overcome this objection on the part of the cathedral chapter, but without avail, and in fact, it was not until the admission to the chapter of the broad minded Canon Lang, now archbishop of York, that the objections to the equestrian features of the memorial were by degrees overcome at his instance.

On his initiative a committee was formed, including the late Duke of Cambridge, Lord Leighton, as president of the Royal academy, the late Lord Salisbury, and others, to take the necessary steps for the completion of the monument, and a popular subscription was started in order to secure the necessary funds for the purpose, the government assisting with a grant of $10,000.

Then came Lord Leighton's illness and death, the Boer war, the illness and death of the Duke of Cambridge, of the late and third Duke of Wellington, of Lord Salisbury, etc., and, in fact, the matter dragged along until about a year ago, when the new dean of St. Paul's and the archbishop of York, as well as several other public spirited, energetic personages, revived popular interest in the monument, got together the necessary money, and have now at last definitely completed the monument.

It is a work of art of which the late Lord Salisbury was wont to declare that it was "necessary to go back to the time of the Italian Renaissance to find anything in sculpture so perfect in design." Lord Leighton used to rave about the model of the monument, proclaiming Alfred Stevens, its creator, to be the greatest of English designers and a supreme artist.

In spite of these encomiums, lack of money, lack of popular interest, and the silly objections of the chapter of St Paul's cathedral have prevented the completion of this tomb of the Iron Duke, until over half a century since it was begun, and until sixty years after his death, the upper part of the memorial, including the equestrian statue, being left to lie, forgotten and neglected, as a plaster cast, in the crypt, so little cared for, that the cast was broken in several places.

Now that the English have completed, after this long delay, the tomb of the great general, they might devote their attention to some other unfinished monuments. To begin with, there is the Nelson monument in Trafalgar square. There are four pedestals at its base, ornamented with only three statues, those of Gen. Gordon, the hero of Khartoum, Sir Charles Napier, and Sir Henry Havelock. The fourth pedestal, in the northwestern corner of the square, remains vacant.

Westminister Abbey still lacks the center spire originally designed, and which was to have been commenced immediately on the completion of the two western towers, after the restoration of the Stuarts, and the abbey also is still awaiting the magnificent stained glass window now in St. Margaret's church at Westminister, but which belongs to the abbey.

The people of the town of Dordrecht subscribed for this window, with the object of having it placed in the Henry VII. Chapel of the abbey, where the frame work was prepared for it, still vacant to this day. But somehow or other the window went astray, and finally found a home in a church near Epping. Thence it was removed to another church in Essex, where it was saved from destruction by one of Cromwell's generals, and at length in the middle of the eighteenth century, the wardens of St. Margaret's, Westminster, bought it for $2,000.

Of all unfinished things in London the houses of parliament are perhaps the most glaring examples. The original design of Sir Charles Barry, accepted by the government, provided for a palace twice as large and presenting an infinitely grander aspect, with Westminster hall, the scene of so many historic events during the last 900 years, in the center; whereas today Westminster hall may be said to be virtually buried in a hole in the outer wall, instead of occupying its true central place of the entire edifice, as the shrine of England's history, appropriately framed in such a way by the palace of parliament as to show all its architectural grandeur.

Just why the chapter of St. Paul's cathedral, the late Dean Milman and even Dean Gregory should have objected to the presence of the statue of a horse, surmounting the tomb of the great Duke of Wellington, it is difficult to understand. It is a matter concerning which there has been a considerable amount of speculation.

I recall that at the time when Lord Curzon was in India, about ten years ago, the London Speaker suggested, in an amusing fashion, that perhaps the attitude of the chapter was due to fear that any concession in the matter might pave the way for the eventual erection in the cathedral over the tomb of Lord Curzon of a colossal statue of himself, mounted on a state elephant, with these words emblazoned on the base of the monument: "The meek shall inherit the earth."

Without going to the length of Frederick the Great, who erected one of the finest Lutheran churches in Prussian Poland, a magnificent edifice of white stone, as a memorial to his favorite charger, killed beneath him at the battle of Kunersdorff, there are hundreds of worthy Christians who do not understand why there should be any objection to burying animals in consecrated ground, while there are thousands upon thousands who will be disposed to regard as exaggerated the objection of the former deans and chapter of St. Paul's cathedral to the presence of animals in stone and bronze in places consecrated to divine worship.

In Westminster Abbey there are two or three equestrian pieces of statuary among the memorials to the illustrious dead; and, while the serpent forms a conspicuous feature in the memorial to Milton, a dolphin forms the base of the monument to William Pitt, Earl of Chatham.

Moreover, in Kensal Green, the principal cemetery of the British metropolis, the grave of Tom Sayers, famous in the earlier portion of the Victorian era as the champion prizefighter, is surmounted by a slab of marble on which crouches a colossal mastiff of the same material, a striking object among the crosses, the obelisks, and the broken columns that constitute the ordinary memorials to the dead that lie in this big tract of consecrated ground.

A Sentimental Journey.
XI.

Now maybe some of my friends don't know what ebb and flood tide is. By being for a good many years on the water I will explain. First comes a drift current movement of the surface of the sea. Flood tide is a rising tide. Ebb tide is a falling tide. Spring tide—high tide, after new and full moon, caused by the same direction. Neaptide, the lowest point of the tide, is caused by the sun and moon being farther apart. Height of tide difference between high and that of low water. Age of the tide, difference of time between the moon's transit and appearance of the tide. By good weather being at one place, it is ebb tide for seven hours and flood tide for five hours.

The Friend of the People

NOT SATISFIED WITH EXPLANATION.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I have read with interest Mr. Budd's replies to those who have asked for a waiting room on the northbound side of the Sheridan road station of the Northwestern elevated. To those who remember the long agitation that was necessary to secure similar structures at Fullerton and Belmont stations, the attitude of the company is not surprising.

Mr. Budd states that if passengers will take the correct trains the first time they will not be compelled to change at Sheridan road in order to reach stations on the Evanston line. This is in general true, but how about Saturday evenings during the rush? No trains are operated out of North Water street Saturdays, but the Evanston through expresses instead stop at Sheridan road. There is no other way to get on an Evanston train from a station between Chicago avenue and Sheridan except to change at Sheridan. If a delay should occur on Saturday the passengers have no alternative but to wait on the unprotected platform. With reference to changing at Sheridan there is another feature to be considered. It is frequently a comparatively long wait for an Evanston train, due to their habit of being late so much of the time, and a person is tempted to get out of the cold for a while and take a Wilson express to Sheridan, thereby splitting the time that it is necessary to remain in the cold.

Mr. Budd's main objection to the proposed waiting room, viz.: that it would obstruct the view of motormen, can hardly be considered serious, for while this would undoubtedly be true if the room were located on the east end of the platform, there is positively no such objection to it if located at the west end of the platform, or in the middle.

The company's refusal to build such a convenience for its patrons can only be construed as a revival of the old corporation policy, "the public be damned," which has grown out of date with most of our public service corporations.
NORTH SHORE.

FAILURE OF WATER SUPPLY.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—L. Morrissett's plan of getting water by having the landlord install a water pump solved the water shortage problem for him. But is there any good reason why $200 to $500 should be added to expense of a building on account of shortage of water supply?

If, like New York and Los Angeles, we had to spend millions of dollars to reach source of supply there might be some reason. But instead 10,000 square miles of pure water right at our doorstep and a water famine every summer and sometimes in the winter certainly does not speak well for municipal ownership in Chicago. F. O.

LIGHTS ON A STAIRWAY.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—The north stairways at the Logan square Metropolitan station are surely dangerous, as they are so dark it is impossible to see the steps. Nearly every evening I see some old person slip or stumble, and to descend these steps with bundles in your arms is very risky.

WOMAN ANNOYED BY A CAR LOAFER.

Chicago, Feb. 3.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I left Austin avenue station for downtown at about 8:15 o'clock Friday morning, entering car No. 45 to the tune of "Look where you step—step lively, please," repeated by the guard at every station.

One might think that the passengers were a chain of convicts starting out on the regular treadmill of a day's existence at the "pen." The effect is depressing, to say the least—next to insulting.

The car was not crowded, and I secured a seat facing an end back seat next to the aisle, and was made most uncomfortable all the way downtown by a man standing near me in the aisle, who deliberately leaned over the seat against my hat (a moderate sized one) all the way downtown. He knew how uncomfortable he was making me, as I turned around several times and pushed his arm; but he belonged to the class of boor or loafer and would not budge. If I had spoken to him and objected to his actions, he probably would have insulted me, and I was not anxious for a scene.

How should this class of loungers be dealt with? I have seen them annoy women repeatedly in this way, and I think they take delight in so doing. Is there any reason why the trip downtown should be made so uncomfortable and so unpleasant in the two ways I have referred to?

SAYS LAMPS WERE LIGHTED.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Vincennes avenue from Sixty-ninth to Seventy-first street is lighted with gasoline lamps which are few and far between. Yet the individual who lights them uses his own judgment as to how many of them he should turn on. Night after night there is only the single light on the corner burning. Sometimes the one in the middle of the block and none on the corner, which leaves the entire block in total darkness.
W. W. W.

I have a report from Mr. W. D. Wilcox, gas inspector, in which he states the gas supervisor reports as follows:

"All the gasoline lamps on Vincennes avenue between Sixty-ninth and Seventy-first streets were lighted and in good condition on the night of Jan. 18, 1912."

He further states, however, that it is probably a fact that during the extreme cold weather which has prevailed some of the lights have not been lit and that the matter has been referred to the American Development company, which has the contract for maintaining the gasoline lights, with the request that the conditions complained of be remedied.

MUST ASK FOR IT.

Chicago, Feb. 4.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Could you please give me any information as to when a sewer will be laid in South Winchester avenue between Seventy-first and Seventy-second streets? This is an improvement that is very badly needed, but it seems as if it is next to impossible to have it done, although the main sewer runs in Seventy-first street and is only about 500 feet from the farthest house in the block requiring a sewer. VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

A REMINISCENCE.

Chicago, Feb. 6.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Just now when the good people seem aroused in appreciation of Jules Lumbard's beautiful voice, I recall having passed several months here in 1861 when the "Battle Cry of Freedom" rang throughout the land, thrilling the hearts of all who heard it with the most intense patriotism, myself among the number. As I was under promise to assist at a church benefit in Council Bluffs, Ia., my home town, I took the "Battle Cry" along to sing for the first time there.

Being strong for the union, I sang with great fervor and with a grand chorus. It took like "wildfire" and made many recruits. Never did a song, sung in any land, create such widespread enthusiasm as Jules Lumbard's famous war song, "The Battle Cry of Freedom."

May he live many years yet and die as he has lived, beloved by all mankind.

The inclosed is small in comparison to the pleasure his beautiful music gave me.

A VETERAN'S EXPERIENCE.

Chicago, Feb. 5.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I read the letter signed "Disabled Vol. Vet.," and I wish to add my experience to his. I was a member of both the Danville home and also the Marion, Ind., home for D. V. S., and most of the time I spent in those homes filled a clerical position in either the treasurer's or quartermaster's department, so saw some of the inside workings at these two homes. I, as one of many of the then members, heartily wished that the homes might be transferred to the war department, as being the only way to put a stop to the manner in which the soldiers' homes are run by the present board of managers, and more particularly their appointees of governor, treasurer, and quartermasters of the homes.

What your correspondent in THE TRIBUNE says I know to be a fact.

If the Chicago Grand Army posts would take up this matter in earnest and send some man of reliability and integrity to both these homes [to become inmates], they would find that the complaints against these homes that have found an outlet in the papers for the last eight or ten years were mild compared with the facts, but they must go down there unknown to the homes. F. S.

ANOTHER VETERAN COMPLAINS.

Soldiers' Home, Danville, Ill., Feb. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I read an article in your issue recently that is of very great interest to each and every old veteran of the civil war. But my comrade does not recite the causes that produce such deplorable results in this home.

It is a well known fact here that this home is managed in the sole interest of Danville capital, and not for the best interests of the old soldier. To illustrate: Local politicians are placed in command, at good salaries, and without any qualifications whatever for the positions they fill. And, instead of owning its own water, ice, electric and gas plants, etc., contracts are made yearly with local companies for the supply of such necessities, and at figures sufficiently large to erect such plants in twelve months, after which they can be operated at a nominal cost, thereby leaving sufficient money in the maintenance fund amply to provide the comforts and necessities of these helpless old veterans.

It is an agreed fact among the members of these homes that if they were taken out of the hands of unscrupulous politicians and placed under the control of the war department, where they properly belong, the members would get just what is due them, no more and no less, and that is all they ask.
ANOTHER HELPLESS OLD VETERAN.

NOT AFRAID OF "THIRD TERM."

Danville, Ill., Feb. 4.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Anent the subject of Roosevelt being the Republican party's next standard bearer, the ancient cry of the third term bugaboo precedent is raised against him. Precedent in politics, government, and everything else is a relic of bygone days. When little Japan licked the giant Russia she overcame all precedents. The Young Turks had no reverence for precedents. China today is smashing precedents. As president Roosevelt did not stop for precedents. The world looks on and applauds.

If the politicians can raise nothing more than the third term bugaboo precedent against Roosevelt the rank and file of all parties will take a hand in crushing that precedent by electing him next November.

T. R. IN CALIFORNIA.

Oakland, Cal., Feb. 1.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—Your California readers are following the reports of the Roosevelt movement with the greatest interest, and hope some way may be found to place his name on the primary ballot here. As between Taft and La Follette only, Taft would undoubtedly win, La Follette not typing the progressive movement satisfactorily to us. Roosevelt's name on our primary ballot would receive more votes than Taft and La Follette combined.
J. S[illegible].

THE MARQUISE NODS.

ANNIE BLYE, 5424 Washington avenue.

A CORRECTION.

THE TRIBUNE published on Saturday in the department a letter headed "Unfair Attack on Jobbers" and signed "General Sales Manager, General Electric Co." The letter should have been signed "General Sales Manager, Central Electric Co.," which has offices at 320 to 326 South Fifth avenue, Chicago.

DRAGGING OUT THE LORIMER CASE.

[New York World.]

It is time the Lorimer investigating committee wound up its proceedings.

Since the case was reopened after the Illinois senate committee uncovered new evidence of fraud in 1909 at the time of Lorimer's election the senate investigating committee has listlessly pursued its way, with witnesses on one side and the other changed charges. For some weeks it has been drifting without apparent aim.

But the essential facts have remained unchanged from the start. Lorimer took his seat in the senate over thirty months ago. Four members of the Illinois legislature who voted for his election have confessed they were bribed. That various large interests in Chicago were solicited to subscribe to a $100,000 "slush" fund to repay the expenses of "putting Lorimer over at Springfield" has been equally well established. Whether Lorimer was personally guilty of corruption or not, or had direct knowledge that money was used to secure his election, his title to a seat in the senate is tainted with bribery.

Lorimer's term is almost half over. How long is the senate going to defer its decision as to whether it approves bribery in the election of its members?

NOTES OF MOTOR TRUCK SHOW.

One of the features of the accessory show is the B. F. Goodrich company's exhibit of a new wireless truck tire in a demountable type. The principle used gets away entirely from the "wedge." As with the regular Goodrich wireless, the tire fits directly over the steel band of an S. A. E. standard wheel, no extra rim being required.

"The Ford Motor company has been appealed to for years by big concerns that wanted light delivery wagons of vanadium steel, but the company was unable to get into the delivery wagon business until this year, on account of its inability to take care of the pleasure car business,' said Manager Thomas J. Hay of the local Ford branch.

The Pope-Hartford exhibit consists of a three ton truck and a combination chemical hose and squad wagon. The field of usefulness of the truck is practically unlimited. It can be used for every kind of heavy service. It is well adapted either to the local delivery of bulky commodities or to long, heavy hauls.

"The use of interchangeable loading racks facilitates the handling of parcel deliveries," said F. W. Stewart of the local Buick branch. "Interchangeable racks can be loaded at the store or distributing point, so arranged that the driver will not have too many packages to handle or be required to give more than the minimum amount of attention in delivering the package to the customer."

Unlike most motor truck makers, the Garford company of Elyria, O., offers buyers a choice of either selective sliding gear or double disc friction transmission. There are buyers who prefer the friction drive as designed by Garford engineers, and others who believe the selective type transmission to be more adapted to their special requirements.

The Motor Wagon company's exhibit in the armory includes a chassis, a large open express, a car with large full panel body, with rear doors and pillar lights, and a country club trap.

The General Motors company has inaugurated a truck service department which promises to be an important adjunct to the sales department. Its duty is to educate drivers of General Motors trucks.

The Commerce Motor Car company is showing in its booth in the armory a depot motor bus, which is attracting a good deal of attention.

Recognizing that most motor truck drivers are recruited from the ranks of former teamsters, the truck department of the American Locomotive company has evolved a service plan for owners.

Wyckoff, Church & Partridge, Inc., of New York, have on display a W. C. F. Commer truck chassis, 4½ ton size, also an English 6½ ton Commer and various parts.

R. M. Owen & Co. continue to book a large number of orders for light delivery Reo trucks.

That truck owners are alive to the tire question is shown by attention bestowed upon the new Standard demountable tire recently brought out by the United States Tire company.

The Locomobile company's action in bringing out a five ton truck was not unexpected. Strength, simplicity, accessibility, and compactness mark this truck.

Two trophies won by motor trucks are described in a booklet by the Sampson truck builders. One was awarded in a New York contest and the other in Milwaukee.

Almost any of the Firestone line may be used in connection with Firestone demountable rims to enable the driver to change his tires on the spot without having to lay up his trucks for tire repairs.

Commercial vehicles range in size and capacity from the light delivery car of the florist to the ponderous truck for steel mills. So the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company of Akron, O., has announced its line of truck tires for 1912 as containing "a tire for every service."

Deliveries on the Flanders "20" commercial car began Feb. 1. Work on the bodies was pushed at the Studebaker wagon works.

GETS $7,500 FOR BURNED FOOT.

Miss Appell Awarded Damages Against Hospital—Attendants Forgot to Remove Hot Water Bottle from Bed.

Clara S. Appell was awarded $7,500 damages against the Ravenswood hospital yesterday by the Appellate court for a burn on the foot. The judgment was an affirmation of a verdict in a trial court. In February, 1908, Miss Appell was taken to the hospital for a minor operation. She was placed on a bed which had been heated by three water bottles. Two of the bottles had been removed, but the third was overlooked. It came in contact with the patient's foot and burned it severely.

CALL NEW DEBATE ON SHORE PLAN

Littler and Associates Think Committee Will Reconsider Blow at Measure.

REVISION MAY BE MADE.

Will Ask Discussion Section by Section; Wacker Opposes Appeal to State.

A meeting of the city council committee on harbors, wharves, and bridges will be held on Friday afternoon. The subject to be brought before it is the south shore plan.

Chairman Harry E. Littler called the meeting yesterday hoping to obtain more favorable action on the plan than the negative disposition made of it on Monday. The committee then refused to take up the measure section by section; but its supporters believe their refusal will not be maintained on second thought.

Ald. Littler and his associates thought the action on Monday was precipitated by the demand for a special session of the legislature to give the south park board condemnatory powers against the Illinois Central. A resolution embodying this call was authorized.

Wacker Opposes Delay.

Charles H. Wacker, an active supporter of the present plan, said during the day:

"My position today is exactly the same as before. Even if the legislature does give to the south park commissioners the right to condemn they will not be able to get the eight and a half acres needed for the Field museum or the site which the Illinois Central depot is on.

"This land is in actual use for railroad purposes and it is a well known fact that such property is not easily condemned. Every sane man understands that the Illinois Central would not give up that land without a legal battle that would last for years. Even with the right to condemn the south park commissioners would undoubtedly have to reach an agreement with the property owners as the Lincoln park board did before obtaining riparian rights. Then the great opportunity that Chicago has today will be lost."

Merely an Excuse, Says Payne.

John Barton Payne, president of the south park board, said the suggestion of appealing to the legislature was an excuse for blocking the improvement.

"You ask what will be the next move by the south park commissioners," said Mr. Payne. "I can hardly think the action of the council committee final. The appeal to the legislature is not a remedy—it is merely an excuse. The gentlemen who made the suggestion and the members of the committee who availed themselves of the excuse know as well as any one that nothing will come of the suggestion."

It was rumored during the day that Mayor Harrison would oppose the resolution asking Gov. Deneen to call the legislature into session.

INTAKE MAN IN LAKE MYSTERY

Substitute at Lawrence Avenue Missing Since Jan. 27.

RECALLS ALLEGED THREATS.

Enemy Quoted as Saying He'd Push L. D. Clark Into Water.

Two theories concerning the disappearance of Isadore De Clark, who has been missing from the Lawrence avenue intake since Jan. 27, are held by the police of the Town Hall station. One is that while intoxicated he fell into the water and was drowned; the other, that he was killed or pushed into the lake by an enemy.

According to John Wilkins, caretaker of the intake, who had employed De Clark as a substitute in his stead, De Clark and a fisherman, Peter De Rock, were unfriendly. Wilkins told the police that on Jan. 12 he and De Rock had an argument anad De Rock said, "I will get you and De Clark and will shove you both under the ice." De Rock denies he made the threat.

De Rock Found Place Deserted.

De Rock, who lives at the foot of Ainslie street, admitted he was at the intake on Monday, Jan. 29, two days after De Clark was last seen alive. At that time, he says, the door to the lighthouse was wide open and the place was deserted. No one was within call and after taking some fishing nets which were his own property, he returned to the shore.

On the afternoon of Jan. 27 De Clark was seen standing on the ice at the foot of the intake by Adolph Wold, a fisherman, who lives at Clarendon avenue and the beach. That was the last time that De Clark was seen alive.

When Detectives Schneider, Bussian, Zabel, and Gallagher precariously made their way across the ice to the lighthouse, several blocks out in the lake, they found things precisely as De Rock later described them.

Coat and Cap Found.

Provisions to last a month were frozen. On a table beside the bed lay De Clark's coat carelessly thrown across it. His cap had been found the day before washed up on the ice at the foot of Lakeside place, a block south of the intake.

Wilkins, who lives at 2019 Oakley avenue, will be called before the drainage board today to explain why he did not stay at his post, and why the lights upon the intake have not been lit since Jan. 27. Wilkins said that he had not been near the intake for two weeks.

ASKS LAW TO GUARD EYESIGHT.

Ald. Nance Offers Ordinance to Force Reporting of Babies' Sore Eyes to Health Department.

A plan to check the frequency of infant blindness was inaugurated by Dr. Willis O. Nance, alderman of the Seventh ward, at the council meeting Monday evening. He had referred to the health committee an ordinance requiring that all cases of sore eyes in infants less than a week old be reported to the health department immediately.

"The ordinance is another step in the modern propaganda for the better control of infectious diseases," said Dr. Nance. "Babies' sore eyes is the cause of about 30 per cent of all blindness. If not promptly recognized and treated the ailment is almost certain to destroy the sight permanently."

The duty of reporting the eye trouble is placed upon the physician, midwife, or nurse in the case, and the penalty for failure to comply is a fine of not less than $5 nor more than $25 for each offense.

Suspect Incendiarism in Fire.

Three one story frame dwellings at 1504-1508-1508 East Fifty-sixth street were burned early yesterday. Incendiarism is suspected. The loss is around $5,000.

ALCO
Motor Trucks

The Factor of Safety is Five

EVERY Alco truck is built to withstand a shock five times greater than the normal strain. The factor of safety built into the Alco truck is five. This is a high factor, as all engineers know. In a huge bridge the factor of safety is only two.

Assume that a five ton Alco truck with five tons aboard is travelling along at nine miles an hour. Assume that a rear wheel drops accidentally into a hole ten inches deep. The rear springs, the rear axle and the frame are prepared for the shock.

They are prepared for even a far greater shock—and not only one but hundreds and hundreds like it.

For Alco springs, and axles and frames are tested in the Alco shops by special superhuman machines which register how much strain each can withstand.

As an instance an Alco truck is run over the country near the Alco shops for a road test. A wheel is dropped into a hole. An instrument attached records the strain in pounds pressure. The Alco engineers know by reading the instrument if the springs have the desired factor of safety.

To test an axle in the Alco physics laboratory, the axle is placed on a machine representing spring seats and wheel centers, and the load is applied.

If it is a five ton rear axle the pressure applied is five times the capacity load, or 25 tons, plus the weight of the chassis. The machine which does the testing is capable of a draw-bar pull of 500,000 pounds.

That is the reason you never see the wheels of an Alco truck toeing in at the top and out at the bottom. When a wheel toes in at the top and out at the bottom it is a sure indication of a weak axle.

But a large factor of safety, such as five, in the Alco truck, does not mean a super-heavy monster.

The Alco truck is no heavier than the average truck of its rating. The reason for this is clear; by using materials of high physical properties with great ductility—materials that show a high elastic limit and tensile strength—materials minus seams, flaws, checks, pipes and cracks, the weight can be reduced to a minimum.

The analysis and specifications covering these materials are determined by long heat treating and laboratory tests—an experience common to the American Locomotive Company.

A large factor of safety also means long life. No one can tell how many years an Alco frame will last—perhaps longer than a man's lifetime. A front or a rear axle may last twenty, thirty or forty years.

And thus through the truck. An Alco truck never wears out.

Few considerations are as important in buying a truck as that of the factor of safety. Study it in the Alco exhibit at the motor truck show. You will see with your own eyes what a transportation experience of seventy-six years means in motor truck building.

Dancing in Schools Has Warm Endorsement.

SOCIAL centers in the public schools and dancing, a recent innovation adopted by the Chicago board of education, were defended by William L. Bodine, superintendent of compulsory education, in an address yesterday before the La Grange Woman's club.

"Chicago leads and the world follows in child welfare work, and its public school system is the peer of any educational and humanitarian public service estate on American shores," said Mr. Bodine.

"Chicago makes better provision than New York for full day sessions at the elementary schools. New York's schools opened in September with 65,000 pupils on half day sessions—an increase of 10,000 over the preceding year. Chicago showed a decrease in half day sessions, with an increase in new schools, and has reduced half day sessions from 17,000 pupils ten years ago, to 3,248. The public schools care for the defective, and the board of education is the city's greatest factor in child welfare work. In Boston the transportation of crippled children is maintained by private philanthropy. In Chicago it is provided for in the public schools.

"President James B. McFatrich has inspired the ambition of thousands of ambitious poor boys and girls by his policy of an expanded vocational education which will give an uplift to future useful citizenship. The progressive administration of Ella Flagg Young, with the harmonious coöperation of principals and teachers, has made an impression for good on the life of Chicago.

"Social centers at the schools for young people should be commended, and not condemned. Their expansion merely means more constructive agencies for young people between 16 and 20 years of age. They will eventually eliminate the 'tough' dance hall with the special bar permit and the poolrooms, that are merely incubators of crime.

"It is far better to have dignified dancing at social centers, properly supervised, than to drive girls into the portals of the public dance halls, where the Salomic contortions of the 'grizzly bear' and 'bunny hug' create the prejudice that exists today against dancing. I defy any sham reformer to name a single instance where public school social centers ever caused a girl's delinquency.

"It would be superficial reform to save a girl from the cradle to 'sweet 16' and then not provide a decent social recreation center to combat the temptations of a destructive agency that confronted her. The young man at 17 also should have a constructive factor to keep him out of the poolrooms. We have 936 pool rooms and only nineteen boys' clubs in Chicago. Do you wonder why the jails are filled so much with young fellows between 17 and 20 years of age? What better indorsement does the social center desire than the fact that Dean Sumner, chairman of the vice commission and a churchman of high repute, advocates it, and is chairman of the school board committee that has charge of social centers?"

Warns Against Overanxiety.

"How to make a child sick," was included in the advice given to the members of the Park Ridge Woman's club yesterday by Dr. Lena K. Sadler. The following rule, according to Dr. Sadler, will seldom fail:

"Lean before your child and say anxiously: 'Are you sure you feel all right, dear?' 'Haven't you a pain anywhere?' 'Swallow and see if it hurts.' 'Your cheeks look so red.'"

"Do not allow your fear ridden conversation to take place in the presence of the child," continued the doctor. "Never acknowledge the child is afraid. Always tell him he is the opposite. If you tell a boy he is a coward often enough he is sure to be one."

Little Quips and Quirks.

The Return of Charles Dickens.

BY RICHARD HENRY LITTLE.

MR. SMITH sat long after midnight in front of the gas log gazing tenderly at a picture of Charles Dickens which stood in the place of honor in the very center of the mantelpiece.

"Dear old Charley Dickens," mused Mr. Smith, "the master of them all. And this is his centenary! Well, the world can not do him too much honor and reverence! What a wonderful thing it would be for humanity if he lived now. He took hold of so many great evils and by his stroke of genius corrected them. Yet how many terrible wrongs there are today, and there is no one to strike the blows that would annihilate them and benefit oppressed humanity as did Charley Dickens—I beg your pardon——"

Mr. Smith had looked around and observed that a stranger was sitting in a chair by his side, gazing thoughtfully into the fire.

"If you're a burglar," observed Mr. Smith, "you needn't bother; I'm a newspaper man." Mr. Smith paused and then stared open mouthed at his visitor. "Look here, I can hardly be mistaken! I know your wonderful face too well! You are—you are—Charles Dickens."

"Yes," said the stranger; "it is my centenary, and I have come back to see if there are still those who love me."

"You will find countless thousands," said Mr. Smith softly. "I was wishing only a moment ago that you were here. There is so much work for you to do! We need you so very much! There are so many evils which your pen could wipe away."

"Is the influence of what I wrote when I was of the world all gone?" asked Mr. Dickens gently. "Did I not choose the themes that will remain as long as the world stands? Have men and women changed so utterly from what they were when I wrote of them?"

"Why, no," said Mr. Smith, "not exactly; but modern conditions have created new types. Types which did not exist when you wrote."

"They probably only differ a little in dress and speech," said Mr. Dickens. "At heart they are the same. For all the individuals who vex you today you will probably find their counterparts in the characters that I put into my books sixty odd years ago."

"In a good many cases, yes," answered Mr. Smith; "but, picking up one instance at random, let me cite you to a class of persons, the bane of our present day civilization, and whom we call loan sharks. There are no loan sharks in your books, Mr. Dickens; that is why I wish you were with us today to write of them as they deserve!"

"Loan sharks! loan sharks!" mused Mr. Dickens. "No, I have never heard the word before. Describe them to me."

Mr. Smith immediately told his strange visitor of loan sharks and their methods, when suddenly Mr. Dickens stopped him.

"Wait," he said. "Get me that story which is perhaps the most popular tale I ever wrote. Bring me your copy of 'A Christmas Carol.'"

Mr. Smith went to his library and returned with the volume.

"Now," said Mr. Dickens, "from what you have said of loan sharks and their ways I believe that what I wrote over half a century ago will apply to them, word for word. Listen while I refresh your memory, and see if the description I give here of Old Scrooge does not fit your modern day loan shark."

Opening the book Mr. Dickens read slowly the following:

Oh! he was a tight fisted hand at the grindstone, Scrooge! a squeezing, wrenching, grasping, scraping, clutching, covetous old sinner! Hard and sharp as flint, from which no steel had ever struck out generous fire; secret and self-contained, and solitary as an oyster. External heat and cold had little influence on Scrooge. No warmth could warm, no wintry weather chill him. No wind that blew was bitterer than he, no falling snow was more intent upon its purpose, no pelting rain less open to entreaty.

"That's it!" burst in Mr. Smith excitedly, "you're hitting off a loan shark exactly."

"Wait," said Mr. Dickens, with a smile, "let me read the rest of this description." And Mr. Dickens read on:

Nobody ever stopped him in the streets to say with gladsome looks:

"My dear Scrooge, how are you? When will you come to see me?"

No beggars implored him to bestow a trifle, no children asked him what it was o'clock, no man or woman ever once in all his life inquired the way to such and such a place of Scrooge. Even the blind men's dogs appeared to know him; and when they saw him coming on would tug their owners into doorways and up courts, and then would wag their tails as though they said:

"No eye at all is better than an evil eye dark master!"

"That's exactly right!" exclaimed Mr. Smith, "why, your 'Christmas Carol' wouldn't have to be changed hardly at all, except as regards the location of the action and some of the phraseology to make it a story of a typical Chicago loan shark. Now when the ghost of Marley comes in he could take the loan shark around and show him his unhappy victims.

"Yes," said Mr. Dickens, "I could have the ghost of Jacob Marley showing the loan shark his victims and the scenes of desolation and unhappiness he had caused just as he took old Scrooge around on the night before Christmas."

"Indeed you could," said Smith excitedly. "In place of the ghost of Marley taking old Scrooge out to see poor Bob Crachitt's little home and the death of Tiny Tim, you could have him lead the loan shark to a home where motherless little children are waiting for the return of their father, who was driven to borrow money from a loan shark to pay for a coffin and a burial place for his wife, and who, although he had paid back the amount he owed four times over, was still in the remorseless clutches of the loan shark, who followed him without pity and caused him to lose position after position until finally the children are starving. You could have the little ones sitting on a winter night in a damp, dingy, basement room without heat or light, waiting, waiting, waiting through the hours of darkness for the step of their father outside the door. Then you could have the ghost take the loan shark to the river where the corpse of the father is floating in the murky water."

"Yes," said Mr. Dickens, "and after that I would have the spirit of Marley lead the loan shark to see the other dreadful things you have described until finally he is overtaken by remorse and he starts back and says, 'Stop! I've seen enough! I can bear no more! From this moment I swear never again to grind down the poor or to take advantage of a fellow man's extremity.'"

"Wait! Mr. Dickens," exclaimed Mr. Smith, rising excitedly from his chair, "you were all right until you reached a certain point. The 'Christmas Carol' could be brought up to date and a loan shark substituted for old Scrooge without many changes. But the closing pages of the book would have to be entirely rewritten!"

"Then I think I need your collaboration here," admitted Mr. Dickens. "You know these people better than I do. Suppose you take up the story at this point."

"Then to make it true to life it must end this way," asserted Mr. Smith firmly; and he wrote rapidly for ten minutes, and then read aloud to Mr. Dickens his idea for the proper modern ending of the "Christmas Carol."

"I must go now," said the ghost of Jacob Marley. "I can show you no more."

"Not yet you won't go," snarled old Scrooge. "When we started out on this excursion tonight I told you I would not pay the street car fares, and you said you would pay all the expenses. But the money you had was so hot nobody would take it, and so you borrowed $5 of me, didn't you?"

"I did; but I've paid it back three times over."

"Well and good," continued old Scrooge, "but you signed one of my regular money loaning contracts. You've paid me back only $15, so you still owe me $35."

"My word!" ejaculated the ghost of Jacob Marley. "The system has certainly improved since I was on earth."

"It has, indeed," grinned old Scrooge, and, giving a signal, a bailiff, waving some legal documents, stepped out and took possession of Marley's chains and brimstone.

"Great weeping willows!" gasped the ghost of Jacob Marley. "I want to get out of this. I'm going right back to my grave."

"Too late," chortled old Scrooge. "You owe me something like $85.39 now, and I've attached your grave."

"I'll hide behind my tombstone, anyhow," moaned the ghost of Jacob Marley.

"You owe me $104.50 by this time," observed old Scrooge with a grin; "and as for your tombstone, you needn't worry about that, for we seized it on an execution writ three hours ago and are cutting it up to make paper weights."

"Then," sobbed the ghost of Jacob Marley, "I must return to the place where the fire burneth forever and shall not be quenched."

"No, you won't," chuckled old Scrooge. "I garnisheed you down there, and they've thrown you out."

"At least," moaned the ghost of Jacob Marley, "I can keep my job of haunting. You can't take that away from me, because I'm a regular ghost and I've got a haunter's license."

"You'll do no more haunting until you pay me," grinned old Scrooge; "for, if you remember, I've taken away your chains and your brimstone."

"Mercy! mercy!" shrieked the ghost of Jacob Marley; but his appeal fell on deaf ears: old Scrooge was a Chicago loan shark, and knew not the meaning of the word mercy.

And so, dear reader, drop a silent tear for the unhappy ghost of Jacob Marley, who made the fatal mistake of trying to bring a loan shark to repentance.

"There! Mr. Dickens," concluded Mr. Smith, proudly, "that's the way the revised version of the 'Christmas Carol' must end, to make it true to modern conditions."

"For one thing, at least," said Mr. Dickens, "I am truly thankful, and that is that I lived when I did and not now. I could not have written as many books as I did, had I written today, because to describe one single modern character, this loan shark, I would have had to take old Scrooge and Bill Sikes and Fagin and Uriah Heep and Jonas Chuzzlewit and Ralph Nickleby and Rogue Riderhood and put them all together and made a single individual out of them."

A rooster crowed loudly outside—Mr. Smith's home being in Sheridan Park—and Mr. Dickens, waving a good-by with his hand, disappeared into thin air.

"Um," yawned Mr. Smith, starting up. "Why, it's almost daylight, and I've been sitting here staring at the picture of Charley Dickens for three hours—or have I been asleep?"

Wants Quilt Pieces.

"I saw that some one has a bundle of pieces, also some silk scraps to give away. I should like so much to have them! My bedding is greatly in need of new quilt tops. I have nothing at present to exchange for them, but perhaps I could work to repay the kindness.
"MRS. MARY McC."

The articles you enumerate were disposed of elsewhere before your letter apprised us of your need.

Some kind hearted woman, reading of it, will be moved to put together another bundle with which you may renovate the quilts.

Little Girl Wants Music.

"Will you please send me the music offered by 'H. M. H.'? I am a widow in destitute circumstances. My little girl is taking piano lessons. I find it very hard to purchase book and music and would be very thankful for the same.
"MRS. P. W."

If the music you ask for had not gone out of our hands your letter would have been answered by mail. I print it to salve your disappointment by the hope of another supply. Readers will please observe that the correspondent is a mother who cannot afford to buy the music her little girl should have. The address is in our books.

Asks for Old Carpet.

"I should like some carpets or strips, as the floor is so cold for the babies and the old house we live in has such horrid floors!

"To mend a hot water bag use a small piece of adhesive tape. Press on the patch with a hot knife.
MRS. AGNES R."

"My floor is all open with cracks. Won't you please help me get an old rug or some old carpet. I should be thankful ever so much. I am not able to buy one. My husband is out of work on account of being sick. I hope you will be so kind as to get me a rug or carpet from some kind person.
MRS. L. B."

I bracket the two requests that more attention may be attracted to each.

Bits of old carpeting that may be sewed together and faded rugs for which the well-to-do housemother has no further need, could not be better bestowed than by sending them into one of the cheerless nurseries, of which we have here a glimpse. "These horrid floors" and "open with cracks" send chills up the back.

Will Give Abdominal Belt.

"I read in your Corner a request for an abdominal belt. If you will kindly send me the person's address I shall be able to supply the need. If you have any requests on hand for canceled stamps I shall be able to supply them also.
MARY A. W."

The want to which you have especial reference has been met by another liberal soul. I register your offer with gratitude.

Will seekers for canceled stamps note the kind offer here set down?

Cigar Bands Sought.

"I have wanted to get some cigar bands, but cannot get enough together to make anything. As most of my friends do not smoke, I can't get very many. If you could help me in securing some cigar bands I should be very thankful to you.
EMMA L."

Our experience in collecting cigar bands leads us to believe smokers to be a generous hearted class. We shall further prove this by collecting enough bands to last you through the rest of the season. When you have a full supply let us know.

Gift of White Pieces.

"I have a large roll of old white pieces, suitable for sickness. Any one may have them by calling or sending for them. MRS. JOHN E. T."

In response to the above we conferred at once with the beautiful organization of young colaborers in your city who are to some extent our almoners there, and ever our valued [illegible] leagues. In reply we had the following:

"One of the chapter girls has called for [the] bundle of cloths. We shall hold it in readiness for the first call we have made for it.
"A. M. W., Secretary."

I cannot express as I would our grateful appreciation of the blending of individual with organized charities effected by this one of our auxiliaries. The reports forwarded to us are models of consciseness and comprehension.

Sick Boy Asks for Books.

"I am a boy of 15 who has always had poor health and I am a shut-in much of the time. I have little to amuse me and should be glad if somebody would send me games for indoors, puzzles, picture books, or stories, or anything for one of my age. I should also like to hear from boys and girls of my age who are shut-ins.
KENNETH [illegible]."

Fifteen and shut-in through the heart of this bitter winter from sports that make it a joyous season for the healthy boy and girl! I [illegible] over the pathetic letter to our junior members. Set at once about brightening the lot of this your comrade in spirit. Send books, pictures, games, letters to him after you have secured his address from me.

Think of him when you skate and coast and build snow forts and enjoy these the more for the thought that you ministered to him.

Who Has Spare Violin?

"Is it possible for me to get a violin through your Corner? I have been reading so much about it that I thought I should write and ask if some kind person has one she or he would not want. I should like very much to get it, but cannot afford to buy one. My father is dead and we have a large family to look out for.
"MAY McD."

Thus writes a young girl. If there be a disused violin—almost forgotten by you—lying dusty and silent upon an upper shelf, get it down and let the fatherless girl have it.

It is "rubbish" now. In her hands it will be a living joy.

Laura Jean Libbey's Comment and Advice.

Feeding the Heart.

BY LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

[Copyright: 1912: By Laura Jean Libbey.]

HUSBANDS say, "What's the use of making love to one's wife after one has wooed and wed her?" But there never was a graver mistake than this one.

A wife's heart has more need of feeding than that of the maiden's. Hope must be mixed with her love to give it stability. Every man of marriageable age should set about finding a sweetheart that he might not be left alone and wretched in his old age, with a heart so shrunken from want of feeding and so faint that it is past reviving. A taste of love now and then does not signify. It only serves to whet the appetite, leaving it hungrier than before. He who takes such a dose of love at one time that his heart recoils from it ever after is quite as foolish as he who wilfully starves his heart. The heart is its own censor of what is best to accept or to reject. We all know what happens when one is surfeited with sweets. Food cloys and the heart determines to go on a diet.

It is dangerous ot attempt to feed the heart at this stage of affairs. All it needs at such a time is simply quiet and rests. I have often wondered why Cupid, who seemingly knows so much about the workings of the heart, does not constitute himself a physician to cure its ills. The heart feeds upon its fancies.

There are different kinds of love; there is healthy food and that which is pernicious. Passion may seem to satisfy the heart for a while, but it is soon discovered that it cannot thrive upon it; it sickens and wastes its rich treasures. True, pure love alone is the only food which makes the heart vigorous and true to the purpose for which it was created. Great care must be observed upon that on which the heart is fed.

He Cries So!

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 24 years old and am engaged to a young man about my own age. We love each other very dearly, but there is one thing we cannot agree upon, and that is this: Several weeks ago, after having had a quarrel over some trivial affair, I noticed that he had been crying, and several times since then I have referred to it, perhaps sarcastically, and told him I thought a man ought not to shed tears in a case like that, and also told him it showed a weakness. He insisted it was due to his great love for me, and that nothing at all could make him weep before he met me. He said he became all worked up over what I had said in that moment of anger.

"I have also noticed that he never appears jealous. Try as I might I cannot arouse his jealousy; nothing I do or say to other men seems to phase him in the least. I called his attention to it once and he told me true love knows no jealousy and that his love for me was so great he felt he could trust me with anybody, any place.

"Now, I am very jeealous of him and he has on on several occasions aroused my jealousy to a point where it was exceedingly noticeable, and it took my utmost power to control myself. When speaking of it he simply says he did it unconsciously, and that if I loved him I would not notice it. Now, do you think it shows a lack of love?
WORRIED."

The man is evidently greatly in love with you. I think I should, if I were you, accept his explanation of his tears. You are most unwise to attempt to arouse jealousy.

Concerning the Ring.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I wish to know in advance of purchasing whether or not a ring costing from $35 to $50 would be appropriate as a gift from a man in steady employment whose income does not exceed $75 a month. Jewelers suggest nothing less than a stone costing some hundred dollars, and, if this is the usual gift, it is not surprising that marriage with the average man is on the decline. Such an amount will stock a small home with furniture.
X. Y. Z."

Thirty-five to $50, under the circumstances, is quite enough to pay for the ring. Go to some reliable concern and tell them you want as good a stone as possible for the amount and that you simply cannot go over the amount you decide on.

Economical Housekeeping

Mutton with Dickens.

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

THE joint of mutton is a great and honored English institution. Someone has recently told me of her weariness of "cold joint" when visiting in that country, but how delicious and more to her mind she found the same thing in Scotland. Finding it so she said to her hostess, using the foreign way of speaking:

"How does Mary make this mutton? I have cold joint and cold joint in England, but this is the most delicious thing I ever ate."

Mary's reply in broad Scotch was: "I put in one small onion and one large carrot and that takes off the sheep flavor."

There are scores of references to boiled mutton in the novels of Charles Dickens, but none more interesting than that in David Copperfield. David, in his bachelor's apartment, is at the mercy of the most tyrannical, slovenly, and thieving of all the landladies pictured by Dickens, one Mrs. Crupp.

When David has the Micawbers, than whom no husband and wife ever enjoyed eating more or could make better punch, flip, etc.—with Traddles—we have some most entertaining climaxes and illustrations of Micawber versatility—in this case exercised muttonward.

But let us begin to quote where the punch begins to be made, that drink which Mr. Micawber sometimes describes as "That beverage, which is peculiarly associated in our minds with the roast beef of old England." Micawber could not make it while he was exposing Uriah Heep's villainies, because "this is an occupation, of all others, requiring an untroubled mind and self-respect."

"I never saw a man so thoroughly enjoy himself amid the fragrance of lemon peel and sugar, the odor of burning rum, and the steam of boiling water, as Mr. Micawber did that afternoon. It was wonderful to see his face shining at us out of a thin cloud of these delicate fumes, as he stirred, and mixed, and tasted, and looked as if he were making, instead of punch, a fortune for his family down to the latest posterity. . . .

"I suppose—I never ventured to inquire, but I suppose—that Mrs. Crupp, after having fried the soles, was taken ill. Because we broke down at that point. The leg of mutton came up very red within and very pale without, besides having a foreign substance of a gritty nature sprinkled over it, as if it had had a fall in the ashes of that remarkable kitchen fireplace. . . .

"'My dear friend Copperfield,' said Mr. Micawber, 'accidents will occur in the best regulated families, and in families not regulated by the pervading influence which sanctifies while it enhances the—a—I would say, in short, by the influence of a woman in the lofty character of wife, they may be expected with confidence and must be borne with philosophy. If you will allow me to take the liberty of remarking that there are few comestibles better in their way than a Devil, and that I believe, with a little division of labor, we could accomplish a good one if the young person in attendance could produce a gridiron I would put it to you that this little misfortune may be easily repaired.'

"There was a gridiron in the pantry on which my morning rasher of bacon was cooked. We had it in a twinkling and immediately applied ourselves to carrying Mr. Micawber's idea into effect. The division of labor to which he had referred was this: Traddles cut the mutton into slices, Mr. Micawber (who could do anything of this sort to perfection) covered them with pepper, mustard, salt, and cayenne; I put them on the gridiron, turned them with a fork and took them off under Mr. Micawber's directions, and Mrs. Micawber heated and continually stirred some mushroom ketchup in a little saucepan.

"When we had slices enough done to begin upon we fell to with our sleeves still tucked up at the wrists, more slices sputtering and blazing on the fire and our attention divided between the mutton on our plates and the mutton then preparing.

"What with the novelty of this cookery, the excellence of it, the bustle of it, the frequent starting up to look after it, the frequent sitting down to dispose of it, as the crisp slices came off the gridiron, hot and hot, the being so busy, so flushed with the fire, so amused, and in the midst of such a tempting noise and savor we reduced the leg of mutton to the bone."

Lillian Russell's Beauty Secrets.

The Flare of Electric Lights.

BY LILLIAN RUSSELL.

[Copyright: 1912: By Lillian Russell.]

THE blatant, dazzling civilization of this era has inflicted an additional peril in the floods of almost blinding light which electricity pours upon us in public places. I am sure much injury is inflicted upon the eyes by the whirling and wavering and incessantly changing public signs that one is obliged to gaze upon. The eye is most sympathetic to the general nervous condition and to the mental state. The secretions of the eye are modified, in quality and amount, by the state of the mind.

The whole body is, of course, lowered in tone by the effect of grief, anger, or revenge, but the eye is the first to show it and feel its effect.

The eyes must be exercised, just as the body, in order to be in public health. Acuteness of vision is simply a matter of practice.

The American Indian's keenness of vision is due to the training that he is obliged to undergo. Change of occupation and open air work often will restore the eyesight of one who has worked incessantly indoors and suffered in consequence.

The strongest and most dominating influences of life are received through the eye, and it is impossible to overestimate its importance.

"Nature makes no mistakes, but men and women make a great many." Try to see right. To be blessed with an appreciation of beauty is pure gain. And the proportion in which people see beauty in simple things is a never failing scale by which you can measure the quality of their culture and refinement.

Self-interest blinds itself to all but personal things. That is why so many young people never know the power of their attractions until they get away from selfish associations.

Revery, imagination, and the greatest of all, sympathy, weave associations about natural objects and develop this sense of beauty. And those only half live who do not see it.

To have eyes and see not, what a pity! With all of the beauties of nature before them, many self-centered, self-conscious persons, go through life as if suffering from acute myopia.

Remember: The amount of uplifting joy that shall enter into each life will be measured by the material or spiritual quality with which each sees humanity.

Lillian Russell's Answers.

READER: Buttermilk is good for taking off freckles. Use it just as you would water, only using the hands instead of a wash cloth. Allow the buttermilk to dry. Lemon juice is also good. This treatment must be kept up for about two weeks, and I am sure it will help you to get rid of your freckles. However, give this a fair trial, and if the freckles are stubborn and will not submit to that treatment send me a self-addressed envelope and I shall be glad to send you the formula for a stronger bleach.

ELIZABETH: Don't you think you can use a little will power and break yourself of that awful habit of biting your nails? Why don't you manicure your nails and get them in good condition, then you will be proud of them and won't want to spoil them by biting them. The nails should be manicured at least once a week and each morning after washing the hands gently press down the cuticle at the base of the nails with the blunt end of the orange wood stick. This will keep them in good condition. Never use sharp instruments under the nails as the sharp blade not only injures the delicate surface, but roughens it, and the rough surface attracts dust, and it is almost impossible to keep the nails clean. If you care for them send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and I shall be glad to send you complete instructions for manicuring.

MRS. K.: I am sorry, but I cannot tell you anything about the article you mentioned, but will be glad to send you the formula for the skin food I have used with great success for over twenty years, and directions for facial massage, if you will send me a self-addressed stamped envelope.

School and Church News.

Religious Workers Discuss Newspapers.

The general awakening to the need of a more thorough understanding and a closer relationship between the press and the pulpit formed the topic of discussion yesterday at the Press club dinner to members of the publicity committee of the Men and Religion Forward movement. George W. Coleman of Boston, president of the Associated Advertising Clubs of America; W. T. Ellis, secretary of the forward movement committee; G. W. Benn of the Dallas News; F. W. Ober, a New Yrk editor; and Lieut. Col. E. W. Halford, former editor of the Indianaplis Journal, were the speakers.

The necessity for the church to begin to discriminate between legitimate news and materal properly belonging in the advertising columns of the papers, and the corresponding duty of the press to take cognizance of live church news urged by all speakers.

The purpose of the commission is to ascertain what is being done by newspapers "in advancing the cause of humanity" and to determine what they ought to do.

Invoices "Asset of Experience."

The difference between a "good" man and a "poor" man was outlined yesterday by Walter Dill Scott, professor of psychology of Northwestern university, who spoke before the Executive club at its weekly luncheon at the Hotel La Salle. An "invoice of the asset called experience," Prof. Scott said, would show the following qualities:

A memory more or less stored with useful facts; a power of recalling former experiences quickly and the ability to profit thereby.

A store of useful judgments gained by a richness of experience that can be used at any time to form quick judgments.

A mass of habits of quick acting and thinking.

"The man who has reduced his work to a habit is hopelessly in a rut," said Prof. Scott. "An act performed with attention is done carefully; one performed by habit is done carelessly. But not all habits are weaknesses. Habits are formed unconsciously and the individual must be careful to cultivate the useful habit and overcome the habits detrimental to himself and his work."

These are the advantages of habit given by Prof. Scott:

Habit makes it possible to do several things at once.

Habit relieves exhaustion and makes it possible to work more hours.

Habit gives permanence to action. Makes men dependable."

BY PERCY HAMMOND.

LAST evening's episode at the Grand passed placidly without temperamental disturbance of any sort. The Irish present refrained from tumult, and accepted the "calumny" of "The Playboy of the Western World" either in sullen silence or according to Mr. Synge's apologia printed in the play bill. Lady Gregory, sitting alone in the last row, thus experienced the unique sensation of witnessing a tranquil premiere of Mr. Synge's comedy, and as the curtain fell at the end she looked rather bored at the absence of demonstration. Among our "talking points" we may now include the boast that Chicago is one of the two capitals that have scrutinized "The Playboy" unruffled and serene. Our calmness and sophistication in the matter was proved further by the empty chairs in the theater, despite the considerable front page frenzy and the efforts of the Anti-Cruelty society, which profited by the performance.

And what a manneriy incident it was to have lashed the sentimental Chauncy Olcott Gaels into all that patriotic fury. Merely a musical, brooding, imaginative, sardonic bit of humorous elaboration more interesting for its rich harmonies, imagery, and satire than for its importance as a social document. Wonderful words and collections of words and glints of refreshing character, and a bitter joke of a situation just as applicable to any other race as to the Irish. Margaret Flaherty, human, primitive, young, is fascinated by Christy Mahon, a slim egoist, because she thinks he has had nerve enough to slay his persecuting father with a loy, whatever that may be. And she finds at the end that there is a wide gap between a gallous story and a dirty deed. Nothing whatever to become inflamed about. Mr. Yeats, whose symbolic play, "Cathleen Nihoulihan," preceded the erstwhile trouble maker last evening, testifies that he knows of an incident in Kerry much like this basic circumstance in "The Playboy." A while ago I spoke of the strong, primitive "Pegeen Mike," and I wonder why that rôle was given to Miss Eithne Magee, a delightful ingenue, rather than to Miss Sara Allgood, who has the big, brave personality that seems to my casual observation of the character to be better suited to its impersonation. There is a reason, of course, and a good reason, and the futility of some criticism is indicated thereby.

"The Playboy of the Western World" will, no doubt, be regarded as an unusually enjoyable and different comedy, though not the masterpiece its traducers would have us believe. Every one has read it, or parts of it, like the mayor, and has found it stupid or inspiring, the divergence of opinion being much like that about Scotch whisky. One likes it or one likes it not, according to one's taste and disposition. But what about the Irish acting? To me it is the real acting, because, strictly speaking, it is not "acting." There is charm in the naïveté of their method; they merely come and go, speak and deport themselves, in quick, soft, "matter-of-fact undertones," as if they were living their play, rather than giving a performance of it. They seem to be so much themselves. Mr. Archer has called it the art of the artless and he found in it considerable artifice. But last night in "The Playboy" they went through the scenes with graphic awkwardness, with no postures nor attitudes—just as if there were no such thing as a stage manager to tell them the conventions—a refreshing, flavorous exhibition. Mr. Fred O'Donovan as the playboy posed a little now and then, but the affectation of his rôle, no doubt, justified his graceful posturing. The performance was full of little half lights and there was no diagrammed crossing and recrossing of the stage and the musical brogue—not the Costigan, the Mulligan, or the O'Dowd burlesque, but a savory accent with beauty of timbre and cadence. It was magical, racy of the soil, and charming.

They sound the language always in a minor key—the English tongue on Irish lips—plaintive, full of melody, "airy," and grateful. Two fine comedians in particular, Mr. J. M. Kerrigan as Pegeen's discarded suitor, and Mr. Arthur Sinclair as Michael James, the publican, acted deliciously. Last evening's audience grew fond of them before the performance was over.

Preceding "The Playboy" Mr. Yeats' "Kathleen-ni-Houlihan" was given and that crusader for the lost art of musical speech would surely have been pleased with the fashion in which Miss Allgood in the character symbolic of Ireland sang his lovely lines.

Society was well represented in the boxes and elsewhere.

Lady Augusta Gregory, who has been active in guiding the Irish Players' destinies, was not entirely at ease, either, until after the first act of "The Playboy." She had been told there would be no riot, but had not heard why the managers were so confident. She had been told the same confident story in the east, and a few minutes later had found the air filled with verbal brickbats.

"I don't know," she said nervously. "There ought to be no trouble, but one never knows what to expect. In a crowd there are always some contrary people."

It was announced that with the best seats selling at $5, total receipts were in excess of $9,500. About half of this will go to the Anti-Cruelty society.

Theatrical News Notes.

Sarah Bernhardt is to enter vaudeville, according to a cable message received by Martin Beck, the head of the Orpheum circuit in this country. Beck says that as a result of several weeks' negotiations, Mme. Bernhardt has signed a contract to appear for forty weeks in this country under his management. With the exception of two weeks' appearance in vaudeville at the Colliseum in London it will be her first appearance outside of the legitimate stage. Mme. Bernhardt will be seen in a repertoire of the big scenes from many of her successes. She will also give a number of one act plays new to America. She will sail for New York late in October, opening there early in November and bringing with her sixteen members of her own company. Mme. Bernhardt's initial vaudeville appearance in this country will be made at the Palace theater, which Beck is building on Broadway, between Forty-sixth and Forty-seventh streets.

Fred C. Whitney, under whose management Kubelik is making his present American tour, declares that the violinist has said that this will be his last tour of America. The violinist probably will continue playing in Europe after this season, but he finds the trip to America and the traveling here irksome, and, being already a wealthy man, he does not intend to make the trip again.

Henry Miller is rehearsing a new play by A. E. Thomas called "The Rainbow," which will be presented in New York within a few weeks. "The Rainbow" is a comedy in three acts, with the story laid in New York and on the Riviera.

Liebler & Co., who are about to make a Dickens centenary revival of "Oliver Twist," have received the original costume of Bill Sykes, worn by E. L. Davenport, nearly half a century ago, and it will be worn in the coming production by E. L. Harding, who will play Sykes. The costume, somewhat motheaten, but still serviceable, is the gift of E. B. Tillon, a business man of New York.

Henri Bernstein's newest play, "The Onslaught," produced recently at the Gymnase theater in Paris, will be presented in New York next season by Charles Frohman. "The Onslaught" is an entirely different play from the manuscript that Bernstein is writing in English for Miss Ethel Barrymore next season. Frohman says that "The Onslaught," when transferred to the English-speaking stage, will require fewer changes in text than almost any other contemporary French play; that, in fact, it will not need the hand of the adapter at all, but will stand literal translation.

Shuberts Get Music Hall.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—The Messrs. Shubert announce that they have the lease of the American Music hall in Chicago. The first attraction which they will book there will be "The Rose of Panama," now at Daly's theater, which will open in Chicago next week. Other productions now playing at the Shubert theaters will follow this initial attraction. It is promised that the American Music hall will be provided with the same kind of entertainment as that now at the Winter garden here.

MAYOR TELLS EGG SECRET.

Says One Minute After Water Boils Is Time to Take Them Out.

Mayor Harrison in the city hall yesterday found time to give his views on eggs and cooking 'em.

"If a head of a family can get possession of a dozen perfectly good eggs the best way to cook them is to drop them into cold water and let them remain in the water until one minute after it has come to a boil. That has been the chief secret of my success as a cook."

O'Shaughnessy Calls It a "Harmless Hoax."

BY JAMES O'SHAUGHNESSY.

WHY Irishmen should feel themselves incited to interference on seeing these Irish actors in "The Playboy of the Western World," goes over my head as fairly as Kathleen-ni-Houlihan went over the heads of those who made up the audience at the Grand last night.

I saw no one pawmingly making his way out during the show. Therefore I take it, if there were any in the audience of Irish heritage he was like myself, not there to be merely entertained. And not there to be thrilled. And not there to experience the downpull of his moral standards. Like me, he must have been there to observe for some critical purpose.

I remained until the play was finished. I did it so that I might be able to write this after honestly saying I had sat it through. I suppose the others who remained to the close were impelled by some sense of duty.

The play is not salacious at all, comparatively speaking. I have seen many plays that were dirtier in any one of various scenes than this play is in its whole length. In that respect it will prove perhaps a serious disappointment.

It is not an attack on any particular church. But considered in the light of a layman's knowledge of Christian doctrine it negotiates a somewhat slimy contact with the average American view of Christianity. I gathered my notions of this subject in Missouri, where I was born, and where I passed my early years. But I know something of the Irish notion, too, for I am heir to it. And I have foot toured Ireland. The Irish are an intensely Christian people—Catholic and Protestant, both here and in Ireland. Their Christianity may be latent, but it never dies. So it is not any surprise to me that any sort of Irishman would feel unpleased while listening to this play. I do not mean he would be impulsive in displeasure, but rather scrutinizingly wondering why he was there.

It is just Irish enough to be extremely remote from truth. It is Irish in some of its habiliments. Some other of its wrappings were brought from cities larger than any in Ireland. Still there is enough of the Irish in its aspect on which to base an argument.

As a piece of handicraft I regard it as Irish in its execution, but not in its construction.

As a piece of literature, "The Playboy of the Western World" is a vapid hoax.

Its cleverness is not sufficiently in evidence to justify it on that score. It is unpretty, but not enough so to excite anybody mentally. Even its squalor is labored and uninteresting.

The only thing about this whole "Playboy" affair that really interests me is the press agenting it has. This is good work. As an advertising expert I consider it the finest thing of the kind. Even the declining Manchu dynasty of Ireland has seemingly been ransacked in the interest of press agent efficiency.

The Irish-American of any generation who would throw an egg or a dead cat over the footlights at the "Playboy" is certainly not of any class of my acquaintance.

No Irish-American, I am sure, would interfere with the performance of his own volition. They are too tender hearted.

The "Playboy," however, may do a great deal of good by calling attention to the rising school of clever young writers in Ireland, of whom Synge, who confected the "Playboy," could hardly be called one in spirit.

CLUBWOMAN PROPHESIES NEW RACE OF AMAZONS.

Mrs. M. S. Grainger, State Federation President, Says Millennium of Peace Will Come Under Fair Sex Control.

Prophesy of a new race of Amazons was made by Mrs. Minnie Starr Grainger, president of the Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs, at the annual luncheon of the Arché club yesterday at the Congress hotel. About 500 women were present. Mrs. Twing B. Wiggin, president, presided.

"At the time of Hercules," said Mrs. Grainger, "the Amazons scoffed at the physical power of men. Women have been the trough of the wave, but they are getting to be the crest.

"We would like to show what we can do to make good government. We would like to handle the schools. We believe the millennium of peace would come if we were allowed to take our part.'

Hamlin Garland spoke on "The Chicago Theater."

The Story of Welsbach Service

Third:—Brilliance

The brilliance of a gas mantle depends upon the lighting-fluid in which the webbing is soaked.

A poorly-mixed or a weak fluid results in a poor mantle that will give a dim light.

Welsbach light fluids are always uniform because we own the mines where the monazite sand is found from which the fluid is made. And every process of manufacture, from mine to mantle is watched over by an army of Welsbach Chemists, each one an acknowledged expert in his own particular line.

As a result the genuine Welsbach mantle may be relied upon to give a brilliant lasting light.

Chicago Operator by Use of Phone to New York Makes Quick Deal.

SEED FIRM BUYS TRACT.

Big Apartment Building for Cornell Avenue; New Loop Lessees Revealed.

An interesting transaction with a New York end has just been closed involving the property at the southeast corner of Indiana avenue and Twenty-third street, 100x178 feet. It was sold by Henry H. Parrott of Chicago to Aaron Younker for $58,500, the latter securing $28,500 of the purchase money by a trust deed to Greenebaum Sons Bank and Trust company for five years at 5½ per cent. Draper & Kramer represented Mr. Parrott and Sydney F. Abel Mr. Younker.

A week ago in New York the property was sold by Mrs. Julia H. Boisse—whose stepfather bought the property in 1866—in part exchange for a loft building in New York.

The Marmac company, the owner of the loft building, is said never to have seen the Chicago property, and took it on the promise, it is said, that a buyer would be found for it. It is said to have been sold by a New York broker by long distance telephone to a Chicago operator, who two hours later, it is said, sold his contract for a profit of $2,000.

It is said the Indiana avenue property will be improved with a building devoted to the automobile business.

Bids In Flat Building.

The four story store and flat building at 1518-22 Michigan avenue, belonging to the estate of Lorenzo Pratt, was bid in for $130,250 by Elsie Goldenberg at the partition sale of the property yesterday. It was appraised at $180,000, and it had been thought it would bring a larger sum. The lot is 70x172 feet and the building, which contains two stores and twenty-eight apartments, is said to have a gross annual rent of $13,794.

Charles Dickinson of the Albert Dickinson Seed company has acquired by quitclaim from the Illinois Brick company a tract of 13.41 acres, bounded by Rockwell street and Campbell avenue and Thirty-fifth street and the south line of the Illinois and Michigan canal. Consideration nominal. In November of last year Mr. Dickinson acquired from the Austrian estate and others a tract of about thirty-six acres adjoining this, which gives him altogether about fifty acres. It is said to have been bought as an investment.

Loan on New Apartments.

Greenebaum Sons Bank and Trust company is trustee in a bond issue loan of $90,000, maturing on Feb. 1, 1920, to Anton E. Sward, secured by the Albemarle Terrace apartments at 5514-24 Cornell avenue. They will contain thirty apartments of four, five, and six rooms and will cost $175,000.

Edgar M. Snow & Co. represented the Chicago Orchestra association in the recent loan of $200,000, five years, at 4 per cent, which it secured from the Provident Life and Trust company of Philadelphia.

A tract of about eighty-three acres bounded by Belmont avenue, Diversey boulevard, North Sixty-eighth avenue, and the St. Paul tracks has been acquired by Charles Booth from Teresa Booth and the other heirs of David Booth. A nominal consideration is given, but the price is said to be around $40,000. It has been subdivided into 146 lots of a half acre each and will be known as the First Addition to Montclaire Gardens and will be handled by H. O. Stone & Co. Mr. Booth has conveyed the property to the Chicago Title and Trust company, trustee.

Loop Lessees Disclosed.

The recording of the lease during the day revealed the name of the lessees of the Caledonia building property at 178-182 West Washington street, recently leased by George F. Porter for ninety-nine years, from Dec. 1 last. The ground is 40x110 feet, south front, between La Salle and Fifth avenue, and the lease, which provides for an annual rent of $9,000, runs to Landon C. Rose of the Colonial Trust and Savings bank. It was subsequently assigned to George Lytton, Daniel J. Schuyler Jr., and Lee J. Lesser, who then executed a trust deed to the Colonial Trust and Savings bank, securing a bond issue loan of $30,000, ten years, at 6 per cent. Lee J. Lesser & Co. were the brokers.

William N. Eisendrath closed the purchase during the day from the estate of M. Gottfried of 100x150 feet, vacant, on the east side of Drexel boulevard, 100 feet north of Forty-fifth street. Mr. Eisendrath will erect thereon a private residence for himself. The consideration was nominal, but it is believed the actual price paid was $30,000. The sale was negotiated by B. W. Eisendrath, who represented both parties to the transaction.

E. F. Keebler & Co. have leased for David Mayer to H. T. Hahn & Co. the entire tenth floor of the new Goddard building, to be erected at the southwest corner of Wabash avenue and Monroe street, for ten years from the completion of the building, for a term rent of $60,000. Hahn & Co., who are large importers and jobbers in diamonds and jewelry, will move from the Powers building across the street, where they have been located for ten years.

Sees Year of Buildings.

Nelson M. Lampert, vice president of the Fort Dearborn National bank, who was the speaker at yesterday's weekly luncheon of the Cook county real estate board, said in part:

"The unusual abundance of money in the banks is being taken advantage of by Chicago real estate operators and owners to push their largest enterprises. That sort of faith and optimism are needed in other directions. In spite of the hesitation in other lines of endeavor we are able to point to new records in real estate improvement.

"Millions of dollars will be expended during 1912 in structural projects in Chicago and those nearby manufacturing districts of which this is the financial center. Not only will the banks here finance those gigantic operations but a host of capitalists, big and little, will eagerly purchase bond and mortgages representing such enterprises."

Rates Realty Securities High.

"Chicago real estate securities have become a favorite investment—not entirely because they pay well but largely because they have been placed on an unusually high plane through the character and sagacity of gentlemen like yourselves who are responsible for bringing them upon the market.

"The bond issues which are so favorably regarded in connection with city real estate developments are comparatively new features. If not actually new, it is only within a few years that the general public has learned their merits. There is no good reason why any high class business property should not carry a bond issue, and there are many reasons in its favor."

The February meeting of the Chicago real estate board will be held today.

WRIT FOR BOOKS OF STEEL TRUST

Court Order Restrains Fourteen Corporations from Destroying Evidence.

SIGNED BY JUDGE GRAY.

Argument on Application for a Permanent Injunction to Be Heard on March 5.

Trenton, N. J., Feb. 6.—Deputy United States marshals will start tomorrow morning to serve writs upon the United States Steel corporation and twelve other defendants named in the order signed by Judge George Gray and filed in the United States Circuit court clerk's office here today by Henry E. Colton of the department of justice at Washington.

The writs were issued to restrain the United States Steel corporation and the twelve other defendants from destroying books and papers and other evidence that might be useful to the government in the dissolution suit against the steel corporation.

Violation of Law Charged.

The other defendants are proceeded against because it is charged that they, acting in their individual capacities, are like the steel corporation "guilty of acts in violation of the anti-trust law."

Argument is to be heard here on March 5 on the application of the government for a permanent injunction restraining the destruction of books, papers, etc.

Mr. Colton said the writs became effective immediately upon the signing of the order by Judge Gray, provided the defendants had knowledge of the order's existence.

Reason for Serving Writs.

The serving of the writs, he said, was for the purpose of precluding a plea that such knowledge was not possessed by the defendants.

Nine of the thirteen defendants are a New Jersey corporation with registered offices in this state. The Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company will have to be served in Tennessee and the Union Steel company, the Clairton Steel company, and the H. C. Frick Coke company will be served in western districts of Pennsylvania.

All of the writs will be accompanied by copies of the petition filed by the government.

The defendants named in the petition are the Steel corporation, Carnegie Steel company, Federal Steel company, American Steel and Wire company, National Tube company, the Shelby Steel Tube company, American Tin Plate company, American Bridge company, the Lake Superior Consolidated Iron Mines, the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company, the Union Steel company, the Clairton Steel company, and the H. C. Frick Coke company.

Asks Damages for False Arrest.

Attorney Percival Steele filed suit in the Superior court yesterday against Patrick Callaghan of the Ready & Callaghan Coal company and Attorney George E. Gorman, his counsel, asking damages of $25,000 for alleged false arrest and imprisonment.

GRADE CROSSINGS FIGHT UP

Illinois Commission Will Consider Two Complaints.

ISSUES INVOLVE SUBURBS.

Implement Men Protest Rate Changes; Kansas Authorities Forestall Changes.

Questions affecting the relationship of the steam railroads and electric interurban lines in the matter of grade crossings will form one of the chief topics of the docket of the Illinois railroad and warehouse commission for the February meeting to be held in Chicago tomorrow.

One question deals with the petition of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern railroad, a steam line, for the removal of the grade crossing maintained by the Chicago and Southern Traction company, an interurban corporation, over the tracks of the former at Chicago Heights, Ill. The other is brought by the Chicago and Southern Traction company against the Illinois Central, growing out of the crossing over the Central tracks at Harvey.

The matter of long and short haul rates, involving the Adams Express company, which was continued at a previous meeting, is also on the February docket.

Rail Officials Consider Complaints.

The western classification committee held an executive session yesterday to consider the complaints raised against western classification No. 51 at last week's hearing before Chief Examiner George N. Brown of the suspension committee of the interstate commerce commission. The Chicago meeting is a continuation of the recent session at Galveston.

One result of the committee's deliberations was made public. It was that silos will be put back in class D with a minimum carload weight of 30,000 pounds instead of class D with a 36,000 pound minimum. It is expected that the committee will indorse most of the proposed changes, which are largely recommendations of the uniform classification committee, and put them up to the interstate commerce commission.

The Kansas public utilities commission, it was announced yesterday, has denied the railroads of that state the right to put into effect the new western classification, which is scheduled to become effective Feb. 15.

Implement Makers in Protest.

Protests were sent to Washington yesterday by a number of implement manufacturers, who are still dissatisfied with the rating given their commodities, although concessions were made by the western committee last week in the matter of shipping binding twine with mixed agricultural implements. The concessions on binding twine, according to the manufacturers, would return only the mixing privilege and would not restore the privilege of stopping in transit or the commodity ratings, which are from 2 to 5 cents under the classification ratings.

A. C. Ridgway, whose appointment as acting second vice president of the Rock Island to fill the vacancy caused by the death of F. O. Melcher, was announced last week, was elected second vice president yesterday at a directors' meeting in New York.

ARMOUR SUES REALTY FIRM

Chicago Packer Alleges He Paid for Land Never Received.

PLAT LIES IN NEW JERSEY.

Part of Property Under Water When Deal Was Made, Is Charge.

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—A suit involving a realty deal of more than [illegible] on Staten Island sound at Cartaret, N. J., is on trial before Supreme Court Justice Brady and a jury. The Sound Shore Front Improvement company is being sued by J. Ogden Armour, who bought the property, about seventeen acres, in 1909.

Some of the land was under water and Mr. Armour is of the belief he was deceived into paying for about two and a half more acres than he received. There have been several changes in the New Jersey state laws affecting lands under water. These have been the subject of much expert testimony. Under the old law the board of freeholders of any water front town in New Jersey could grant what is known as wharvage rights, conveying title to land between mean high water and mean low water level. This law was repealed by the legislature.

One of the questions in the suit is whether or not any grant was ever made for the two and a half acres Mr. Armour says he did not get. The surveys are also subject of dispute.

Ex-State Senator Edward W. Wakelee, who was chairman of the committee which drew the New Jersey state law restricting the rights of boards of freeholders to grant wharvage rights, was examined today. He gave testimony as to what the legislative intent was and declared that the legislature did not contemplate the revocation of previous grants.

STRIKE COMMITTEE ASSAILS GOVERNOR AND THE MILITIA.

W. D. Haywood Denounces Proposition Offered "on Bayonets Dripping with Blood of Our Fellow Workers."

Lawrence, Mass., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Gov. Foss and the Massachusetts militia were denounced in resolutions adopted at today's meeting of the strike committee of the textile workers.

The governor was condemned for sending the troops here, the murders that have occurred here were deplored, and the withdrawal of the "hirelings of the mill owners" was demanded.

"Don't let the soldiers break your spirit," shouted William D. Haywood to the strikers who crowded the room. "They cannot break the strike, because they cannot work the looms. We refuse to entertain any proposition offered to us on bayonets that are dripping with the blood of our fellow workers."

TEST CASE UNDER FOOD ACT.

Chicago Coffee Manufacturer Charged by Government with Misbranding "Mocha and Java."

As a test case in the alleged misbranding of coffee by manufacturers in violation of the pure food and drugs acts, the government yesterday placed the Thomson & Taylor Spice company, 209 North Michigan avenue on trial before Judge Landis. The firm is charged with labeling cans of coffee as real "Mocha and Java" which the United States attorney charges contained a grade of Abyssinia coffee. The case is the first of the kind to be prosecuted by the government under the pure food law. United States District Attorney James H. Wilkerson expects to make an example as to the merits of the section of the act relating to the branding of coffee.

A charge of manslaughter against Henry Petersen, 2303 Wrightwood avenue, a chauffeur, who was driving the auto truck that fatally injured Dr. Joseph T. Crowe on Jan. 20, was dismissed for want of prosecution by Municipal Judge Maxwell yesterday.

ROSENWALD DENIES PURCHASE OF COLUMBUS BUILDING.

He Admits Negotiating for Property at State and Washington, but Refutes Rumor of Closing $3,000,000 Deal.

A persistent report has been in circulation for several days that Julius Rosenwald, president of Sears, Roebuck & Co., has practically closed the purchase of the Columbus Memorial building at State and Washington streets, for $3,000,000.

Mr. Rosenwald, however, entered a denial yesterday. He admitted he had been offered the property and had been investigating it, but declared he had not purchased it, and was not likely to acquire it in the immediate future. It is understood that Albert L. Strauss has represented him in the negotiations, but Mr. Strauss would not discuss the subject.

The property, which belongs to the Columbus Safe Deposit company, Henry J. Furber, president, is one of the most prominent in the downtown shopping district, and is by some brokers handling downtown property regarded as the most valuable holding in proportion to its size in the city. It fronts 100 feet on State street and 90 feet on Washington street, and the ground was valued by the board of review in the recent assessment at $1,592,001. Its actual value, however, is conceded to be much above this.

The building is a fourteen story structure, which was erected just prior to the World's fair. The board of review valued it at $549,999. The property has been the subject of many different negotiations, and only last summer it was reported that Charles A. Stevens & Bros. were seeking to acquire it in connection with their business expansion and new building plans.

BUSINESS, COMMERCIAL AND FINANCIAL SECTION

AMERICAN CAN CO. SETS NEW RECORD

Annual Report Shows $5,416,339 Profits; Gain of 56.6 Per Cent Over 1910.

LARGE SUM CHARGED OFF

Net Equals 7.07 Per Cent on Preferred Stock; Pure Food Commission Aids Business.

American Can company made record earnings in the fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1911. The profits, at $5,416,339, were $1,959,803, or 56.6 per cent larger than in 1910. At the same time the amount charged to depreciation, at $2,500,000, compared with $633,504 the previous year, an increase of nearly 300 per cent. After this charging off the profits were still $2,916,339, being equal to 7.07 per cent on the preferred stock, compared with 6.84 the previous year and 6.68 per cent for the year 1909.

The large amount charged off may possibly be due to the fact that for the first few years of the company's existence a sufficient amount was not charged to depreciation. At that time the company had a large number of old plants, a majority of which have since been abandoned, new ones constructed, the business systematized, and the equipment brought up to date. Apparently the company is just beginning to fairly realize on its organization and perfected system of transacting its business. The plant account was written down by $1,900,000. Following are the statement of profits and the balance sheet:

President Graham's Remarks.

The annual meeting of the company was held in New York yesterday. In his report to the shareholders President W. T. Graham said among other things:

"Your company did not suffer from the unfavorable conditions which have been reported by many industrial concerns over the year 1911. As has been pointed out in previous reports its products, being used in connection with supplies of daily consumption, are not subject to restricted demand in years of depression as are articles of mere convenience."

To the influence of the pure food commission in creating confidence in canned goods Mr. Graham credits the increased use of canned foods and consequently an increased demand for the company's product. During the year the company built modern factories at Philadelphia and Toledo, replacing old ones, and made substantial additions to a number of plants operated at other points. Two additional new factories are under consideration on the Pacific coast.

Large Sums for Improvements.

Mr. Graham points out the improvements being constantly made requires a large amount of working capital, and for that reason the current assets account must be kept adequate. He says that the statement of assets shows all items taken at cost when that was below the present value and that present value has been taken when it was below cost. All questionable accounts have been charged off and contingent liabilities treated as actual losses and the statement of earnings made up on that basis. In speaking of the conduct of the company Mr. Graham says:

"The management has spent and is spending a part of your earnings in the installation of the most efficient and economical equipment known to manufacturers in its line or that its own engineers and mechanics can devise, and credits to its corps of skilled men what has been accomplished in the reduction of costs."

At the annual meeting the following directors were elected: W. F. Dutton, O. H. Bogue, E. C. Converse, W. T. Graham, F. L. Hines, R. H. Ismon, James McLean, George G. McMarty, J. H. Moore, W. H. Moore, H. W. Phelps, F. Rudolph, R. L. Scofield, F. S. Wheeler.

Biscuit Earnings Fall Off.

According to eastern advices the fiscal year of the National Biscuit company, which ended Jan. 31 will show earnings slightly less than $46,000,000, being a decrease of 2 or 3 per cent from the previous year. Up to November it is said that it looked as if gross earnings would show a substantial gain over previous years, but sales the last quarter were affected by poor trade conditions throughout the west, bad weather, and a tendency to shade prices, particularly on bulk goods.

Up to Aug. 1 gross was running at a rate to promise $49,000,000 for the full twelve months. The falling off, however, in the last three months indicates that the Biscuit company will operate another year or two before reaching the $50,000,000 mark. The net profits will show a balance of between 9 and 10 per cent on the $29,236,000 common stock.

Laclede Gas Company.

Laclede Gas company reports for fiscal year ended Dec. 31, 1911:

		Increase.
Gross earnings	$4,842,036	$130,088
Operating expenses and taxes	2,125,033	*183,830
Net	2,217,003	24,742
Depreciation	251,485	34,252
Interest and pfd. dividend	1,112,477	*10,949
Surplus available for common	853,040	1,439

*Decrease.

Figuring the balance available for common stock this year on the amount of stock outstanding on Dec. 31, 1910, it is equivalent to 10.04 per cent.

Strawboard Tied Up.

The annual meeting of the American Strawboard company, scheduled for yesterday, was postponed indefinitely. The Trust Company of America of New York has been enjoined from voting the stock of the company which is security for the collateral trust bonds. O. C. Barber is again in control of the company.

Chicago Railway Equipment.

The annual meeting of the Chicago Railway Equipment company was held yesterday. The retiring directors were reelected and they in turn reelected the retiring officers. It was announced the annual statement would be issued in a few days.

International Paper.

The International Paper company reports for six months ended Dec. 31, 1911:

Gross income	$11,237,562
Cost of materials manufactured, etc.	9,599,987
Taxes, insurance, and bond interest	605,554
Net earnings	1,032,041
Preferred dividends	224,067
Surplus	807,974
Previous surplus	8,838,104
Total surplus	9,646,078

The foregoing is issued because of the change in the fiscal year of the company from June 30 to Dec. 31, which was decided upon at the company's November meeting. The annual report will be issued after the close of the new fiscal year on Dec. 31, 1912.

Dividends Declared.

The Boston and Maine railroad declared regular quarterly dividend of 1 per cent on common stock, payable April 1 to stock of record March 1. The regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent also was declared on the preferred, payable March 1 to stock of record Feb. 15.

Directors of the Quaker Oats company declared the regular quarterly dividend of 2½ per cent on the common stock, payable April 15 to stock of record April 1. The regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent was declared on the preferred stock, payable May 31 to stock of record May 1.

Not to Buy North Butte.

From Boston came a denial of any intention on the part of the Anaconda Copper company to purchase the North Butte company.

Chicago Securities.

Sears-Roebuck common was again the feature of trading on the local stock exchange. The price made the new high record at 153¼, but at the close eased off to 151½. The buying of the stock was well distributed, and although there was a great deal of profit taking the price held well. No new reasons have been advanced for the upward movement.

McCrum-Howell common appears to have been taken in hand by the insiders, and the market showed yesterday a fair degree of activity at rising prices. The last sale was at 38.

Chicago Pneumatic Tool worked somewhat lower. The annual report did not make the exhibit that announcements of earnings had suggested. The company, however, is regarded as having made a good showing, and the profits were well within dividend requirements.

Booth Fisheries preferred was firm at 87. Series 2 certificates were weak on small trading.

IN THE BOSTON STOCK MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Interest in stocks continued at a low ebb on the local exchange today. The market failed to respond readily to strength in New York. There was a slight increase in activity toward the close, which carried most prices practically above the previous closing. Throughout the session Shoe Machinery was strong. The story on State street was that the company had been able to make an agreement with the government and that the suit against the corporation had been dropped. This rumor was not generally believed. Call money, 2½ per cent; time loans, short dates, 3@3½ per cent. Time loans, six months, 3½@4 per cent; time loans, year, 4@4¼ per cent.

IN FOREIGN STOCK MARKETS.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Money and discount rates were easy today. Business was light on the stock exchange, and the tendency of prices was downward in the forenoon except in Argentine rails and consols, which were firm. Later in the day the other sections hardened and closed steadier. American securities opened quiet and steady, and then advanced a fraction on light buying. A reaction followed, but New York buying strengthened the market in the late trading. Union Pacific shares led the afternoon advance. The closing was steady.

Charged with Attempting Arson.

Charles Rubin, 1756 West Thirteenth street, was held to the grand jury by Municipal Judge Himes yesterday charged with attempted arson with intent to defraud. A similar charge against his father, Pincus Rubin, was dismissed. They owned a grocery at 1756 West Thirteenth street which burned.

ADDED ACTIVITY ON STOCK MARKET

Much More Decided Movement of Prices Accompanies Substantial Recovery.

STRENGTH IN READING.

Several Less Active Anthracite Issues Show Large Net Advances.

[NEW YORK TIMES FINANCIAL LEADER.]

New York, Feb. 6.—[Special.]—Much more activity and a much more decided movement of prices were the accompaniments today of a substantial recovery on the stock exchange. This lasted throughout the morning when trading became dull, to be followed later by a reaction which cut down by a point the earlier improvement in prices.

Reading was the conspicuously strong issue, outmeasuring all others in point of activity and recording the largest net gain of the day among the active stocks. Lehigh Valley, while far less active, made a net gain exceeding a point, and several of the less active anthracite issues showed large net advances.

Less Fear of Money Trust Inquiry.

Apart from certain specific influences, such as the Great Northern's favorable statement of gross earnings from January and the large increase in earnings reported in the annual statement of the American Can company, the general influence of the day which played the most important part in shaping the course of prices seemed to be the expectation that the long talked of investigation of the "money trust" would take a shape which would deprive it of most if not of all of the features which had been causing concern in the financial district.

So far as the probable effect upon financial sentiment of an investigation into the doings of Wall street as typifying the "money trust," it has all along been a question of the manner in which such an investigation was to be conducted and the motive underlying the inquiry.

The belief prevailed today that tomorrow's caucus of the Democrats in the house in respect to the "money trust" investigation will provide for a different sort of an investigation than the one first proposed and the pursuit of which might readily have been disturbing to the financial sentiment.

Excuse for Selling.

The afternoon selling seemed to call for no other explanation than that earlier buyers were disposing of stocks which had been purchased at the lower range of prices which prevailed at the start of today's trading, but Wall street's custom is to attribute all such movements to special influences and this was done today in attributing the afternoon decline to the announcement of the government's application for an injunction against the steel corporation to prevent the dissection of papers, which may be required by the government during the trial of its suit for the dissolution of the corporation.

While it is probably true that this incident was rather the excuse for rather than the explanation of the afternoon's selling, it nevertheless was calculated to cause an unfavorable impression which would be more important from the stock market point of view if the public were more largely interested than it is in current operations on the stock exchange.

One million more gold was engaged for export and it became more clearly indicated than ever that special factors are influencing this outflow of gold. Interest in the movement is heightened by the belief prevailing in banking circles that this gold is really intended as an indirect addition to the resources of Italy in connection with its war with Turkey. Because of the special conditions surrounding this gold movement an easier tone in the foreign exchange market this afternoon did not preclude the probability of still further shipments.

Money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2¼; closing bid, 2⅝; offered at 2½. Time loans easy; sixty days, 2½@2⅝ per cent; ninety days, 2⅝@3; six months, 3@3¼. Gas Hearing Comes Up Today.

MERCURY RISES; EGGS DROP

Dealers Who Plead Shortage Last Week Clamor for Sales.

MARKET 2@4 CENTS OFF.

Butter Trade Weak and Neglected; Potatoes Firm; Poultry Up.

Deprived of its chief prop, zero weather, the egg market at Chicago yesterday took a downward plunge of 2c to 4c a dozen. Receipts were smaller than a week ago, but last week's complaints of a deficient supply were replaced by earnest efforts to effect sales and holders were not over particular about prices. Butter market was weak and neglected.

Wisconsin potatoes were supported on a steady basis, but Michigan offerings pressed on sale at slight reductions. Trade was quiet and fresh receipts of 132 cars did not clear.

Live turkeys met with an improved inquiry and sold at an advance of 1c a pound, while live roosters and spring chickens were raised ½c. Dressed spring chickens sold at an upturn of 1c and capons were up 2c.

Milder weather was reflected in more energetic trading in fresh fruits and green vegetables, and increased offerings were taken at steady to strong prices.

ATTORNEYS ASK $182,000 IN MILWAUKEE ELECTRIC SUIT.

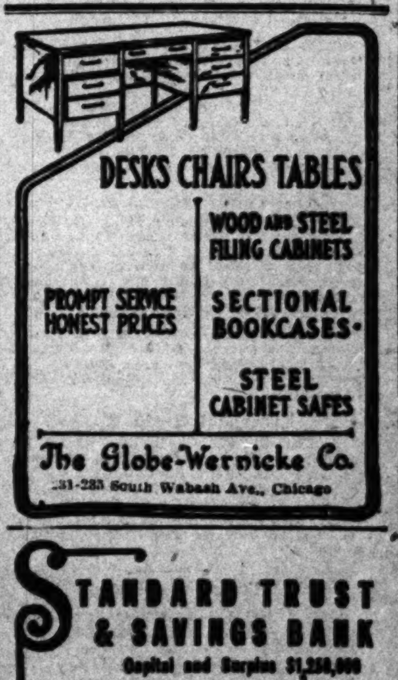

Firms Engaged in Receivership Case Present Bills—Lawyers for Reorganization Committee Object.

Attorneys engaged in the litigation over the receivership of the Chicago and Milwaukee Electric road submitted their "little bills" in Judge Landis' court yesterday. The bills caused excitement and argument. They were:

Tenney, Coffeen, Harding & Sherman, as counsel for Osborn, Moore & Hanna, former receivers $52,000
Rosenthal & Hamill, as counsel for trustees 70,000
McCulloch & McCulloch, as counsel for trustees 60,000

A. S. Austrian, representing the railroad company, and Attorney John C. Wilson, as counsel for the new reorganization committee, entered protests to the payment of the attorneys' fees.

"We want an investigation of the fees demanded by counsel," said Mr. Austrian. "More than $400,000 is called for by the attorneys and for the general administration under the receivership. We want to ascertain first if counsel is entitled to such fees."

MANUFACTURING OPPORTUNITY
I have an option on the purchase of a half interest in a going manufacturing concern—manufacturing staple goods with plenty of orders on hand—located one mile from the loop with long valuable lease. Gilt edge rating in Bradstreet's and Dun's up to $100,000, bank reference if required. I want to meet some one who will consider the purchase of the other half—will require $40,000, half cash if desired, balance can be arranged. Principals only—no brokers or middlemen considered.

LATE UPTURN IN CEREAL FUTURES

Selling in All Pits Overdone and Short Covering Causes Advance.

CASH CALL STILL LAGS.

Foreign Markets Show Relatively Firm Tone; Hog Products Close Steady.

Prices for wheat were a little lower following an opening rally, but there was good commission house buying on the dip, and prices rallied sharply before the close. Reports of a stronger situation abroad in the spot markets with oversold pit conditions were responsible for the late upturn, together with the firmer tone in the coarse grains. At the close prices were ⅜@½c to ⅝c higher.

There was some buying of the July based on reports that the winter wheat outlook was poor in parts of Indiana and Ohio. Commission houses bought the wheat on the break, led by Chapin, Barrell, Logan-Bryan, Brosseau, and King-Farnum. Early in the day the sellers were Bartlett-Frazier, who caused the early decline to $1.03 for the May, Clement-Curtis and Logan-Bryan. Local traders were bearish and sold freely, covering on the late rally.

Bearish Situation in Cash.

The slow cash demand was a bearish factor and receipts continue fairly liberal in the west. Arivals at all points for the day were 450,000 bu, against 347,000 bu a year ago. Receipts here were 61 cars, with 31 cars the estimate for today, while northwestern arrivals were 193 cars, against 179 cars a year ago. Winnipeg had 443 cars, compared to 113 cars a year ago. Southwest and western points had a smaller run than last year. Clearances were the largest in some time at 567,000 bu wheat and flour.

Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 170,000 bu for three days, compared to a gain of 275,000 bu for the same time a year ago. The flour trade there was at a standstill and cash wheat was in fair supply, with prices firm. The bulk of the No. 1 northern sold at ½c over the May. Minneapolis advices indicated receipts would be more moderate in northwest.

Shortage Feared Abroad.

Foreign markets did not show as heavy a tone as expected, Liverpool being ⅛d lower to ⅛d higher. Paris was ½c off, the further decline being due to the reports of increased offerings. Berlin and Antwerp were unchanged; Budapest, 1¼c off; Buenos Aires, ⅜@⅝c higher. France was reported to have been a fair buyer of Australian wheat lately, and reports from Liverpool indicate there will be quite a scarcity of good wheat before the arrivals from the southern hemisphere will arrive in volume.

Kansas City and St. Louis both reported a poor demand for wheat. World's stocks of wheat increased 566,000 bu for the week, compared to 1,680,000 bu increase a year ago. The European visible increased 1,560,000 bu.

Corn Has Late Rally.

Corn prices were forced materially lower early, but shorts had difficulty in taking their profits. Commission houses absorbed the bulk of the corn on the dip and there was a late rally, wiping out most of the early losses. Resting prices were a shade at ⅛@¼c off. Cash prices were 1c lower here and at Peoria, unchanged to ½c off at Kansas City, and about ½c lower at St. Louis. Country offerings were fair and weather conditions continue favorable. The shipping demand was fair, with sales of 270,000 bu.

Receipts here were 931 cars, with 393 cars the estimate for today. Western receipts were 1,365,000 bu; last year, 953,000 bu. Clearances were liberal at 560,000 bu. Cables were ⅜@⅝d off. Export bids at the seaboard were 2c out of line. Country offerings were moderate.

Leaders in the selling were Lindmand, Cudahy, Bartlett-Frazier, and Logan-Bryan. Friedman was credited with selling early and buying back the corn later. Cutten was also a fair buyer on the break. Lamson was also a good buyer.

Commission Houses Buy Oats.

Oats followed the lead of corn, being lower during the great part of the session and firmer at the close, prices being ⅛@¼c lower to a shade higher for the day. Free selling by longs was witnessed during the fore part of the session, but on the depression commission houses picked up the oats, and shorts covered later. Receipts were 251 cars, with 134 cars the estimate for today. In the west arrivals were 524,000 bu, against 501,000 bu a year ago. Cash business was fair, sales of 130,000 bu being reported, with sample prices ½@¾c lower.

Ribs Show Firm Tone.

Strength in ribs was a feature of the provisions market. There was a selling movement early which forced prices a little lower, but on the break there was no heavy selling and when prices turned strong in the grain markets, products also rallied. Tietgens and Schwas were fair buyers. Selling was scattered. Hog receipts were 22,000, with 45,000 the estimate for today. Prices at the yards were 5@10c off. Western receipts were 106,800, against 81,000 a year ago. Receipts of product here were 35 cars; shipments, 165 cars. Liverpool markets were unchanged.

Choice Barley Is Wanted.

Choice grades of barley were wanted at an advance of 1@2c, while low grades were neglected. Malting closed at $1.10@1.32; mixing, 90c@$1.00; feed, 70@80c; screenings, 50@80c. Receipts were estimated at 38 cars.

Rye held on a firm basis. No. 2 sold at 93½@94c; No. 3, 90@91c; No. 4, 88c; sample grade, 77½c. Receipts, 2 cars.

Timothyseed was quiet and steady. March closed at $16.50 nominal and cash lots at $12.00@15.00. Cloverseed was firmer, with cash lots, $16.00@22.50.

Duluth flax was 1½@2½c lower. Cash on track closed at $2.10½; February, $2.08½; May, $2.10¼. Receipts were 17 cars. Minneapolis flax closed 2½c lower, with cash on track at $2.11¼.

NEWS AND GOSSIP OF BOARD OF TRADE.

C. B. Pierce, J. C. F. Merrill, and H. N. Sager have been reappointed a committee to represent the board of trade in connection with negotiations with the government in regard to the bleaching of oats and misbranding of grain. This committee is the same that was in consultation recently with government officials at Washington, and it will represent the board of trade in all matters connected with this matter. It is announced an early meeting of the executive committee of the Council of American Grain Exchanges will be called either here or at Washington for the purpose of considering the ban placed by the government on bleaching of oats and in respect to the so-called misbranding of grain in general.

The meeting of the council will be held either in this city or in Washington. Oone move has been suggested in regard to the above matter and that is that the government officials delay action for six months or so and not take snap judgment on the trade. The question will be thrashed out in all its different angles at the coming meeting of the council. At this meeting the board of trade will be represented by the above committee.

In accounting for the continued strength in cash corn markets at some of the outside points, bulls on this cereal point to the relative cheapness of corn on an actual feeding basis compared to other cereals. No. 3 yellow corn is selling here at about 64½c. This is equivalent to about $24 a ton, whereas No. 3 white oats are selling at the equivalent of $32.00, and bran at about $29 a ton. With a pound of corn worth much more from a feeding standpoint than almost any other food product, the relative cheapness even at this level is regarded by many traders as self-evident.

Bradstreet's report of the available supply last week shows the following increases:

Cash wheat prices were steady and there was not much, if any, milling demand, local brokers taking most of the offerings. St. Louis prices were firm relatively, having gained about 1c on the May in the last two days. Kansas City prices were unchanged to ½c off for cash wheat. Minneapolis cash market was a shade firmer, most of the No. 1 northern going at ½c over the May. Cash corn here was 1c lower and oats were ½c to ⅝c off. The demand for corn was fair with sales of 270,000 bu, and oats sales were 130,000 bu.

A Springfield (Mo.) message to Lyle of Chapin & Co. said that, while the tops of the winter wheat plants were small, the roots were healthy and that there had been little winter killing in that section. There were more complaints from Indiana and Ohio yesterday than for some time.

Joseph Well & Co. have secured the services of W. H. Howard, the crop expert, for the coming season. Mr. Howard is regarded as one of the ablest observers of crop conditions in the country.

Rudolf E. Kienle and Peter B. Carey made application for membership on the board of trade, while the estate of Frederick A. Lennon posted a membership for transfer.

John T. Canvin was appointed flour inspector for the ensuing year. Henry A. Foss was appointed custodian of the custodian department.

New York wired: "No export demand for corn even on this break. Buyers are all working for lower prices. Most bids 2c out of line."

Bids on the call for wheat to arrive were steady to ½c higher; corn steady to ⅝c lower; oats, ⅛c higher to ½c lower; rye, unchanged.

New members elected by the directors yesterday were Christopher Strasser, William A. Tubbs, Joseph S. Phillips, and John B. Pierce.

Minneapolis wheat stocks increased 170,000 bu for three days. Last year there was an increase for the same time of 275,000 bu.

Estimated receipts for today: Wheat, 31 cars; corn, 393 cars; oats, 134 cars; rye, 2 cars; barley, 38 cars; hogs, 45,000 head.

Foreign crop conditions, as reported by Broomhall by cable, were generally of a satisfactory kind.

A membership on the board of trade sold at $2,250 net to the buyer.

LIVE STOCK MART LOSES ALL GAINS

Monday's High Values Wiped Out; General Trend of Trade Weaker.

HOG RECEIPTS TOO HEAVY

Shipments Total 28,000 Head; Cattle Dull; Sheep and Lambs Worst Hit.

Weakness returned to the live stock market at Chicago yesterday and most of the previous day's gains in cattle and hog values had to be eliminated before receipts could be disposed of. The live mutton trade showed more weakness than either of the other two and there were instances where prices had to be reduced 40c from Monday's high level to sell lambs of medium quality.

Cattle receipts of 6,000 head consisted chiefly of plain and medium quality beef steers which sold at $6.00@7.00, showing a decline of 10@15c. Calves opened on a firm basis but slowed at a decline of 15@25c, with best vealers at $8.00@8.25.

Hog receipts of 28,000 head were nearly 7,000 in excess of arrivals Monday, and with 45,000 head expected today, sellers had to reduce prices 5@10c to induce buyers to take hold. Packers operated on a liberal scale at the decline and closed the market strong, with the average price $6.23, against $6.30 Monday.

Excessive receipts were responsible for the weakness in sheep and lambs and the market closed in a glutted condition in spite of the reductions in prices. Lambs topped at $6.75 and sheep at $4.60.

EVIDENCE LINKS 4 PACKING HOUSES

Swift & Co. Shown to Have Joined Others in Dropping Hide Allowance.

CHARGE UNITED ACTION.

Government Requires Chief Accountant to Read Figures Into Record.

Swift & Co., hitherto somewhat neglected in the evidence at the packers' trial, came in yesterday for a full portion. John M. Chaplin, chief accountant for the company, was on the stand all day.

His testimony showed, through a departmental order, that Swift & Co. discontinued the allowance for hides on Nov. 18, 1907. Examination of witnesses from the other houses had already shown that Morris, Armour, and the National had discontinued in the same month, and the government now claims to have connected the operations of the four in that action.

Mr. Chaplin read into the records a recital of other events tending to swell the apparent cost of beef, beginning scarcely a month after the formation of the National Packing company, in which Swift, Morris, and Armour interests were proportionately represented. The National was formed March 18, 1903. Then followed these changes in cost:

April 29—Fat allowance reduced from 6 to 4 cents a pound.

May 6—Killing charge increased from $1.75 to $2.50 per head; hide allowance reduced 1 cent a pound.

July 8—All fat except caul and ruffle excluded from allowance.

July 23—Fat allowance reduced from 4 to 3 cents a pound.

Sept. 9—Killing charge boosted again from $2.50 to $2.75.

A number of Swift's records will be offered in evidence.

Deserted Husband Kills Himself.

Despondent because his wife had left him, Frank Weternick, a carpenter, shot and killed himself yesterday at 1449 West Erie street.

Lorimer-Hines Witness Sa Received $300 from W In Chicago Hotel.

TRIES TO EXPLAIN LE

"Them" Meant One Person, Another; Settlement Was "Losses," He Testifies

CONFESSES ASKING $5,00

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUG

Washington, D. C., Feb. 7.—[S Charles McGowan, the Lorimer-H ness, who was "roped" by Dete thur C. Bailey of the Burns agen two vital admissions today before mer investigating committee. They

That he received $300 from Christian brother-in-law of Edward Hines, on Oct at the Brevoort hotel in Chicago.

That he wrote to Detective Bailey h Nov. 19, in which he used this language

"I made them come across at that expected though—and I had a hell of ting it, too. Had to threaten him wit of exposure."

By "them" the witness testified Wiehe, who, according to William stated in the smoking car of the Flyer that he had contributed $10,0 Lorimer jackpot election fund; and t R. J. Shields, the agent of Wiehe, cured the original affidavit from M denying the testimony of Burgess.

Explains Emphatic Expres

McGowan explained that by the e "he made them come across" he had quite a time in getting the $ believed was legitimately due hi count of "losses" he had sustai being absent from his business.

"I had to wait nine days in Chic said, "and had a row with Shield and I considered I had quite a tim it."

He said he learned the expressi across" from Bailey. The expressi of a time" was his own. As to th "exposure" he "threatened" he he meant to ask the committee, whi was was sitting in Chicago, to for to reimburse him for his "losses. "losses" were for profits he mi made from his well drilling machi

Asked Wiehe for $5,000 L

He asked Wiehe for a loan of $5, the lumberman refused to give hi security. The committee evinced a osity that McGowan should mak quest of a stranger, particularly Gowan Sr. is a bank director and property.

In spite of the well known care w the Hines company produces evid paper it receives Mr. Haney expl the McGowan letter had not yet b Wiehe's reply, however, was plac dence and besides making referen land deal which McGowan prop "etc." it suggested that nothing until next spring, by which time mer case, it was expected last fal one, would be out of the way.

Confirms Bailey's Testimo

McGowan confirmed Bailey's tes every detail, except as to admissi jury, particularly in connection wit brated dictagraph conversation. ample, Bailey told of McGowan's v home of Edward Hines in Evanst the discussion there of the Stephe Lorimer cases.
